Redistricting Accord Appears Very Unlikely

By DON WALTON

The Legislature's Committee on Committees Wednesday remained deadlocked over what to do about the unresolved legislative reapportionment dilemma

The 13-member committee met for an hour in its second unsuccessful effort to recommend a course of action to the Unicameral.

"I do not think that we can reach any agreement which would carry a unanimity of thinking to the Legislature," Committee Chairman Elvin Adamson of Valentine said following the executive session.

'Very Difficult'

"It will be very difficult for the Legislature to reach any agreement," he suggested.

The committee is representative of the full Unicameral, with members chosen from each congressional district.

A motion was offered at the meeting to refer to the Legislature for public hearing two reapportionment plans which do not violate county lines, but it was withdrawn pending later consideration.

Six Cross Lines

Eight plans have been submitted to the committee for study, six of which cross county lines.

The committee deadlocked earlier this week on a 6-6 vote on whether to recommend that the Legislature utilize a plan crossing county lines.

Another meeting was slated for Thursday at 1 p m.

Continued deadlock increased the possibility that the Unicameral may once again consider appealing the U.S. District Court decision voiding its 1965 reapportionment act to the US.. Supreme Court.

Nixed Appeal

Lawmakers voted 27-20 against an appeal two weeks ago.

Adamson said he continues to favor an appeal.

"We have everything to gain, and nothing to lose," he suggested, noting that the attorney general's office has assured lawmakers that they would receive another opportunity to reapportion at a special session if the appeal failed.

The current court order calls for reapportionment during the regular session. Otherwise, the court stated, it will order at-large elections in 1966.

Almost Assuredly

But, the committee has been told that the U.S. Supreme Court would almost assuredly amend the lower court order to permit reapportionment in a special session, Adamson said.

Otherwise, he said, the state would, in effect, be denied the right to appeal.

Latest problem to be discussed by the committee, Adamson said, is the validity of staggered four-year terms.

Army Developing New, Fast-Striking Division

. . . RED FORCES UP, WEAPONS IMPROVED

Washington (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced Thursday that another 16,000 to 21,000 American troops now are moving to South Viet Nam where Communist forces have risen sharply.

He said six more battalions of Army troops and Marines, plus supply and other support elements, have been requested by the South Vietnamese government "and will be in place in a few weeks."

The U S forces now in Viet Nam total 54,000 men of which about 13,000 are considered ground combat troops.

McNamara estimated the new deployment will boost the over-all total to between 70,000 and 75,000, of which about 20,000 will be ground fighters

The announcement at a televised and broadcast news conference came against a background of intensified fighting on a bigger scale in which the South Vietnamese have taken heavy losses and U S casualties have risen

McNamara announced also the pending creation of a new, fast-moving type of Army division which could be used in the type of guerrilla warfare now being fought in South Viet Nam.

McNamara reported the number of hard-core Communist Viet Cong troops—regular full-time fighters—in South Viet Nam, now is estimated at 65,000—18,000 more than the latest official estimate used publicly only a week ago.

More From North

He said there are indications that as many as eight more North Vietnamese regular battalions may have infiltrated before the air attacks on North Vietnamese rail and highway lines began in February.

"Moreover, the Viet Cong forces have been increasingly equipped, through the infiltration process, with modern individual and crew-served weapons which are standard issue today in North Viet Nam and Communist China," he said.

Counting part-time guerrillas and political propaganda agents, McNamara estimated over-all Communist strength in South Viet Nam at up to 195,000.

He said the mission of the American reinforcements will be to protect bases where the United States has heavy concentration of helicopters, aircraft and supplies—and to come to the aid of South Vietnamese troops which need them to beat off specific Communist attacks.

Help Is Only U.S. Aim

Asked the U.S. objective in South Viet Nam, McNamara said it is to help that country defend its freedom and independence—"we're not seeking to destroy the government in the north—we're not seeking bases."

He said the strategy is to convince North Viet Nam that it can't win in its objective of destroying the government in the south and then to bring about negotiations designed to insure the future peace and security of the country.

"We will do whatever is necessary to achieve our objectives," McNamara said.

He disclosed he has authorized the Army to remold some of its units into a revolutionary new kind of division

This will be called the 1st Cavalry Division (Air Mobile) and will be a fast-striking outfit of light infantry and paratroopers which would be flown into combat mostly in its own aircraft

As Fast As Possible

McNamara said this division being organized at Ft. Benning, Ga., "will be made combat ready as expeditiously as possible."

He said it could be in shape to deploy in eight weeks if it were needed, because development of the concept has been under way for three years. But he declined to say whether it would be used in South Viet Nam—the kind of terrain that its planners had in mind.

McNamara said the new division will have a strength of 15,787 men—about the same as a regular Army division—but will have four times as many aircraft—434, mostly helicopters, as against 101 in the present infantry division.

"It places the Army on the threshold of an entirely new approach to the conduct of a land battle. Use of the helicopter to deliver men and weapons on the battlefield will result in greater freedom of movement and exploitation of surprise to an unprecedented degree."

Points Out Damage

The defense secretary, armed with a pointer and pictures, said the air attacks against infiltration routes in North Viet Nam have caused substantial damage. He made the same claim for bombings of barracks, oil dumps and ammunition depots.

A total of 22 out of 23 bridges along the north-south route have been destroyed or made impassable, he said.

To rush repairs, he said, the North Vietnamese have moved in "tens of thousands of people."

The North Vietnamese have been building up oil supplies, getting them from Red China and by sea in ships chartered by some free world nations, McNamara said.

He said South Vietnamese forces now total more than 500,000 men, but with the rise of Communist strength, the over-all ratio is less than 4-1.

Less Than Needed

He said this ratio is "considerably less than the force required to deal effectively with the type of military and terrorist threat that now exists in South Viet Nam."

Normally a 10-1 to 15-1 ratio is considered a requisite for dealing with guerrilla insurgency.

The new deployments will "not effect the draft calls in any way," McNamara said.

He said also he does not believe they would require the administration to go to Congress for additional funds in the near future

Base-Use Solution Sought In Salina

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln city officials toured Schilling Air Force Base and visited with their counterparts in Salina, Kan., Wednesday in an effort to gain a first-hand look at how that community is handling the problem of Schilling's deactivation.

The delegation came home assured that there is no profound solution or easy panacea for converting a huge military installation into a productive civilian use.

The north-central Kansas city of 45,000 has been hit hard by the close-down order.

But despite the fact that Salina will lose 13,000 residents, a $20 million annual payroll and now has 2,500 additional vacant dwelling units, community leaders have reacted quickly in the last seven months to plan uses for the base, which will be officially phased out in 15 days.

Seeking Solution

Mayor Dean Petersen, City Council and Airport Authority members, Chamber of Commerce representatives, members of the Lincoln Opportunity Team and others reviewed closely with Salina officials the Schilling base-use plan, hopefully looking for some solution that might be used at Lincoln Air Force Base, scheduled for deactivation by this time next year.

Under the Schilling base-use plan, prepared under the direction of the Schilling Development Council, the following uses are outlined for the 3,320-acre site:

—One of seven or eight area vocational schools in Kansas. The most firm development yet, formal plans for the voc-ed school (to be run by the state board of education) have been presented to the federal government.

—A technical institute offering college-level programs to 2,000 students yearly.

—Relocation of the now separate Salina Municipal Airport and the Federal Aviation Agency.

—A second campus for educational and medical uses by Kansas Wesleyan University of Salina, still in the primary planning stage.

—Industrial uses, as yet undermined.

Salina officials, headed by Mayor Robert Stark, pointed out to the Lincoln delegation that there are sections of the base for which no definite uses have been found, among them a modern $3 million hospital and the 700-unit Capehart housing section.

To implement the land-use plan, the Kansas Legislature recently passed enabling legislation creating the Salina Airport Authority, which has been given broad taxing and financing power and has been charged with acquiring base properties and converting them into civilian uses.

The Salina authority is a public corporation with appointed members, described as "largely a land management board," which can levy a tax of up to three mills at the discretion of the city commission.

By contrast, the Lincoln Airport Authority is a governmental subdivision comprised of popularly elected board members, authorized to levy a tax of one mill to run the municipal airport.

However, both authorities will have much to say about the acquisition of property at both bases, but from different sides of the fence.

The Salina authority will negotiate for the acquisition of the aviation area and industrial property; the state board of education will gain title of land for the technical institute and the Salina school board will negotiate for voced property

Schilling officials said their base is now down to 1,200 military personnel from the original 5,000. They noted that after the official July 1 closing there will be a security and maintenance force kept at the base for 15 to 18 months.

This is also expected to take place at LAFB during its transition period.

Most of the Lincoln delegation felt that information gained from the Salina tour would be important in formulating a base-use plan for LAFB, a project now under way with the help of New York consultants Frederic Harris, Inc.

Pleasure

They also expressed pleasure with the cooperative endeavor of the Salina community to reverse the severe economic jolt the city has received.

But most indicated that any tangible progress in finding uses for LAFB would have to come from within the Lincoln community.

Urban Department Wins House Okay

Washington (AP)—The House voted Wednesday to create a new federal department to give the nation's cities a voice in the president's cabinet.

The Senate is expected to go along, probably within a month, and President Johnson is certain to sign the bill, creating the new Department of Housing and Urban Development. Like President John F. Kennedy before him, Johnson has said the cities must have a place in the front rank of government.

The Democrats needed their better-than-2-to-1 edge to get the bill through the House by a 217-184 vote. There were 66 Democratic defectors—most of them from the South—and only nine Republicans abandoned their leaders to support the White House.

Nebraskans Split

Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb., voted with the majority. Reps. David Martin and Glenn Cunningham, R-Neb., voted against the bill.

Still, House approval was considered a legislative victory for Johnson. Twice in 1962, the House refused to support the project when Kennedy submitted it.

In two days of easy-going debate, Republicans attacked the bill as an effort to bypass the states. They claimed the new department would mushroom quickly into a big bureaucracy.

Instead, led by Rep. Florence P. Dwyer, R-N.J., they asked that a new office be established within the president's office to coordinate activities that bear on the cities.

This proposal, offered as an amendment by Mrs. Dwyer, was defeated on a standing vote of 91 to 65. Then, when Republicans moved to send the bill back to committee, substituting the Dwyer plan for the administration's, they were defeated on a roll call vote of 259 to 141.

The bill would combine the activities of the Federal Housing Administration and the Federal National Mortgage Administration and other activities of the Housing and Home Finance Agency. The head of this new department would have a place in the cabinet—the 11th and the most recent since the Health, Education and Welfare Department was established in 1953.

Johnson hasn't hinted who would head the new agency.

Kennedy had said he would name Robert C. Weaver, a Negro who then—as now—headed the HHFA. The announcement was considered a significant contribution to defeat of the proposal then.

Unicam Opens 1st Major Power Debate

The Legislature Wednesday lunged into its first major debate over proposed wholesale public power consolidation with a 3½-hour examination of LB764.

The measure, chiefly sponsored by Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City, would consolidate the electric generation and transmission operations of Consumers Public Power District, Loup River Public Power District and Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District.

Discussion will resume at 9 a.m. Thursday.

Major debate centered on provisions removing the proposed new integrated grid system from retail operations.

Answering criticism from municipalities, Stryker argued that the bill allows cities to "do mighty well what they please" in determining their electric future.

"They can build their own generation or buy power wholesale from the grid, or other than member districts in the grid.

Both amendments will be discussed Thursday.

LB764, Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte contended, represents "a fine line agreement between Consumers and the rurals which will allow Consumers to take over the grid and the rurals to expand their retail loads."

Led Opposition

Craft led opposition to the bill.

Consumers has no intentions of abandoning the retail field, even if it is absorbed into the grid system, Craft charged, pointing to more than 200 power purchase agreements recently signed by CPPD and municipalities.

Sen. Albert Kjar of Lexington said the measure does not provide sufficient guarantees to protect irrigaitcn in the Platte Valley, thus "striking at the very foundation of all public power in Nebraska."

Both sides said they expect the bill to be submitted to a court test if it is enacted into law.

Only major amendment which was accepted will expand the original appointed board of directors governing the consolidated new grid from nine to 11 members, including two directors chosen by the governor to represent the state at large. Others are chosen from nine districts.

Would Revert

Sen. Rick Budd of Nebraska City, who proposed the change, said the board would then revert to a nine-member elected body as of Jan. 1, 1970.

Consolidation would occur on July 1, 1966.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff added his name to the bill as a co-sponsor.

High South Platte Crest Hits Denver Area Hard

Denver (UPI)—The swollen South Platte River punched the Denver area with a 20-foot high crest Wednesday night, crushing bridges and houses and causing millions of dollars in damage. At least eight tornadoes hit Colorado, trailed by 70-mile-an-hour winds, torrential rain and hail.

Only one person was killed. Five were injured. Casualties were held down by police, sheriff's officers and National Guardsmen who went house-to-house urging residents to leave.

Gov. John A. Love asked residents along a 100-mile area through the middle of Colorado to go to higher ground and watch for persons in trouble. He set up emergency headquarters at the state patrol office in Denver.

Thousands Evacuated

Thousands of persons were evacuated along the 25-mile route of the South Platte from its headqaters in the Colorado Rockies southwest of Denver through its suburbs.

The state's most heavily traveled highway—Interstate 25-U.S. 85—was washed out in two places with water 20 feet deep in spots.

Rains of more than five inches in many areas and melting snow in the high mountains of the Continental Divide swelled the South Platte to about 300 feet in width. The river destroyed every bridge in its path.

Trains Halted

Passenger train traffic was halted in Denver. Bus schedules south and east were cancelled.

The South Platte's course through Denver is mainly an industrial area.

Hundreds of autos were stranded in mammoth traffic jams in the suburban areas south of Denver. Many streets were flooded.

Floods Disrupt Burlington Lines

Burlington Railroad passenger and freight service has been disrupted due to flooding in the Denver area.

Burlington chief dispatcher, O. R. Gottula, said that eastbound trains are running "indefinitely late."

Train No. 10 was held in Denver, but a special section of the passenger train was made-up in Lincoln to continue east. The California Zephyr, according to Gottula, was not allowed to enter the Denver yards from the west.

Flooding has been caused by breakage of a dyke. Both the Platte and Sand Creek are running flood level.

Westbound trains are running on schedule, but will go only as far west as floods allow, Gottula said.

THE WEATHER

LINCOLN: Generally fair Thursday. High near 80.

EAST AND CENTRAL NEBRASKA: Fair in the east and cloudy in central Nebraska Thursday. Highs in 70s.

Thousands of persons were evacuated along the 25-mile route of the South Platte from its headqaters in the Colorado Rockies southwest of Denver through its suburbs.

The state's most heavily traveled highway—Interstate 25-U.S. 85—was washed out in two places with water 20 feet deep in spots.

Rains of more than five inches in many areas and melting snow in the high mountains of the Continental Divide swelled the South Platte to about 300 feet in width. The river destroyed every bridge in its path.

Trains Halted

Passenger train traffic was halted in Denver. Bus schedules south and east were cancelled.

The South Platte's course through Denver is mainly an industrial area.

Hundreds of autos were stranded in mammoth traffic jams in the suburban areas south of Denver. Many streets were flooded.

Floods Disrupt Burlington Lines

Burlington Railroad passenger and freight service has been disrupted due to flooding in the Denver area.

Burlington chief dispatcher, O. R. Gottula, said that eastbound trains are running "indefinitely late."

Train No. 10 was held in Denver, but a special section of the passenger train was made-up in Lincoln to continue east. The California Zephyr, according to Gottula, was not allowed to enter the Denver yards from the west.

Flooding has been caused by breakage of a dyke. Both the Platte and Sand Creek are running flood level.

Westbound trains are running on schedule, but will go only as far west as floods allow, Gottula said.

Unicam Opens 1st Major Power Debate

The Legislature Wednesday lunged into its first major debate over proposed wholesale public power consolidation with a 3½-hour examination of LB764.

The measure, chiefly sponsored by Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City, would consolidate the electric generation and transmission operations of Consumers Public Power District, Loup River Public Power District and Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District.

Discussion will resume at 9 a.m. Thursday.

Major debate centered on provisions removing the proposed new integrated grid system from retail operations.

Answering criticism from municipalities, Stryker argued that the bill allows cities to "do mighty well what they please" in determining their electric future.

"They can build their own generation or buy power wholesale from the grid, or other than member districts in the grid.

Both amendments will be discussed Thursday.

LB764, Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte contended, represents "a fine line agreement between Consumers and the rurals which will allow Consumers to take over the grid and the rurals to expand their retail loads."

Led Opposition

Craft led opposition to the bill.

Consumers has no intentions of abandoning the retail field, even if it is absorbed into the grid system, Craft charged, pointing to more than 200 power purchase agreements recently signed by CPPD and municipalities.

Sen. Albert Kjar of Lexington said the measure does not provide sufficient guarantees to protect irrigaiton in the Platte Valley, thus "striking at the very foundation of all public power in Nebraska."

Both sides said they expect the bill to be submitted to a court test if it is enacted into law.

Only major amendment which was accepted will expand the original appointed board of directors governing the consolidated new grid from nine to 11 members, including two directors chosen by the governor to represent the state at large. Others are chosen from nine districts.

Would Revert

Sen. Rick Budd of Nebraska City, who proposed the change, said the board would then revert to a nine-member elected body as of Jan. 1, 1970.

Consolidation would occur on July 1, 1966.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff added his name to the bill as a co-sponsor.

Pacifists Visit Pentagon As Aides Watch Quietly

. . . 'SPEAK-OUT' GROUP PROTESTS U.S. POLICY

Washington (AP) —Pentagon workers watched in silent, courteous curiosity Wednesday while pacifist "speak-out" demonstrators roamed the corridors of the vast building handing out leaflets and making speeches in relays.

The demonstrators, mostly teen-age members of the Committee for Nonviolent Action, were protesting U.S. policy in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic and they were given more freedom at the military nerve-center than any similar previous group.

Their placards, songs and leaflets carried the theme "get us out" of both places, and spend the money instead to combat poverty.

One of the leaders, Prof. Gordon Chriatiansen, announced he was turning in his World War II Army honorable discharge "as a symbol of my withdrawn loyalty to "the Pentagon."

No More Taxpaying

Chriatiansen, head of the chemistry department of the Connecticut College for Women, New London, said he would pay no more income tax willingly.

Five of the group were allowed to talk personally with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara in a conference room. One of them, A. J. Muste, reported to the demonstrators on the steps outside afterward:

"The secretary spoke only very briefly; what he said was to dispute some of the facts given him.

Advice Limited

Muste said the five told McNamara they have no military or "even political advice on how to conduct the war in Viet Nam" or on the Dominican Republic situation. He said it is the responsibility of the defense secretary and President Johnson to move in the direction of peace, "the only hope of survival."

The Pentagon workers were challenged to examine "what do you think you are actually doing when you work here—when you acquiesce?"

Noting there are plans for another big defense building in Washington, Muste, the committee chairman from New York, declared: "We stand on the edge of a precipice. We move nearer to it when we build another Pentagon."

Before the demonstration, defense officials had passed word to remain calm and that in case there were any sit-downs the Pentagon workers should ignore them and step over or around. No one was to be touched without word from McNamara or his deputy, Cyrus R. Vance.

But the demonstrators seemed content to avoid sit-downs.

Police Quadrupled

Instead of the usual average of 46 uniformed police, the force had 204 inside and outside the huge building. In addition, dozens of other security men, in plain clothes, stood watch or mingled with workers in the corridors.

There were guards at a few key spots, such as the entrance to the offices of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

With the demonstrators scattered in small clusters around the building there was no accurate determination of how many there were.

The demonstration opened on the steps of a main entrance with Chriatiansen, who said he served as an artilleryman in the Pacific in World War II, reading a letter he wrote to McNamara:

"From this time onward I will not willingly pay my income tax . . . I refuse my loyalty to this institution; on this day, I return to you as a symbol of my withdrawn loyalty, my certificate of honorable discharge from five years of service during World War II . . ."

Chriatiansen said he will urge young people to refuse to serve in the armed forces and "to leave the armed services if they are now in them."

Champion Of Racial Justice Named Chicago Archbishop

New Orleans (AP)—The Most Rev. John Patrick Cody, a champion of racial justice as head of the Deep South's largest Roman Catholic see, was chosen Wednesday by Pope Paul VI to be archbishop of Chicago.

His selection to lead the largest Catholic diocese in the United States—2.5 million souls—climaxes a meteoric climb in the church hierarchy for the husky prelate, son of a St. Louis fireman.

He succeeds Albert Gregory Cardinal Meyer, who died last April.

The 57-year-old archbishop, told that many feel he will be the next in this nation to get the red hat of a cardinal, said, "I can't comment. The title of cardinal is conferred by the holy father."

Thrust Upon Him

The touchy racial issue was thrust upon Archbishop Cody immediately upon his arrival in New Orleans in November 1962 as coadjutor archbishop and automatic successor to aging Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel.

Archbishop Rummel had ordered parochial schools to drop racial barriers, but it was up to Archbishop Cody—who soon became apostolic administrator—to carry out the edict.

Many Catholics opposed the move. Three, including a powerful political leader, were excommunicated by Archbishop Rummel for openly urging defiance.

Archbishop Cody was blamed for integration, however.

"I don't think Archbishop Rummel was responsible," says Mrs. B. J. Gaillot, one of those excommunicated. "Just remember that Archbishop Rummel didn't order schools desegregated until Cody came here."

When Archbishop Rummel, nearly blind, died last November at 85, Cody became the 10th archbishop of New Orleans.

He told a news conference Thursday one of the major problems he faced here was the racial situation. "The church has taken a leading part in trying to solve this problem. I do not believe it is a real problem in New Orleans now."

He conceded there "are scattered pockets of resistance" outside New Orleans in the archdiocese which covers 11 civil parishes (counties) in southeast Louisiana.

Two weeks ago, the archbishop went to racially troubled Bogalusa to comfort the widow of Negro Deputy Sheriff O'Neal Moore, a Baptist who was killed in a barrage of bullets fired by nightriders.

The 5-foot-11, 230-pound prelate praised Gov. John McKeithen Thursday for the "courage and conviction he has shown in meeting the racial issue."

They'll Follow

"I feel that as a result, the people will eventually follow his leadership.

"Civil rights problems should be worked out at the conference table rather than in the streets," the archbishop said, perhaps in reference to Chicago where Catholic nuns have taken part in civil rights marches.

But it is as an educator and builder that Archbishop Cody will leave his mark on New Orleans. In his 3½ years here, more than $35 million in church construction—largely schools—has been started.

Belly Dancer Top Temple U Scholar

Philadelphia (AP)—When Ethel Goldberg is graduated at the top of her 2,500-student class at Temple University Thursday, she will be getting high marks also for something decidedly unacademic—belly dancing.

There won't be any official accolade from the rostrum, of course, no sheepskin citation for this extracurricular art handed over along with the diploma.

But graduates and faculty alike are keenly appreciative of what the versatile, 22-year-old Miss Goldberg has undertaken—for the fun of it, to keep fit, and to help pay the bills, and at no cost whatever to her scholastic rating. The university has its share of reflected glory as well.

Near-Perfect Average

Miss Goldberg, a native of Camden, N.J., has a nearly perfect average of 3.99—4.00 is absolute perfection. Majoring in radio and television writing, but with a raft of other cultural interests, she intends to make a career of the creative arts.

Until a few months ago, Miss Goldberg had only an objective interest in belly dancing, an admiration for the grace of an art form considered among the world's oldest.

Then came a date at a picturesque restaurant called the Middle East, whose owner, James Tayoun, a Temple grad, too, featured four belly dancers.

Irresistible Urge

"The urge was irresistible," she related. "I just had to have a fling. Luckily, Mr. Tayoun could use another dancer."

So before anyone could say Scheherazade, there was Ethel in a sequin costume doing the classic wriggles and twists that enchanted the caliphs of old Bagdad.

In three weeks she was a real pro. Physically, she was just right—dark, 5-feet-2, 105 pounds of agility and rhythm, with a dash of Oriental style.

For the rest of it, Miss Goldberg says belly dancing is anything but a triumph of movement over mind.

Poetry In Motion

"It is a creative thing," she said, "Poetry in motion, an art that's thoroughly alive, subject to improvisation and inspiration all the time."

She explained that whereas many belly dancers of old added sparkle to their routines by setting a jewel in the navel, she substitutes flowers, often granting requests for certain species.

How does she make a flower stay there?

"Only by will power," she replied. "Like I said, this is a challenging art form."

May Teach It

Her classmates and professors, she said, "love it and many want to do belly dancing themselves. I may help start a school and teach it myself, along with my writing activities."

Naturally, she comes in for much kidding. One pun-happy professor, for example, asked, "How can you stomach that?"

"I barely do," she retorted in kind.

Industrial Pace Up Modestly

Washington (AP) — Production of the nation's factories and mines registered a modest increase in May, the Federal Reserve Board said Wednesday.

A major factor was sizable gains in output of machinery and other business equipment.

The flow of consumer goods increased slightly over April, but the total was below the record rate established in March.

The federal reserve index of industrial production rose from 140.8 in April to 141.3 in May.

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Brownville—Now they know for certain the opposition is only a drop in the bucket.

By a vote of 105 to 1 that surprised even the staunchest supporters, residents have approved a $68,000 water system. The overwhelming decision means town water for the first time in Brownville's 111 years—and a pumping of new life into the colorful community.

"As long as I can remember we've worked for water in one way or another," recalled Postmaster Adolf Wensien. One of the few natives among the 240 residents, he was one of those priming the project.

Mayor Victor Rowell had also sparked the proposal for several months, ever since the venture was given up last fall as a possible private one. Robert Sage had headed a non-profit group which ran into tax and interest complications.

"At $10 per family we raised $740 to investigate the possibilities, and if it weren't for Sage there would be no water," lauded treasurer Andy Mayberry. Mrs. Wensien was secretary of the organization, which had turned from fund-raising to vote-getting.

Much of the town's drinking water has been hauled in for decades, supplementing some that came even from picturesque bucket wells. Some households have had cisterns and "modern" pumps.

Fire Handicap

"I can count up a dozen homes that have burned just in my own lifetime," said Wensien, pleased at the newly-promised fire protection. "For years people just gathered around and watched them burn whenever one caught fire. Without water that's about all we could do."

Mrs. Wensien, Mayberry . . . special election voted out buckets.

City Clerk Mrs. Courtney Miner said a population boom appears likely, pushed partly by a 200-employe packing plant being erected just across the Missouri River. A coin laundry is anticipated, a new Christian Church is going up, and the Wensiens will open a new cafe "which wouldn't have been feasible without water."

A similar town project had been narrowly approved about 20 years ago but fell through when injunction proceedings halted issuance of general obligation bonds. This time promoters called for financing by revenue bonds, backed by a loan from the Farmers Home Administration.

With 15 absentee ballots yet to be opened, the voter turnout was only a handful shy of unanimous. And except for one technicality the affirmatives would have had two more — the spearheading Sages live outside the village and aren't even sure they'll get water.

Council Asks Public Airing Of Fire Probe

Omaha (AP)—An Omaha city councilman has called for a public airing of the investigation into a fire at the Swanson Enterprises building on the western edge of Omaha, which claimed two lives June 4.

Fire chief Martin Dineen, reached after the council meeting Tuesday, said the investigation of the blaze and the handling of the men and equipment was not finished. A report, he added, should be submitted in about two days.

Councilman Al Veys approached the subject on grounds the council might consider legislation dealing with building and safety codes. However, he made it clear that the briefing should cover more than fire-control problems posed by modern construction.

Two firemen died of smoke inhalation in the fire and several others were hospitalized. Firemen had said the blaze was hard to fight due to its location in a storage room of the building.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Leistritz of Lakeside.

Brownville Boy's Body Recovered; Rites Thursday

Brownville (AP)—The body of a 14-year-old Brownville boy was recovered from the Missouri River Wednesday, about 100 yards downstream, from where he drowned Sunday.

Sheriff George Kelley said Deputy Sheriff Perry Kuenning and a fisherman, Leonard Oldfield, were searching for the body when it was located.

Lomy L. Guthrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Guthrie, drowned when he slipped into the river while playing at the foot of a Brownville street.

Surviving in addition to his parents are two brothers, Usher of Omaha and Arthur Lee of Brownville; six sisters, Mrs. Nelson Moore of Salado, Ark., Mrs. Philip Bowen and Mrs. Jim Bowen, both of Omaha, Wanda Jean, Hazel and Christine, all of Brownville; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Usher Brumley of Bald Knob, Ark.

Graveside services will be at 3:30 p.m. Thursday at Brownville Cemetery.

A 1956 graduate of Lincoln Southeast, Alex Currie, will participate in the national speech tournament.

Currie, according to Tom Keene, Southeast debate coach, won the right to represent this district by placing first in boys' extemperaneous speech at the district contest. He will compete in several events at the meet.

Omaha (AP)—The Union Pacific Foundation announced Wednesday the awarding of grants to 17 Nebraska institutions totaling $104,150.

Arthur Z. Gray of New York, executive director of the foundation, said the foundation was established in 1959 for the purpose of making grants in the fields of education, social welfare, health science and culture to help citizens build their communities in the states served by the railroad.

The grants went to: Creighton University, Midland College, Nebraska Independent College Foundation, Nebraska State League for Nursing, Nebraska Wesleyan University, Clarkson Hospital, Children's Hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital, Immanuel Deaconess Institute, Meyer Therapy Center for Children, Nebraska Methodist Hospital, Boys' Clubs of Omaha, Family and Child Service, Home of the Good Shepherd, Joslyn Art Museum, Omaha Civic Music Association and the Omaha Civic Opera Society.

Franchise For Cable TV Service To GI Is Sought

Grand Island (AP)—The Grand Island City Council has been asked for a franchise to provide cable television service to Grand Island.

The Telesis Corporation, which uses a microwave system to transmit telecasts from Omaha and Kansas City plus one channel for 24-hour weather coverage and another for educational programs, has asked for the franchise.

Tom Gleason, York, and his attorney, William Kelley, told the council the local operation, if approved, would be owned and operated by Gleason.

The system would carry an installation cost of between $12 and $20 for each home and monthly service charges of $4.50 to $7.

Kelley said if the franchise is granted the firm would give the city 3% of the gross revenues.

Fairmont Foods Sales Rise 3 Pct.

Omaha (AP)—Fairmont Foods Co. reported Wednesday earnings of 35 cents per share for the first quarter of its fiscal year.

The firm said sales for the three months ended May 31 were three per cent higher than for the same 1964 quarter, but per share earnings were down from 37 cents.

The earnings came after absorbing start-up expenses of a new milk plant in Philadelphia and a three week strike at a plant in Oakland, Calif., Erhart D. Edquist, board chairman and chief executive officer, noted.

Need For Farm Labor Decreases

The Nebraska Division of Employment reported Wednesday that rains and the availability of youngsters out of school have decreased farm labor shortages in the state.

In its weekly labor bulletin, the division said most areas of the state only have a handful of job openings for farm work. Generally, the division said, large supplies of teenage labor are available, and rain in some areas has delayed field work.

Part Of State Income Tax For Schools Urged

Omaha (AP)—Dr. Paul Miller, Omaha superintendent of schools, said that if there must be a state income tax it should be amended so that schools would get a percentage of the money.

He suggested about $40 per pupil.

Dr. Miller said the income tax now before the state Legislature would only further complicate the problem of financing local school and governmental affairs.

He said increasing demands for school services and no new taxes going to schools forces the local schools to go to Washington and to the state government to get operating money.

Omahan Charged In Fatal Stabbing Of Boston Man

Boston (AP)—Municipal Court Judge Elijah Adlow Wednesday ordered Donald Brown, 30, of Omaha, Neb., held for grand jury on a murder charge.

Brown was charged with the June 4 knife death of Rayfield Moore, 31, an employe of a hospital laundry firm. Police said Moore was stabbed at a south end street intersection in the presence of three other employes of the laundry.

Working with only the assailant's nickname of "Trees" police learned the man's south end rented room address and arrested him Tuesday night.

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Brownville—Now they know for certain the opposition is only a drop in the bucket.

By a vote of 105 to 1 that surprised even the staunchest supporters, residents have approved a $68,000 water system. The overwhelming decision means town water for the first time in Brownville's 111 years—and a pumping of new life into the colorful community.

"As long as I can remember we've worked for water in one way or another," recalled Postmaster Adolf Wensien. One of the few natives among the 240 residents, he was one of those priming the project.

Mayor Victor Rowell had also sparked the proposal for several months, ever since the venture was given up last fall as a possible private one. Robert Sage had headed a non-profit group which ran into tax and interest complications.

"At $10 per family we raised $740 to investigate the possibilities, and if it weren't for Sage there would be no water," lauded treasurer Andy Mayberry. Mrs. Wensien was secretary of the organization, which had turned from fund-raising to vote-getting.

Much of the town's drinking water has been hauled in for decades, supplementing some that came even from picturesque bucket wells. Some households have had cisterns and "modern" pumps.

Fire Handicap

"I can count up a dozen homes that have burned just in my own lifetime," said Wensien, pleased at the newly-promised fire protection. "For years people just gathered around and watched them burn whenever one caught fire. Without water that's about all we could do."

City Clerk Mrs. Courtney Miner said a population boom appears likely, pushed partly by a 200-employe packing plant being erected just across the Missouri River. A coin laundry is anticipated, a new Christian Church is going up, and the Wensiens will open a new cafe "which wouldn't have been feasible without water."

A similar town project had been narrowly approved about 20 years ago but fell through when injunction proceedings halted issuance of general obligation bonds. This time promoters called for financing by revenue bonds, backed by a loan from the Farmers Home Administration.

With 15 absentee ballots yet to be opened, the voter turnout was only a handful shy of unanimous. And except for one technicality the affirmatives would have had two more — the spearheading Sages live outside the village and aren't even sure they'll get water.

Mrs. Wensien, Mayberry . . . special election voted out buckets.

Council Asks Public Airing Of Fire Probe

Omaha (AP)—An Omaha city councilman has called for a public airing of the investigation into a fire at the Swanson Enterprises building on the western edge of Omaha, which claimed two lives June 4.

Fire chief Martin Dineen, reached after the council meeting Tuesday, said the investigation of the blaze and the handling of the men and equipment was not finished. A report, he added, should be submitted in about two days.

Councilman Al Veys approached the subject on grounds the council might consider legislation dealing with building and safety codes. However, he made it clear that the briefing should cover more than fire-control problems posed by modern construction.

Two firemen died of smoke inhalation in the fire and several others were hospitalized. Firemen had said the blaze was hard to fight due to its location in a storage room of the building.

Can't Wait Too Long

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

"Though the stock market decline is causing some emotional turmoil in big cities," writes the Wall Street Journal, "small-town America so far seems undisturbed—and at times inattentive. The 3,000 residents of Cozad, Neb., have their minds on a different kind of 'stock market,' says W. E. Young of the Cozad State Bank. 'We are so overcome with joy with the extreme rise in the livestock market that we've paid little attention to the price of AT&T. Our economy out here is based on hogs and cattle.' "

That is the way it goes—Wall Street looks at us and contemplates the peculiarity of our attitudes and we look at Wall Street as a remote artificiality. Putting it another way, Wall Street is not too interested in us and we are not too interested in Wall Street. Obviously, that remark has to be tempered some but it is a true reflection of the basic attitudes that prevail in the nation. Represented as two different kinds of economies, they are actually closely related but as far apart as night and day. But it is a seeming paradox which stems from mankind's narrow-mindedness more than from any state of reality and truth.

Eyeing Each Other

Wall Street really knows that the economy of agriculture cannot suffer without the economy of big business and industry doing the same. However, it has its own problems to worry about and figures that it is up to agriculture to take care of itself.

Nor is Cozad really so immune as it might sound to the ups and downs of the Dow-Jones averages. Mr. Young of the Cozad State Bank knows that the price of AT&T stock does mean a lot to agriculture but he, like the man on Wall Street, has enough to do meeting the needs of the agricultural economy with which he lives and he assumes that AT&T will take care of itself.

It would seem that with such a division of primary interests, the net result would be a situation of relative equality. The only trouble is that agriculture doesn't carry the weight that Wall Street carries. AT&T can get along more easily without the concern of Cozad than Cozad might get along without AT&T. This is because the two points represent political poles that are far apart and unbalanced. AT&T stands for the heavily populated states of the East and we are reaching the point where much of the South and West can be thrown into the same boat. Florida and Texas are rapidly advancing industrial complexes as are the states of California and Oregon. They are becoming more and more related to that part of the nation lying east of the Mississippi.

No state is totally without agriculture but the farm is a unit of declining influence in just about every state of the nation, including Nebraska. Every year there are fewer farmers and larger farms, weakening still further the political voice of agriculture. Every year, more small towns drop out of existence and more people move into or are born into suburban America.

Every year, the price of food increases while the farmer's share of the food dollar shrinks. The cattle market goes up and down and a life-saving rain turns the countryside green but the fundamental shifts that are taking place are not altered.

Today, cattle prices are at levels better than they have been for the past 30 months with the average price of steers hitting $26 a hundred. Some prime steers have even gone for a high of $31 a hundred. Hog prices at the packing plants are at a seven-year high and lambs are at a 13-year peak.

Nebraska, which was plagued by drought conditions only a few short weeks ago, is now concerned about floods in many areas. Range land has turned from brown to green and the wheat crop is a promising one. In the midst of that relative plenty, complacency is apt to be the order of the day.

Forgotten in the face of good crops and livestock prices are the hard facts of life that are always with us and that are escaped to a constantly shrinking degree. The current high in livestock prices is apt to dissipate quicker than the last high and the fine crops that will come from the summer harvest must be related to the price they will receive in the market place as compared to the cost of their production. When consumers begin to react to the rising price of beef over the grocery store counter, the livestock man can be prepared to see his marketing income fall.

Hard, Cold Facts

What we have to realize is that agriculture needs more than an occasional breathing spell, that every upturn starts from a little smaller base than the last one. With trends what they are, agriculture may decide some day it is time to throw a Sunday punch, only to find it hasn't the muscle to do so.

Irradiated Foods

Food preserved by atomic irradiation has become a fact although the American people haven't yet been sold any.

Seafood and fruit can now be kept fresh for more than a month without freezing. So can bacon.

Chicken, strawberries and ham, pasteurized by irradiation, have been added to the list for clearance by the U.S. Pure Food and Drug Division. The techniques of successful food treatment by radioactive substances have been going on for 12 years at a cost of $30 million. The research has been conducted by the Army and the Atomic Energy Commission. Freshness and true flavor has been achieved for a growing list of foods. In a short time one will be able to buy them in the market.

What is currently holding up sale to consumers is the problem before the Pure Food and Drug people. It is the question of stating on the label that the contents have been irradiated.

Accurate labelling has been the goal of the Pure Food people since the outset, but it has been in the interests of identifying substitutes and questionable items. In the case of the irradiated food it is a question of prejudice or, perhaps fear.

There are a great number of people who feel that the effects of eating irradiated food could be disastrous. But the researchers assert that the food products contain no radiation. There is no radioactive residue in the products.

Then there is the long habit of buyers to hold anything suspect that is not refrigerated and which may have been on the counter for several weeks.

But these are merchandising questions and will pass away in due time by trial. They are no reason why the Pure Food and Drug Division should weaken its long standing policy. That can become infectious.

A Heart Is Shared

One of the events of last Sunday was the public open house of the new Cathedral of The Risen Christ. Thousands of people poured through the edifice in a spirit of communal interest that transcends the divisions of Christianity.

This is a structure that serves as the heart of operations for the Catholic diocese of Lincoln but it is much more than that. It is in and of itself a magnificent piece of art, a showcase of the works of such artists as Giovanni Hajnal of Rome, the Rambusch Studios of New York, Robert Harmon of St. Louis, Jorio Vivarelli of Italy, Max Ingrand of Paris and others.

The Cathedral has been described in its architecture by one church official as "simply American" and that is an apt description. As is this nation, it is a blending of many minds, many abilities and many interests.

It carries this theme out even more specifically in the Holy Family shrine chapel where the family life of Jesus and the life of a Nebraska family are depicted in an intricate mosaic creation. There is, in total, a combining of traditional cathedral grandeur and parish warmth.

The new Cathedral is more than a single place of worship or an administrative headquarters. It is a human achievement that speaks eloquently of God's love for all men and of the compassion we all hold toward one another regardless of our more formal affiliations.

It is a showpiece of which all of Lincoln and the state of Nebraska can be proud. It is a tribute, too, to the untiring efforts and dedication of Bishop James V. Casey whose leadership in a short period of time has proven to be a valued community as well as religious asset. The Cathedral and its entire complex are a work of unlimited satisfaction and will serve for many years as a rewarding experience for all of Lincoln.

Political Folly

Four Republican congressmen, terming themselves a task force, but without the blessing of the national administration nor their own party, have gone to France to find out what is wrong with U.S.-French relations, and perhaps what to do with President De Gaulle.

A good guess is that when they return they will have had a trip to France at public expense, but no signed documents of any significance at all. The delegation is about as useful as a blowout to a traveler.

We know of none of the delegation who are experienced in statecraft. Rep. Paul Findley of Illinois is the head man. The record shows he was once a disciple of Clarence Streit's One World philosophy, but most of his time in Congress has been occupied with fighting against Democratic farm policy. The other members of the delegation seem equally remote from the snares and pitfalls of international affairs.

The administration which possesses a State Department and is charged with responsibility, of course, does not relish this peculiar junket. The same can be said of the Republican members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee. That about cancels out any claims that the junket represents either the government or a political party. Yet it is underway.

It is hard to believe that President De Gaulle, who is an experienced politician, would attempt to do business with a delegation so lacking in power to act. A hundred agreements with a group without such power are not worth the snap of one's finger.

But the trip is on and we can expect a good deal of confusion from it and no solid gain.

Wire Tapping In Dominican Crisis

WASHINGTON — During the height of the Dominican crisis, U.S. intelligence agencies were tapping wires all over the Caribbean, including the telephone of ex-President Juan Bosch of the Dominican Republic.

Having been ousted by the military in 1963, Bosch was credited with masterminding the revolution to get back in power. American intelligence agencies, therefore, wanted to find out what he was planning and who was behind him.

They picked up some interesting phone messages, including one phone call from Santo Domingo reporting that one of the rebel leaders had been shot.

"See that he is shot in the back and then announce to the press that the Americans shot him," ordered Bosch.

Another intercept which U.S. intelligence agencies picked up was an instruction from the Panamanian government to its OAS ambassador in Washington advising him not to support the United States openly, yet not to do anything which might embarrass the United States.

The American embassy in Paris has warned the State Department that the United States might just as well reconcile itself to a NATO without the key country NATO was organized to protect — France.

The anti-American policy of President De Gaulle has become so bitter that cabled instructions were sent to French ambassadors in five Latin-American countries to work actively against American policy in the Dominican Republic at the time the United States intervened.

"While the ordinary Frenchman is not much concerned with foreign affairs," reports the American embassy, "they would undoubtedly be up in arms if they were aware of these instructions.

"De Gaulle has become almost violently anti-American to the point that this is almost a phobia," reports the embassy. "There's no chance whatever of any compromise."

There has not been a serious deterioration in general French attitudes towards America, U.S. diplomat observers believe. "But if De Gaulle runs out the big guns this could happen. The constant flow of biased and distorted information results in the French public being gradually infected by anti-U.S. propaganda."

It's not believed that De Gaulle will pull France out of NATO before December 15. However, as De Gaulle warms to his election campaign, he will be harping more and more on the anti-American theme and will probably climax it by severing French relations with NATO after mid-December. All this after 180 years of close French-American friendship and after two world wars in which the United States landed troops in Europe to go to the aid of beleaguered France.

BOB CONSIDINE

Air Force Builds A Super Rocket

NEW YORK—The Titan-3C rocket, an overpowering new entry in the space race, in all probability ends Russia's long-time superiority in respect to lifting very heavy payloads off the earth.

The Saturn I, which churns up a little over 1,000,000 pounds of thrust on lift-off, may have edged past the dependable Soviet booster which puts up the cosmonauts so well. Various estimates about that booster's power have ricocheted back and forth for several years, but the consensus is that it develops somewhere between 800,000 and 1,000,000 pounds.

Titan-3C leaves no question in doubt.

It is a power complex, a kind of marshaling yard of thrust. Its core is a modified version of the liquid fuel Titan II, ten stories high, that inserted Astronauts McDivitt and White in precise orbit on the strength of tis 400,000 pound first stage and 100,000 second stage.

But then there are Titan-3C's stunning extras.

Two solid fuel outboard rockets, each the height of a 6-story building, hug the sides of the Titan core. These are the liftoff power plants. Each develops 1,000,000 pounds thrust, burns out in two and a half minutes at about 50 miles up, and then the 400,000-pound first stage of the Titan cuts in. The outboards are shot away when spent, and the Titan takes its burden on to assigned missions.

The missions will be frankly military in nature. Titan-3C removes the inhibitions imposed on the role of the Air Force in space. NASA and its colorful astronauts will continue the peaceful pursuit of the moon; the Air Force is more concerned for the time being with the defense of that portion of the earth occupied by free men.

The first flights of the Titan-3C will necessarily be experimental. As the program advances, the full range of the remarkably versatile spacecraft will unfold. In time, it will carry airmen aloft, to stay in orbit for a month working in the Manned Orbiting Laboratory. The MOL will be the size of a house trailer, the two airmen will work in a "shirtsleeve environment," return to earth in a Gemini capsule, attached to the MOL like a lifeboat, and be replaced by another crew shot up from earth in a Gemini.

A major feature of Titan-3C will be its trans-stage, built to be the switch-engine of space. It will have on/off power, permitting the payloads — manned and otherwise — to make extraordinary changes in orbit and even accelerate the spacecraft to escape velocity for probes into deep space.

The Air Force has quietly built up its own staff of incipient astronauts, some of whom have been tapped by NASA for more formal and perhaps formidable post-graduate training. The Air Force's spacemen train under Col. Chuck Yeager, on a kind of bargain-basement arrangement. Rocket-assisted F-104 fighters can hurl them into a high enough parabola to give them from three to four minutes of weightlessness, which condition certain of them will one day endure for a month in their permanently orbiting MOL.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: I read your column about the little girl who pulls out her hair and swallows it. I had the same problem with my girl when she was about that age. The doctor told me the same thing you said, about it making a ball in the stomach and maybe leading to surgery.

Molner

He advised me to have her head shaved. It worked. We had it shaved just three times and she outgrew the habit. She is now 16 and has a fine head of long hair.—Mrs. B.C.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 27 and must have a tonsillectomy. Just how serious is this for an adult?—S.S.

You'll be uncomfortable for a few days, but the operation is not uncommon for adults. There are times when it is necessary.

"Vacation" is defined in the dictionary as "an intermission of activity, employment or stated exercises, as for recreation. A holiday."

So allow some time for relaxation. Don't try to jam a vacation so full of activity that you wear yourself out.

And keep in mind, and guard against, these common hazards:

On the road: The rush to meet a tight schedule isn't worth it. Allow time to travel at a comfortable and safe speed.

The Sun: We palefaces know but we persistently forget—the time to start getting your tan is a month before, not on the first day of your outing. The broiled lobster look is for amateurs. And remember that rays reflected from water or beaches can give a nasty burn even if you are under an umbrella.

Swimming: It is the same sad story year after year. Horseplay in boats. Swimming in a strange place and "he didn't know there was a sudden drop-off." Find out first! If you can't learn for sure, don't wade out deep unless you are a good enough swimmer so a drop-off doesn't matter. Don't dive until you have thoroughly investigated for rocks, logs, hidden pilings. Even weeds can entangle a diver with deadly results

Poison Ivy: If you don't recognize the "leaves of three," it's time you learned. If you do touch it, the best and quickest first aid is immediate washing with soap and water—and generous lather. If there are patches around a cabin or cottage, get rid of it. I've found that a solution made of Ammate works for me, but there are other good ones. Spray the ivy. In 24 hours the leaves begin to wither. Eventually the plant dies.

Drinking water: Have your well or pump water tested. Don't take a chance on unknown sources. Stream pollution has become a national problem. Clear water isn't always safe. Germs are invisible.

Fires: Be sure campfires are thoroughly out. Also matches. Also cigaret butts. Do you have some form of extinguisher at your cabin? And one in your car?

Insect bites: If it's a bee, try to withdraw the stinger with tweezers, etc. There are many ointments to relieve itching. Homemade good ones are a gooey dab of soap; weak ammonia; or baking soda with enough water to make a paste.

Going abroad? Remember that a smallpox vaccination (within the last three years) is required by law before you can get back into the country. Have your vaccination enough ahead of time for it to "take." The law doesn't demand typhoid-paratyphoid vaccination, but it prevents innumerable cases of dysentery from food and other sources. Other vaccinations may be required, depending on where you are going.

First aid kit: Here's a check list. Adhesive bandages; sterile gauze pads; a roll of gauze 1 or 2 inches wide; an antiseptic; a mixture to stop diarrhea; something for pain. (Aspirin is good.) Remember that cleaning a wound with soap and water is one of the best antiseptics. For extensive bleeding, pressure on a cut with a gauze pad will slow or stop it usually. If not, don't panic. Press on an artery at wrist, inside the elbow, groin, or behind the knee."

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any way of removing the color from a brown mole, like freckle cream?—MISS B.B.

No. But removal of the mole is only an office procedure.

Dear Doctor: I have diabetes and I take insulin. How often should one have a check up?—MRS. C.L.

Diabetes can vary a lot in ease of control. A brittle diabetic will show wide swings, very readily, from heavy sugar to insulin reactions.

A stable diabetic can remain sugar-free, without having insulin reactions, by taking a fixed dose of the drug.

A stable diabetic, obviously needn't see a doctor as often as a brittle one.

Another important point is whether you are gaining or losing weight. If you are doing either, you should see your doctor to make sure that your diet (and the amount of insulin you are getting) is right.

Or if any new symptoms develop (disturbances of vision, leg cramps, or others) you should see your doctor immediately.

In general, stable diabetics should consult their doctors every three or four months. It should be oftener for any of the exceptions cited above.

Juveniles with diabetes should be checked more frequently since, in young people the disease is more likely to be severe, and, in addition, they are growing and both diet and amount of insulin should be adjusted more often.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Your Five Cents Worth

Brevity in letters is requested but length in itself will have no bearing in publication. Writers are advised that needless details and repetitious matter will be edited out of letters. Too frequent contributions from one person on the same subject may be rejected. All letters must be accompanied by writer's true name but may be submitted for publication under a pen name or initials. However, letters will be printed under a pen name or initials at the editor's discretion.

Urgent Need

Hastings, Neb.

I wish to qualify some statements in my last letter that the average school board member today should be in kindergarten. This sounds irresponsible, and I wish to state further that there is a reason that we have vandals and vandalism and will have as long as our governor, state representatives and school boards think all we need is a property damage law to punish the parents.

It is very true that the parents are at fault and always will be because parents are built that way. Vandalism is the shortest and surest route to the penitentiary or gas chamber. I am speaking from a long life of experience. I know just how some of the best students who are overprotected at home succumb to the "higher school" gangs. The average school board members, our governor and law-makers do not know or realize that our present system is a perfect set-up for vandalism and all that goes with it.

We must have a special law that will properly punish the vandal before he becomes a criminal and a menace to society. We are very short, indeed, on representatives who recognize and perform their duties on our most important present need.

Platte Waters

Hastings, Neb.

I am sure there were many who greeted enthusiastically The Star's editorial of June 15 regarding a dam on the Platte River.

With an expanding population in eastern Nebraska, our recreational facilites are increasingly crowded. A dam on the lower Platte would provide an outdoor recreation area for countless thousands who no longer have relatives in the country and little access to the country side unless it is in the public domain.

The second point is also well made. States in various parts of the country are contending over water rights from tributaries lying in their bounds. They no longer can automatically lay claim to water that traverses their territory. Unless Nebraska does establish a claim on the Platte, we may well lose forever a significant share of its flow.

I hope immediate and vigorous support comes from the people for this proposal, now that engineering surveys have determined feasibility.

Children's Zoo

Lincoln, Neb.

I have always believed the city owned and operated the rather inadequate zoo located in Antelope Park. I have always had the same impression about the much ballyhooed Children's Zoo. Now, I wonder.

I am sure that every citizen of this community owes Mr. Folsom a deep debt of gratitude for the thousands of hours—and dollars—he personally has invested in the Children's Zoo. This is a debt that perhaps can be repaid in part by naming the facility for him. However, I still recall contributing to the zoo fund with the understanding that "Open for You in '62" meant what it said. This may be the world's largest, or America's largest, etc. such facility of its kind, but, still not in operation in the summer of 1965, what good is that?

Some parents interested in this zoo have literally seen their children grow beyond the age where they are interested in this facility. I understand some animals donated to this zoo have died, perhaps due to improper confinement, awaiting placement in a specially designed area of the Children's Zoo.

Perfection is something to strive for, but so is use. No Lincoln tot is going to know his city's Children's Zoo is the biggest; he just knows it still isn't open to him. This is a plea for some action NOW to open this zoo, whether it is 100% perfect or complete or not.

Job Completed

Lincoln, Neb.

In the fight to keep the Veterans Hospital here open, I met many veterans, urging them to write their congressmen, giving their reasons, and asking their assistance. Many of those who were getting treatment in the hospital at the time said, "It will do no good." I am wondering now how they feel about saving their five cents.

Well, we got the job done by a few loyal guests and the help of Congressman Clair Callan, who deserves much credit for fighting a winning fight from the very start to the finish.

O. B. HATCH

OFF THE RECORD By Ed. Reed

"Hey—You can't go home without her."

Can't Wait Too Long

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

"Though the stock market decline is causing some emotional turmoil in big cities," writes the Wall Street Journal, "small-town America so far seems undisturbed—and at times inattentive. The 3,000 residents of Cozad, Neb., have their minds on a different kind of 'stock market,' says W. E. Young of the Cozad State Bank. 'We are so overcome with joy with the extreme rise in the livestock market that we've paid little attention to the price of AT&T. Our economy out here is based on hogs and cattle.' "

That is the way it goes—Wall Street looks at us and contemplates the peculiarity of our attitudes and we look at Wall Street as a remote artificiality. Putting it another way, Wall Street is not too interested in us and we are not too interested in Wall Street. Obviously, that remark has to be tempered some but it is a true reflection of the basic attitudes that prevail in the nation. Represented as two different kinds of economies, they are actually closely related but as far apart as night and day. But it is a seeming paradox which stems from mankind's narrow-mindedness more than from any state of reality and truth.

Eyeing Each Other

Wall Street really knows that the economy of agriculture cannot suffer without the economy of big business and industry doing the same. However, it has its own problems to worry about and figures that it is up to agriculture to take care of itself.

Nor is Cozad really so immune as it might sound to the ups and downs of the Dow-Jones averages. Mr. Young of the Cozad State Bank knows that the price of AT&T stock does mean a lot to agriculture but he, like the man on Wall Street, has enough to do meeting the needs of the agricultural economy with which he lives and he assumes that AT&T will take care of itself.

It would seem that with such a division of primary interests, the net result would be a situation of relative equality. The only trouble is that agriculture doesn't carry the weight that Wall Street carries. AT&T can get along more easily without the concern of Cozad than Cozad might get along without AT&T. This is because the two points represent political poles that are far apart and unbalanced. AT&T stands for the heavily populated states of the East and we are reaching the point where much of the South and West can be thrown into the same boat. Florida and Texas are rapidly advancing industrial complexes as are the states of California and Oregon. They are becoming more and more related to that part of the nation lying east of the Mississippi.

No state is totally without agriculture but the farm is a unit of declining influence in just about every state of the nation, including Nebraska. Every year there are fewer farmers and larger farms, weakening still further the political voice of agriculture. Every year, more small towns drop out of existence and more people move into or are born into suburban America.

Every year, the price of food increases while the farmer's share of the food dollar shrinks. The cattle market goes up and down and a life-saving rain turns the countryside green but the fundamental shifts that are taking place are not altered.

Today, cattle prices are at levels better than they have been for the past 30 months with the average price of steers hitting $26 a hundred. Some prime steers have even gone for a high of $31 a hundred. Hog prices at the packing plants are at a seven-year high and lambs are at a 13-year peak.

Nebraska, which was plagued by drought conditions only a few short weeks ago, is now concerned about floods in many areas. Range land has turned from brown to green and the wheat crop is a promising one. In the midst of that relative plenty, complacency is apt to be the order of the day.

Forgotten in the face of good crops and livestock prices are the hard facts of life that are always with us and that are escaped to a constantly shrinking degree. The current high in livestock prices is apt to dissipate quicker than the last high and the fine crops that will come from the summer harvest must be related to the price they will receive in the market place as compared to the cost of their production. When consumers begin to react to the rising price of beef over the grocery store counter, the livestock man can be prepared to see his marketing income fall.

Hard, Cold Facts

What we have to realize is that agriculture needs more than an occasional breathing spell, that every upturn starts from a little smaller base than the last one. With trends what they are, agriculture may decide some day it is time to throw a Sunday punch, only to find it hasn't the muscle to do so.

Irradiated Foods

Food preserved by atomic irradiation has become a fact although the American people haven't yet been sold any.

Seafood and fruit can now be kept fresh for more than a month without freezing. So can bacon.

Chicken, strawberries and ham, pasteurized by irradiation, have been added to the list for clearance by the U.S. Pure Food and Drug Division. The techniques of successful food treatment by radioactive substances have been going on for 12 years at a cost of $30 million. The research has been conducted by the Army and the Atomic Energy Commission. Freshness and true flavor has been achieved for a growing list of foods. In a short time one will be able to buy them in the market.

What is currently holding up sale to consumers is the problem before the Pure Food and Drug people. It is the question of stating on the label that the contents have been irradiated.

Accurate labelling has been the goal of the Pure Food people since the outset, but it has been in the interests of identifying substitutes and questionable items. In the case of the irradiated food it is a question of prejudice or, perhaps fear.

There are a great number of people who feel that the effects of eating irradiated food could be disastrous. But the researchers assert that the food products contain no radiation. There is no radioactive residue in the products.

Then there is the long habit of buyers to hold anything suspect that is not refrigerated and which may have been on the counter for several weeks.

But these are merchandising questions and will pass away in due time by trial. They are no reason why the Pure Food and Drug Division should weaken its long standing policy. That can become infectious.

A Heart Is Shared

One of the events of last Sunday was the public open house of the new Cathedral of The Risen Christ. Thousands of people poured through the edifice in a spirit of communal interest that transcends the divisions of Christianity.

This is a structure that serves as the heart of operations for the Catholic diocese of Lincoln but it is much more than that. It is in and of itself a magnificent piece of art, a showcase of the works of such artists as Giovanni Hajnal of Rome, the Rambusch Studios of New York, Robert Harmon of St. Louis, Jorio Vivarelli of Italy, Max Ingrand of Paris and others.

The Cathedral has been described in its architecture by one church official as "simply American" and that is an apt description. As is this nation, it is a blending of many minds, many abilities and many interests.

It carries this theme out even more specifically in the Holy Family shrine chapel where the family life of Jesus and the life of a Nebraska family are depicted in an intricate mosaic creation. There is, in total, a combining of traditional cathedral grandeur and parish warmth.

The new Cathedral is more than a single place of worship or an administrative headquarters. It is a human achievement that speaks eloquently of God's love for all men and of the compassion we all hold toward one another regardless of our more formal affiliations.

It is a showpiece of which all of Lincoln and the state of Nebraska can be proud. It is a tribute, too, to the untiring efforts and dedication of Bishop James V. Casey whose leadership in a short period of time has proven to be a valued community as well as religious asset. The Cathedral and its entire complex are a work of unlimited satisfaction and will serve for many years as a rewarding experience for all of Lincoln.

Political Folly

Four Republican congressmen, terming themselves a task force, but without the blessing of the national administration nor their own party, have gone to France to find out what is wrong with U.S.-French relations, and perhaps what to do with President De Gaulle.

A good guess is that when they return they will have had a trip to France at public expense, but no signed documents of any significance at all. The delegation is about as useful as a blowout to a traveler.

We know of none of the delegation who are experienced in statecraft. Rep. Paul Findley of Illinois is the head man. The record shows he was once a disciple of Clarence Streit's One World philosophy, but most of his time in Congress has been occupied with fighting against Democratic farm policy. The other members of the delegation seem equally remote from the snares and pitfalls of international affairs.

The administration which possesses a State Department and is charged with responsibility, of course, does not relish this peculiar junket. The same can be said of the Republican members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee. That about cancels out any claims that the junket represents either the government or a political party. Yet it is underway.

It is hard to believe that President De Gaulle, who is an experienced politician, would attempt to do business with a delegation so lacking in power to act. A hundred agreements with a group without such power are not worth the snap of one's finger.

But the trip is on and we can expect a good deal of confusion from it and no solid gain.

BOB CONSIDINE

Air Force Builds A Super Rocket

NEW YORK—The Titan-3C rocket, an overpowering new entry in the space race, in all probability ends Russia's long-time superiority in respect to lifting very heavy payloads off the earth.

The Saturn I, which churns up a little over 1,000,000 pounds of thrust on lift-off, may have edged past the dependable Soviet booster which puts up the cosmonauts so well. Various estimates about that booster's power have ricocheted back and forth for several years, but the consensus is that it develops somewhere between 800,000 and 1,000,000 pounds.

Titan-3C leaves no question in doubt.

It is a power complex, a kind of marshaling yard of thrust. Its core is a modified version of the liquid fuel Titan II, ten stories high, that inserted Astronauts McDivitt and White in precise orbit on the strength of tis 400,000 pound first stage and 100,000 second stage.

But then there are Titan-3C's stunning extras.

Two solid fuel outboard rockets, each the height of a 6-story building, hug the sides of the Titan core. These are the liftoff power plants. Each develops 1,000,000 pounds thrust, burns out in two and a half minutes at about 50 miles up, and then the 400,000-pound first stage of the Titan cuts in. The outboards are shot away when spent, and the Titan takes its burden on to assigned missions.

The missions will be frankly military in nature. Titan-3C removes the inhibitions imposed on the role of the Air Force in space. NASA and its colorful astronauts will continue the peaceful pursuit of the moon; the Air Force is more concerned for the time being with the defense of that portion of the earth occupied by free men.

The first flights of the Titan-3C will necessarily be experimental. As the program advances, the full range of the remarkably versatile spacecraft will unfold. In time, it will carry airmen aloft, to stay in orbit for a month working in the Manned Orbiting Laboratory. The MOL will be the size of a house trailer, the two airmen will work in a "shirtsleeve environment," return to earth in a Gemini capsule, attached to the MOL like a lifeboat, and be replaced by another crew shot up from earth in a Gemini.

A major feature of Titan-3C will be its trans-stage, built to be the switch-engine of space. It will have on/off power, permitting the payloads — manned and otherwise — to make extraordinary changes in orbit and even accelerate the spacecraft to escape velocity for probes into deep space.

The Air Force has quietly built up its own staff of incipient astronauts, some of whom have been tapped by NASA for more formal and perhaps formidable post-graduate training. The Air Force's spacemen train under Col. Chuck Yeager, on a kind of bargain-basement arrangement. Rocket-assisted F-104 fighters can hurl them into a high enough parabola to give them from three to four minutes of weightlessness, which condition certain of them will one day endure for a month in their permanently orbiting MOL.

Urgent Need

Hastings, Neb.

I wish to qualify some statements in my last letter that the average school board member today should be in kindergarten. This sounds irresponsible, and I wish to state further that there is a reason that we have vandals and vandalism and will have as long as our governor, state representatives and school boards think all we need is a property damage law to punish the parents.

It is very true that the parents are at fault and always will be because parents are built that way. Vandalism is the shortest and surest route to the penitentiary or gas chamber. I am speaking from a long life of experience. I know just how some of the best students who are overprotected at home succumb to the "higher school" gangs. The average school board members, our governor and law-makers do not know or realize that our present system is a perfect set-up for vandalism and all that goes with it.

We must have a special law that will properly punish the vandal before he becomes a criminal and a menace to society. We are very short, indeed, on representatives who recognize and perform their duties on our most important present need.

Platte Waters

Hastings, Neb.

I am sure there were many who greeted enthusiastically The Star's editorial of June 15 regarding a dam on the Platte River.

With an expanding population in eastern Nebraska, our recreational facilites are increasingly crowded. A dam on the lower Platte would provide an outdoor recreation area for countless thousands who no longer have relatives in the country and little access to the country side unless it is in the public domain.

The second point is also well made. States in various parts of the country are contending over water rights from tributaries lying in their bounds. They no longer can automatically lay claim to water that traverses their territory. Unless Nebraska does establish a claim on the Platte, we may well lose forever a significant share of its flow.

I hope immediate and vigorous support comes from the people for this proposal, now that engineering surveys have determined feasibility.

Children's Zoo

Lincoln, Neb.

I have always believed the city owned and operated the rather inadequate zoo located in Antelope Park. I have always had the same impression about the much ballyhooed Children's Zoo. Now, I wonder.

I am sure that every citizen of this community owes Mr. Folsom a deep debt of gratitude for the thousands of hours—and dollars—he personally has invested in the Children's Zoo. This is a debt that perhaps can be repaid in part by naming the facility for him. However, I still recall contributing to the zoo fund with the understanding that "Open for You in '62" meant what it said. This may be the world's largest, or America's largest, etc. such facility of its kind, but, still not in operation in the summer of 1965, what good is that?

Some parents interested in this zoo have literally seen their children grow beyond the age where they are interested in this facility. I understand some animals donated to this zoo have died, perhaps due to improper confinement, awaiting placement in a specially designed area of the Children's Zoo.

Perfection is something to strive for, but so is use. No Lincoln tot is going to know his city's Children's Zoo is the biggest; he just knows it still isn't open to him. This is a plea for some action NOW to open this zoo, whether it is 100% perfect or complete or not.

Job Completed

Lincoln, Neb.

In the fight to keep the Veterans Hospital here open, I met many veterans, urging them to write their congressmen, giving their reasons, and asking their assistance. Many of those who were getting treatment in the hospital at the time said, "It will do no good." I am wondering now how they feel about saving their five cents.

Well, we got the job done by a few loyal guests and the help of Congressman Clair Callan, who deserves much credit for fighting a winning fight from the very start to the finish.

Klaver May Lead New Bid To Kill Income Tax

A chief critic of the state income tax bill said Wednesday he may lead yet another effort to kill the controversial bill before it reaches final reading.

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha said he will ask that the enacting clause be stricken from LB797 "if the climate is right —and I think that it may very well be."

The Legislature has already turned down three attempts to kill the pressure-packed legislation, which would levy a flat-rate tax on the earnings of individuals and corporations.

Klaver said he will make his move after the lawmakers dispose of the sales tax bill, LB563, scheduled for debate later this week.

"There is a lot of horse trading going on right now over this tax issue. Some of it is resulting in increased support for a sales tax and less for the income tax," Klaver said.

"If there is continued disenchantment with the income levy I will try to remove the enacting clause before it is given final reading. This won't be a delaying tactic, but a sincere effort to rid this body of the bill once and for all."

LB797 is scheduled for final determination on Tuesday. It needs twenty-five votes to become law.

But Klaver said there is a growing desire to place a rate limitation in the bill and that this could delay the Tuesday showdown.

Lincoln Sen. Hal Bauer said he will resist efforts to place a fixed rate in his LB797. He has successfully fought off all previous efforts to do so.

Ready For Vote

"I'm ready for the final vote and I believe most of the others are, too," Bauer said. He said the bill has been thoroughly discussed and that everyone knows what is in it.

Klaver reported he has asked the attorney general to answer three key questions concerning a petition drive to place the tax bill on the November, 1966, general election ballot should the Legislature enact it. They are:

—Does the state constitution in any way prevent a referendum for a vote of the people on the proposed income tax, or any other bill passed by the Legislature?

—Should LB797 pass, would petitions be valid if they were signed immediately following approval by the governor, or if the governor permits LB797 to become law without his signature; or can valid petitions only be signed following termination of a legislative session?

—If petitions are signed by not less than 10% of the electors of the state within 90 days following adjournment of the Legislature, would such a condition prevent any steps in implementation of the law prior to the action of the electorate on the specific issue at the general election?

Terry Would Require Power Grid Bonds Be Sold In State

Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter said Wednesday that if LB764, a bill creating a huge power grid system, is passed, he will draft a bill requiring that bonds issued by the system be sold in Nebraska.

In a written statement, Carpenter said:

"The people of the state of Nebraska have been paying hundreds of thousands of dollars to New York investment bankers as commissions for selling bonds that are issued by public power districts in Nebraska.

"Then those same investment bankers in New York that make these large profits turn around and control these districts so that the public power districts in Nebraska cannot be used by Nebraskans for the maximum benefit of the people of our state."

Carpenter said his bill would "keep the profits from the sale of these bonds in Nebraska . . . so that the control of these public power districts will be here in our state." He said the people of Nebraska could be the "fiscal agents" for the grid system which would be created through passage of LB764. The bill, which was debated on general file Wednesday, would merge the wholesale operations of the Consumers and Loup Public Power Districts and Platte Valley Public Power District.

Colorado Storms Kill 1

Denver (API) — Swirling black clouds packing tornadoes, 70-mile-per-hour winds, hail and torrential rains hit Colorado Wednesday, killing one person and ripping roofs from houses.

A huge United Air Lines jet plane slid off a slick runway at Denver's Stapleton International Airport. None of the 80 persons aboard the flight from Chicago was injured. Six were crewmen.

At least eight tornadoes were reported in the state—six of them sighted by Arapahoe County sheriff's officers in the suburban areas south of Denver. Two of them touched the ground. Two homes were demolished.

Palmer Lake Twister

A tornado cut through the south-central Colorado resort town of Palmer Lake, tearing at least 35 roofs from homes and throwing them through the city. No injuries were reported.

A single-engine Cessna 150 smashed into a field of mud at Byers, Colo., during a thunderstorm earlier Wednesday, killing the pilot.

The victim was identified as Richard Carlton Andrus, 21, of Boulder, Colo. He was ferrying the $7,000 plane from Pittsburgh to Denver.

A Civil Aeronautics Board official said Andrus apparently did not heed severe thunderstorm warnings in the area. The storm lfet about 4½ inches of rain at Byers, about 50 miles east of Denver.

Another tornado hit the Valley Country Club in Arapahoe County, twisting the roof from the clubhouse and tossing about 50 cars through the parking lot.

Three persons were reported injured. A telephone lineman was injured by flying debris. A golfer received a broken arm on the golf course.

Colorado Storms Kill 1

Denver (API) — Swirling black clouds packing tornadoes, 70-mile-per-hour winds, hail and torrential rains hit Colorado Wednesday, killing one person and ripping roofs from houses.

A huge United Air Lines jet plane slid off a slick runway at Denver's Stapleton International Airport. None of the 80 persons aboard the flight from Chicago was injured. Six were crewmen.

At least eight tornadoes were reported in the state—six of them sighted by Arapahoe County sheriff's officers in the suburban areas south of Denver. Two of them touched the ground. Two homes were demolished.

Palmer Lake Twister

A tornado cut through the south-central Colorado resort town of Palmer Lake, tearing at least 35 roofs from homes and throwing them through the city. No injuries were reported.

A single-engine Cessna 150 smashed into a field of mud at Byers, Colo., during a thunderstorm earlier Wednesday, killing the pilot.

The victim was identified as Richard Carlton Andrus, 21, of Boulder, Colo. He was ferrying the $7,000 plane from Pittsburgh to Denver.

A Civil Aeronautics Board official said Andrus apparently did not heed severe thunderstorm warnings in the area. The storm left about 4½ inches of rain at Byers, about 50 miles east of Denver.

Another tornado hit the Valley Country Club in Arapahoe County, twisting the roof from the clubhouse and tossing about 50 cars through the parking lot.

Three persons were reported injured. A telephone lineman was injured by flying debris. A golfer received a broken arm on the golf course.

Barry Urges Arms Blockade Of Cuba

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP)—Barry Goldwater urged Wednesday night that the United States and other American nations throw a tight arms blockade around Cuba to combat communism's "undeclared war against the Americas."

"If we do not correct the mistake of the Bay of Pigs, there will be a blaze to our south that will be nothing less than a forest fire of Communist aggression," the 1964 Republican presidential nominee declared.

In a speech prepared for the national Young Republican convention, Goldwater said th blockade should halt the flow of war materials into Cuba "by the ships of any flag."

Others Join In

He called for use on U.S. naval power and the naval power "of all American states prepared to join in" to accomplish this and also to halt arms shipments into any othr nation of the hemisphere.

Current Communist armed aggression, Goldwater said, "amounts to nothing less than an undeclared war against the Americas."

The blockade, he said, would invoke an "ancient sea doctrine against contraband, one of the oldest rights of belligerents in protecting themselves.' It was invoked, he noted, during the 1963 Cuban missile crisis.

"The Americas," he said, "must restore the right to search and turn back . . . any cargo and the vessel itself when carrying the arms and military instruments of Red aggression."

Encourage Liberation

Goldwater suggested also that the 1961 debacle at the Bay of Pigs could be corrected by "encouraging liberation of Cuba by a government in exile."

The former Arizona senator, who announced Tuesday that he would try to return to the Senate, devoted most of his speech to foreign policy.

He again praised President Johnson's prompt action in the Dominican Republic.

Mo. Synod Lutherans Urged To Seek Ecumenical Bonds

Detroit (AP) — The president of the Lutheran (Missouri Church Synod) promised Wednesday to take "any opportunity God may provide" to seek closer ties with other Protestants and "Christians of the Roman persuasion."

Dr. Oliver R. Harms of St. Louis issued the pledge as part of a seven-plank platform as the synod's 46th national convention opened Wednesday at Detroit's Cobo Hall.

Missouri Synod Lutherans have traditionally shunned opportunities for closer ties with other denominations, and even with other Lutherans. A conservative faction among the 10,000 delegates and guests is expected to fight Harms' proposals.

Faith's Unity

One plan was to pledge to "strive to preserve the unity of faith in the bonds of peace with every brother in our synodical fellowship." Another promised to "endeavor to seek to establish and to manifest the unity we have in Christ Jesus with every other brother of God's household."

Referring to "other Christians, other Lutherans," he added:

"As God give us opportunity, we will testify. As God provides opportunities to study theology together, we will do so.

"And if His opportunities take us beyond the franework of Protestantism, we will share God's grace and a firm testimony to those who are neither protestant nor Lutheran," Harms said.

Net Gain 180,000

In a report on his three-year presidency, Harms said:

—The synod has gained 280,000 members and lost 100,000 others;

—"God has given us 2,000 new pastors, teachers and other church workers since 1962;"

—Synod members during the three years have given some $70 million "for the world mission to churches carried on by the synod."

Harms, in an apparent reference to conservatives, who have accused the leadership of scriptural disobedience and theological liberalism, said the synod is "marred by lethargy and contentiousness."

McDivitt Gets Record Home Crowd, Gold Gift

Jackson, Mich. (AP)—Jackson citizens lined up seven or eight deep over a 1½-mile parade route Wednesday to welcome their hometown hero, astronaut James McDivitt, and then offered a surprise gift—a gold windshield wiper.

Officials said it was to make sure absultely everything goes smoothly on future space missions.

During the last one, while astronaut Edward Whte was walking in space, McDivitt told him jokingly: "You smeared up my windshield, you dirty dog."

"If I just had another spacecraft to use it on . . .," McDivitt replied as he accepted the gift before a crowd of 1,500 at a luncheon at his honor. It was just a fraction of the estimated 125,000 crowd —largest in Jackson's history —along the parade route.

The astronaut and his wife, Pat, were married nine years Wednesday, and all along the parade route were signs wishing them a happy anniversary.

San Antonio Greets Space Walker White

San Antonio, Tex. (AP)—In a whirlwind six-hour tour of the city of his birth, astronaut Edward M. White II thanked San Antonio "for a good start when I was launched" and placed a wreath at Texas' most revered shrine, the Alamo.

An estimated 150,000 persons lined the parade route as the 34-year-old Gemini 4 space walker flashed a big smile and his now-familiar, thumbs-up "go" sign en route from the airport to downtown San Antonio.

White, accompanied by his wife, his two children, his parents, retired Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Edward H. White Sr., and Gemini 4 flight surgeon, Dr. Charles Berry and his wife, placed a 40-pound wreath at the entrance of the Alamo, near the spot where two presidents, Kennedy and Johnson, have also placed wreaths.

Normal Board Approves Increases In Tuition

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Normal Board Wednesday approved tuition hikes for the four state colleges—Kearney, Chadron, Wayne and Peru—in line with legislative recommendations.

The board also moved to make more room for the growing Kearney campus, and to provide housing facilities for the student influx expected next fall.

The tuition increases were okayed pending final determination by the Legislature of LB889, the operating budget bill that includes appropriations for the state colleges.

Undergraduate fees were boosted from $100 to $125 for resident students and $150 to $200 for non-residents. Graduate student fees were upped $125 to $150 for residents and $175 and $225 for non-residents.

Rates were also adjusted for summer school and credit hours for students taking less than 12 or more than 16 per semester. The new rates take effect July 1.

The board also authorized Dr. Milton Hassel, Kearney College president, to negotiate an option with the University of Nebraska for up to 320 acres of University land near the Kearney campus.

Sale price would be determined in October when the remaining acres of the Sheldon Estate are sold at public auction by the University.

Dr. Hassel said Kearney's athletic field would be transferred to the new site, leaving room on the 100-acre campus for expansion of academic buildings.

The board was told the move was the "last chance" that the college has to expand its campus for present and future needs.

Dr. Hassel was also authorized to negotiate with the Kearney hotels for accommodations for the anticipated student overflow of about 375 next fall. The school will also investigate revenue bond financing for another dormitory. A dormitory housing 400 students will be ready this fall.

Dr. Hassel said student enrollment is expected to exceed 4,000 next fall, based on early enrollments, as compared with 1964-65 enrollment of 3,072.

In other action, the board appointed Dr. Freeman Decker, state colleges coordinator, and Dr. Neal Gomon, Peru State College president, to confer with Sens. Rick Budd and Calista Cooper Hughes on the recently-passed Legislative resolution calling for the closing of college's elementary and secondary school operation on the campus by July 1, 1968.

Dr. Gomon contends that without the campus school, teacher preparation costs would involve $80,000 as compared with the $15,258 in state funds now being paid for operation and maintenance of the school.

Loss of the school, he said, would lessen the effectiveness of the college's teacher preparation program, seriously impair recruitment of college staff members and reduce the level of secondary and elementary education in the community.

The board okayed preliminary plans for an estimated $945,000 library building on the Chadron campus.

The two-story building would be financed through $315,000 in federal and $630,000 in state funds. Final architectural plans are to be ready for review and approval in 60 days.

The board also authorized preliminary planning for an $80,000 maintenance building on the Kearney campus, but delayed other preliminary planning for new construction, contemplated under LB890, the construction appropriation bill, under its July meeting.

Bernard Spencer, board chairman, urged that preliminary planning ahead of the bill's passage would be putting the "cart before the horse," but another member suggested any lead time gained in planning would be valuable.

However, board consensus was that no planning action should be taken pending legislative action on LB890.

All could spell riot.

Lincoln police don't anticipate any trouble, Lt. D. A. Adams said, but if a riot should occur, the police are prepared.

For a year now, police officers have been receiving special training in riot and crowd control. The training is under the direction of Adams. About 100 uniformed officers have been "exposed" to the training, Adams said.

Elite Corps

From these, an elite corps of 15 men—five for each shift—is being chosen. They will be equipped with special blue helmets and riot sticks—30-inch clubs.

Police dogs and tear gas are available "depending on the stituation," Adams said. But he stressed that no particular event or trend spurred the new and specialized training.

Riot training takes place either at the Fairgrounds or the police pistol range. Three basic formations are taught, Adams said.

There is the "wedge," which is just what its name indicates. This formation allows police to force their way through a crowd or to split a crowd. When a crowd is split, its effectiveness is virtually destroyed. "The "line" formation is used to hold a crowd and keep it from passing a certain point. The "echelon" or "diagonal" is used to move crowds away from a building or an area.

Helpless

Adams said police realize they would be virtually helpless if two or three thousand persons rioted, but he said in case of smaller crowds the appearance of "disciplined men who know what they are doing" can end a disturbance.

"We are trying to be somewhat prepared for any eventuality," Adams said.

Adams and Lt. Lowell Sellmeyer received crowd control training at the F.B.I. National Academy, Washington, D.C. They are being assisted in training the rest of the force by cruiser officer Paul Merritt, who taught riot control in the armed forces.

Police Chief Joseph Carroll recalled a 1949 riot at the University of Nebraska. The issue was parking. Students attempted to tip over a police car in a wild congregation in front of the Nebraska Union and later made a "march on the Capitol."

Learned A Lot

"We do not anticipate any trouble — and we certainly hope there will be none. But we have learned a lot since then and some strike riots in 1938 and 1940," Carroll said while looking over the riot training. "We believe we could handle those situations a lot better now."

Sellmeyer pointed out that a platoon of riot control troops, 36 men, could be put at any spot in the city in full riot dress within a matter of minutes of any riot or crowd control problem.

Normal Board Approves Increases In Tuition

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Normal Board Wednesday approved tuition hikes for the four state colleges—Kearney, Chadron, Wayne and Peru—in line with legislative recommendations.

The board also moved to make more room for the growing Kearney campus, and to provide housing facilities for the student influx expected next fall.

The tuition increases were okayed pending final determination by the Legislature of LB889, the operating budget bill that includes appropriations for the state colleges.

Undergraduate fees were boosted from $100 to $125 for resident students and $150 to $200 for non-residents. Graduate student fees were upped $125 to $150 for residents and $175 and $225 for non-residents.

Rates were also adjusted for summer school and credit hours for students taking less than 12 or more than 16 per semester. The new rates take effect July 1.

The board also authorized Dr. Milton Hassel, Kearney College president, to negotiate an option with the University of Nebraska for up to 320 acres of University land near the Kearney campus.

Sale price would be determined in October when the remaining acres of the Sheldon Estate are sold at public auction by the University.

Dr. Hassel said Kearney's athletic field would be transferred to the new site, leaving room on the 100-acre campus for expansion of academic buildings.

The board was told the move was the "last chance" that the college has to expand its campus for present and future needs.

Dr. Hassel was also authorized to negotiate with the Kearney hotels for accommodations for the anticipated student overflow of about 375 next fall. The school will also investigate revenue bond financing for another dormitory. A dormitory housing 400 students will be ready this fall.

Dr. Hassel said student enrollment is expected to exceed 4,000 next fall, based on early enrollments, as compared with 1964-65 enrollment of 3,072.

In other action, the board appointed Dr. Freeman Decker, state colleges coordinator, and Dr. Neal Gomon, Peru State College president, to confer with Sens. Rick Budd and Calista Cooper Hughes on the recently-passed Legislative resolution calling for the closing of college elementary and secondary school operation on the campus by July 1, 1968.

Dr. Gomon contends that without the campus school, teacher preparation costs would involve $80,600 as compared with the $15,258 in state funds now being paid for operation and maintenance of the school.

Loss of the school, he said, would lessen the effectiveness of the college's teacher preparation program, seriously impair recruitment of college staff members and reduce the level of secondary and elementary education in the community.

The board okayed preliminary plans for an estimated $945,000 library building on the Chadron campus.

The two-story building would be financed through $315,000 in federal and $630,000 in state funds. Final architectural plans are to be ready for review and approval in 60 days.

The board also authorized preliminary planning for an $80,000 maintenance building on the Kearney campus, but delayed other preliminary planning for new construction, contemplated under LB890, the construction appropriation bill, under its July meeting.

Bernard Spencer, board chairman, urged that preliminary planning ahead of the bill's passage would be putting the "cart before the horse," but another member suggested any lead time gained in planning would be valuable.

However, board consensus was that no planning action should be taken pending legislative action on LB890.

Cudahy Moving Offices

. . . To Phoenix

Omaha (AP)— The Cudahy Packing Company announced Wednesday it will move its corporate headquarters from Omaha to Phoenix. The announcement followed a regular board of directors meeting.

Edward Cudahy, president and chairman of the board, said arrangements for office space will have to be completed before a definite date for the move can be scheduled but it is hoped that the move can be completed by Aug. 1.

Cudahy has maintained its headquarters in Omaha since 1950 when it moved from Chicago.

Its Omaha plant has been closed since a labor dispute flared up April 7, and the company subsequently sent discharge notices to most of its Omaha union employes. Other Cudahy plants were not affected. Company and union negotiation looking toward at least to partial reopening of the Omaha plant are still in progress.

Cudahy said the projected move allows a "more distinct separation of our executive management from our operational management. We are reducing the size of our headquarters staff and also decentralizing the corporate office to some degree."

He noted that all of Cudahy's meat plants are west of the Missouri River and the move to Phoenix will give executives "better accessibility to all of these locations."

A company spokesman said the headquarters here had a staff of about 150 until recently. The size has been reduced recently and, as the announcement indicated, the Phoenix staff will be smaller.

Latin Leaders Question OAS As Facade Of U.S. Intervention

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Mexico City (AP) — In many Latin American eyes the Organization of American States, never robust at its best, has received from the Dominican Republic crisis a blow from which it may never fully recover.

Responsible Latin Americans in and out of government express the conviction that when — or if — the OAS holds its scheduled meeting in August in Rio de Janeiro, it will be attending its own funeral service unless it is willing to submit itself to surgery.

Any effect the OAS may have had in the Dominican Republic, knowledgeable Latin Americans are saying, was achieved only because of the giant force of the United States behind a facade of an organization to which only four of the 19 other membrs gave even token military support. Critics say that unless the OAS perfects its machinery it is finished.

Inhibitions

But there are inhibitions and dilemmas in the way of perfecting the machinery. Originally it was conceived as a referee in disputes among American states. But it has been called to act against internal subversion and intervention by communism. Almost any big crisis which occurs in Latin America these days — such as the one in Santo Domingo — is likely to be an internal one.

Members of the OAS say they want the implied protection of such an organization, but at the same time are unwilling to commit themselves to the principle that it can intervene in their own internal affairs.

No Latin American regime is willing to confer upon Washington the right to judge whether a convulsion inside its own country is a Communist threat requiring intervention from the outside, either by the United States or by any police machinery devised by the OAS. The dilemma seems imsoluble.

All responsible sources agree that a permanent fire department is necessary, but each withholds the right of the fire department to turn hoses on his house.

Even though the Carribbean crisis churned up sentiment again for an old initiative, creation of an Inter-American Force, six important nations have voted against it.

Those who opposed it implied that a favorable vote would legitimize the U.S. intervention in the Dominican Republic. Although the only route to retirement of U.S. troops from Santo Domingo would be creation of an Inter-American Force, only the United States has sufficient strength to give such a force backbone. A number of Latin American governments are so involved in internal troubles anyway that they could hardly spare troops for international duty.

It is difficult to find sympathy for the OAS, even in official circles and even among those who might support the idea of restructuring it. The widespread feeling seems to be that the OAS all along has fumbled and has done so particularly in the Dominican crisis, thus diminishing confidence in it.

Dilemmas remain in the way. Leaders admit there is a danger of Communist subversion, but contend at the same time that one-sided U.S. intervention also menaces the hemisphere.

Latin politicians profess to see in the Dominican crisis a U.S. doctrine that it has the right to interfere at any time in the affairs of Latin American nations if it feels such nations are endangered by communism. Such an idea is far from popular, regardless of fear among regimes of Castro-communism. They insist that if this is a Johnson doctrine, it will estrange Latin American governments from Washington.

This, they say, is not like the 1962 Cuban missile showdown between the United States and the Soviet Union. They say that then the Latin American nations responded quickly to a U.S. appeal for support. This time, they add, the United States acted without consultation or asking for support in advance. And this time there is relatively little support from the rest of the hemisphere, except in words.

Boys Staters Eye Science, Taxes, Speed

Bills requiring such meassures were discussed in Wednesday's 1965 Boys' State mock legislature.

The 49 Boys' State senators at Nebraska Center defeated a bill to reduce the speed limit from 65 to 60 in daylight and from 55 to 50 at night.

They also discussed bills on a possible two per cent income tax tied to the federal tax and on setting aside $50,000 a year to promote the study of natural sciences in universities.

Both of these bills were tabled until the Thursday legislative session.

An additional bill was proposed at the session, but died before coming to a vote. The bill proposed that Boy Staters not wear their Cornhusker tee shirts to the Boys State-Girls State dance.

Remaining bills on the agenda include the establishing of a state "Peace Corps," the promotion and development of water fowl refuges, and to provide, at state expense, for the education of outstanding students in scientific fields.

Bill Ending Death Penalty Passed By Girls Staters

Girls' State representatives passed a bill abolishing capital punishment in their mock legislature Wednesday.

The majority of the 49 Girls' State senators voted to replace the death penalty with a 99-year prison term.

Another bill passed requires that no person over 16 shall be granted a driver's license without having completed a driver education course.

Establishment of a "Peace Corps" in Nebraska was proposed in still another bill winning approval of the mock legislature.

A bill to lower the voting age to 18 was killed.

. . . MURDER OF BERLIN BOATER DENOUNCED

Berlin (AP)—In one of the angriest notes ever sent to the Soviet Union, the United State denounced Wednesday the "senseless, cold-blooded brutality" of East German guards who shot a West Berlin couple Tuesday.

U.S. Ambassador George C. McGhee in a note to Pyotr Abrasimov, Soviet ambassador to East Germany, warned that the United States will take all necessary measures to protect life and property in the U.S. sector of West Berlin.

"We will hold the Soviet authorities responsible for whatever consequences may ensue from the actions of the East German authorities which give rise to such measures," McGhee said.

Canal Boating

Pretty Elke Martens, 22, was shot in the head and seriously wounded, and her fiance, Hermann Doebler, 42, a war veteran, was killed while boating on a border canal.

The official East German news agency ADN said the Soviet embassy refused to accept McGhee's protest. The agency said an American representative who tried to deliver the letter was told that "such question come under the jurisdiction of the authorities of the (East) German Democratic Republic."

McGhee said the shooting "has again reminded the civilized world of the dangerous and abnormal situation resulting from the continued unnatural division of Germany."

Senseless Brutality

"Free men everywhere are utterly revolted by the senseless, cold-blooded brutality of such shootings," McGhee wrote. "Certainly they could not occur elsewhere in the civilized world."

ADN said the boat cruise was designed to create "political provocation," that the couple intended to test alertness of East German border guards, and that Doebler had been paid by masterminds.

Denying this, McGhee said that the East German regime was "anxious as always to cover up its inhumanity by resorting to the 'big lie' technique."

". . . have investigated the matter fully," he wrote. "I find the facts are that this couple were on a harmless boating outing on a pleasant June afternoon."

Soviet Support

He also told Abrasimov the Soviet government must share the responsibility because "the unjustified shootings and the entire system of oppression of which they are a product would not be possible without Soviet support."

Machine-Gunned

The machine-gunning of the couple, who had strayed into East German waters while boating, injected a note of tension into preparation for Thursday's anniversary of the East German anti-Communist uprising of 1953.

West Berlin officials said they feared that the incident may spark rioting along the Communist wall.

A mass anniversary rally is scheduled at John F. Kennedy Square in front of the city hall. Officials were worried that the tense crowd could get out of control.

Marine Strike Of Engineers Future Threat

New York (AP) — An engineers strike against 184 United States merchant ships posed a long-range threat Wednesday to the American-flag transatlantic passenger trade. But its immediate public impact was slight.

Few ships were tied up. Most of them had put to sea from East and Gulf Coast ports in advance of the walkout midnight Tusday.

The 10,000-member AFL-CIO Marine Enginers Beneficial Association (MEBA) called out 1,300 engineers from nine American shipping firms, in a deadlock over arbitration machinery, pensions and the manning of ships.

Engineers continued to work 439 other vessels, whose owners reached contract agreements with the MEBA.

Union President Jesse M. Calhoon said picketing was concentrated mainly in New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore. He doubted the strike would seriously harm the U.S. shipping industry.

"We're hoping a speedy agreement can be reached," Calhoon told a news conference.

No big liners were caught in port. Th 52,000-ton United States, flagship of the U.S. lines and the nation's largest and fastest liner, slipped out ahead of schedule Monday night to beat the strike deadline. She had 1,650 passengers for Europe.

1965 Miss Nebraska Contestants Register

York (AP) — The 36 contestants for the 1965 Miss Nebraska Pageant registered at contest headquarters Wednesday and started preparations for the four days of competition which will bring one of them a chance to compete in the Mss America contest in Atlantic City in August.

The Nebraska winner also will be presented with $1,000 scholarship, a $500 cash fashion award and a $500 case of jewels.

The first public appearance for the contestants will be at p.m. Thursday in a parade through the business district, with each contestant riding in an open convertible.

The coronation climaxing the event, will be at 8:30 p.m. Sunday following a formal banquet at the York Country Club at which Gov. and Mrs. Frank Morrison will be guests of honor.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday night groups of 12 contestants will demonstrate their talents preparatory to the final judging Sunday.

Three former holders of the Miss Nebraska title are attending the 1965 pageant. They are Mary Lee Jepson of Papillion, 1962 winner; Donna Marie Black of Broken Bow, 1963; and Sandra Rice of Cozad, 1964.

U.S. Note To Russians One Of Angriest Ever

. . . MURDER OF BERLIN BOATER DENOUNCED

Berlin (AP)—In one of the angriest notes ever sent to the Soviet Union, the United State denounced Wednesday the "senseless, cold-blooded brutality" of East German guards who shot a West Berlin couple Tuesday.

U.S. Ambassador George C. McGhee in a note to Pyotr Abrasimov, Soviet ambassador to East Germany, warned that the United States will take all necessary measures to protect life and property in the U.S. sector of West Berlin.

"We will hold the Soviet authorities responsible for whatever consequences may ensue from the actions of the East German authorities which give rise to such measures," McGhee said.

Canal Boating

Pretty Elke Martens, 22, was shot in the head and seriously wounded, and her fiance, Hermann Doebler, 42, a war veteran, was killed while boating on a border canal.

The official East German news agency ADN said the Soviet embassy refused to accept McGhee's protest. The agency said an American representative who tried to deliver the letter was told that "such question come under the jurisdiction of the authorities of the (East) German Democratic Republic."

McGhee said the shooting "has again reminded the civilized world of the dangerous and abnormal situation resulting from the continued unnatural division of Germany."

Senseless Brutality

"Free men everywhere are utterly revolted by the senseless, cold-blooded brutality of such shootings," McGhee wrote. "Certainly they could not occur elsewhere in the civilized world."

ADN said the boat cruise was designed to create "political provocation," that the couple intended to test alertness of East German border guards, and that Doebler had been paid by masterminds.

Denying this, McGhee said that the East German regime was "anxious as always to cover up its inhumanity by resorting to the 'big lie' technique."

". . . have investigated the matter fully," he wrote. "I find the facts are that this couple were on a harmless boating outing on a pleasant June afternoon."

Soviet Support

He also told Abrasimov the Soviet government must share the responsibility because "the unjustified shootings and the entire system of oppression of which they are a product would not be possible without Soviet support."

Machine-Gunned

The machine-gunning of the couple, who had strayed into East German waters while boating, injected a note of tension into preparation for Thursday's anniversary of the East German anti-Communist uprising of 1953.

West Berlin officials said they feared that the incident may spark rioting along the Communist wall.

A mass anniversary rally is scheduled at John F. Kennedy Square in front of the city hall. Officials were worried that the tense crowd could get out of control.

Auto Caravan To Visit Sites Along Historic Oregon Trail

Ogaliala — Nebraskans who share a common interest in the great Interstate of the 1800's—the Oregon Trail — have been invited to take part in a "trail trek" this weekend.

An auto carvan will visit about 15 historic sites along the trail from Ogallala to Scottsbluff.

The trek was planned by historians along the trail.

Two Nebraskans noted as authorities on the Oregon Trail will serve as "scouts." They are Paul Henderson of Bridgeport, who will lead the caravan from Ogallala to Bridgeport the first day, and Earl Harris, historian at the Scotts Bluff National Monument, who will be in charge the second day.

Stops include Ash Hollow, Chimney Rock, Robidoux Pass and the Horse Creek Treaty Grounds.

There is no charge for participating but persons interested in joining the trek are asked to write the Ogallala Chamber of Commerce for reservations.

Trekers will be responsible for their own food and lodging Saturday night at Bridgeport.

The trek will start at Ogallala's "Front Street" at 7 a.m. Saturday, where members of the Ogallala Women's Division of the Chamber will serve coffee and rolls.

The tour will conclude at Scottsbluff Sunday afternoon. At Scottsbluff, Henderson will host the first amphitheater program of the season at the National Monument with a lecture and slides of the Oregon Trail.

Convoy Ambushed; Bomb Wounds 46

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—The Viet Cong hit a gvovernment convoy 15 miles southwest of Saigon Wednesday while official attention centered on a terrorist bombing that injured 34 American servicemen and at least 12 other persons at Saigon airport.

A U.S. spokesman announced a large guerrilla force ambushed the convoy of about 40 militiamen and apparently captured a U.S. Army adviser marching with them, then shot down a U.S. helicopter sent to relieve the convoy.

The helicopter exploded, apparently from an incendiary bullet in a fuel tank, and one of the four American crewmen was killed, the spokesman said. The others were described as seriously wounded.

Another helicopter recovered the body of the dead man and flew in the wounded for hospitalization. The roll of American combat dead in Viet Nam rose to 416.

The convoy's American adviser was missing. It was not immediately known whether any of the Vietnamese militiamen escaped during the firefight. However, a district chief who was with them got away.

Air action over the central highlands cost the U.S. Air Force two A1 fighters. A spokesman said the propeller-driven craft, flying on a four-plane mission 240 miles northeast of Saigon near Pleiku, collided and crashed. One of the pilots was killed. The other parachuted to safety.

Saigon's airport was closed temporarily to commercial traffic because of damage to the concrete civilian terminal building from the explosion of a bomb in the Air France freight office overlooking the main waiting room. Officials said it probably would be reopened by Thursday morning.

In addition to the 34 Americans, U.S. spokesmen said nine Vietnamese, two Indians and a Frenchman were injured. The Americans—all reported working in the terminal building or on business there—were 17 Army men, 15 Air Force men and two from the Navy. Most were released after treatment.

Unharmed by the blast were about 120 U.S. troops waiting a short distance away to board two U.S. jet transports for the United States.

Another blast last October badly damaged the terminal restaurant.

Communist barges were among targets of U.S. Air Force and Navy planes in the continuing raids on North Viet Nam.

Daley Seeks To Confer As Marches Continue

Chicago (AP) — Representatives of pro-integration groups marched on city hall for the fifth time in seven days Wednesday in a demonstration aimed at speeding racial integration in public schools.

The demonstrators left Buckingham Fountain in Grant Park at 2:20 p.m. and as the march progressed their numbers swelled to about 125. The group included Negro and white demonstrators of various ages.

The marchers have tied downtown vehicular and pedestrian traffic into knots three times in the last six days by breaking ranks to lie, kneel or sit in the streets. A total of 526 arrests has been made.

Daley Willing

Mayor Richard J. Daley has publicly announced his willingness to confer with the leaders of the integration groups. He says they have a right to march, demonstrate and picket but will be arrested if they break the laws.

Albert Raby, a Negro Chicago school teacher who is in charge of the Chicago demonstrations as convenor of the Coordinating Council of Community Organizations, set up three conditions Tuesday for talks with the mayor:

1. That charges be dismissed against all persons arrested in the demonstrations.

2. That a mutually agreeable date be set for the meeting.

3. That on the agreed date the marchers be permitted to make the 2-mile walk from Buckingham Fountain in Grant Park to city hall in two lanes of any streets the police choose.

Too Crowded

Raby said, however, before Wednesday's demonstration began that he could not meet with the mayor before next week. He said his schedule is too crowded this week.

Daley said he is willing to meet with the leaders at any time or place and that they can apply for a parade permit to use the street lanes. But he said the arrests are now in judicial jurisdiction over which he has no authority.

The demonstrators are protesting the reappointment of Benjamin C. Willis, school superintendent whom they accused of maintaining de facto segregation in the schools.

Demands

They have demanded that he be given a leave of absence and that the mayor endorse a change in the superintendency and issue a public statement supporting integration in the schools.

Raby has selected Daley as the prime target, rather than Willis.

"Willis is not important," he said. "If we can topple the Daley machine in Chicago we can topple the machine of any northern city.

"If we are not successful in marches, we will take and find economic means."

Watershed District Re-Elects Officers

The Salt-Wahoo Watershed District directors re-elected all their officers for the coming fiscal year Wednesday.

Otto H. Liebers of Lincoln will continue as president. Other officers re-elected are: Kenneth Weaver of Raymond, vice president; Byron Dunn of Lincoln, treasurer; Owen Perry of Malcolm, secretary.

Norman Gau of the Army Corps of Engineers from Omaha, gave a rundown on the reservoir levels during May and June. He said the heavy rains during May and the first part of June presented no serious problems for Lincoln and Lancaster County because the dams were storing the water "like a blotter."

Jim Scott, Corps of Engineers in Lincoln, said construction has been slowed by the rains, though not seriously. He said the channel work through Lincoln is 60% complete and on schedule.

Ed Fitzgerald of the American Soil Conservation Service said Waverly residents want dam and channel work on the Ash Hollow Creek. He said a SCS will make a preliminary survey before the costs are worked out and then do more detailed work after financing has been determined.

Schroeder said Dead Man's Run near Cornhusker Highway needs to be stabilized. He said the minimum cost to do this would be $50,000 and "a really first class job would cost about $200,000."

Schroeder said in several areas of Dead Man's Run, Salt-Wahoo has no jurisdiction and the problem of who is responsible must be worked out.

He said Beals Slough in the lower reaches near the Industrail Park is in good shape but that the area between 27th and 48th Sts. is a problem.

Following the meeting, the directors took a tour of dam sites under construction near Lincoln. The tour included the Salt Creek near Camp Minus Kuya where construction is slated to begin within the next few weeks that will rechannel the creek from the westside of the Boy Scout camp to the eastside, the Yankee Hill site now under construction, Pawnee Dam outside of Emerald and Twin Lakes, off of the Pleasant Dale Interstate exit.

All sites will also have recreation facilities.

Reapportionment Tiff, GOP Stop Bills In Illinois

Springfield, Ill. (AP)—Majority Republicans refused Wednesday to lift their stop-order on bill passing and the Illinois senate went through its second day without approving any legislation.

GOP leaders declared the embargo would go on until the dispute over reapportionment is settled.

Both parties agreed the Cook County suburban area should have nine Senate seats.

Sen. Alan Dixon of Belleville, Democratic whip, said one suggested compromise would be to increase the number of over-all Senate districts from 58 to 59.

But this idea was rejected by Sen. Robert Hatch of Chicago, a leading Republican spokesman on reapportionment.

Another proposal called for giving Chicago 20 districts, downstate 28, and electing one senator from the state at-large. The Cook County area would have nine.

Dobson Bids Low On Gering Work

Omaha (AP)—The Omaha district office of the Corps of Engineers said Wednesday that Dobson Brothers Construction Co., Lincoln, was apparent low bidder among four, for construction of downstream barriers in the Gering Valley project in Nebraska.

The Dobson bid was $69,048, compared with a government estimated of $59,630.

The work should be completed in about four months.

Wilson Tries Rallying Commonwealth Chiefs

London (AP)—Prime Minister Wilson sought Wednesday night to rally statesmen of the British Commonwealth behind an appeal for general cease-fire in Viet Nam, government informants reported.

But on the eve of a 21-nation Commonwealth summit meeting there appeared to be no great expectations that such a call will lure Communist North Viet Nam and China into peace talks.

Hardened Positions

"The positions of both sides have hardened," he said. "Unless a miracle happens it will get much worse."

Aides said Wilson is shaping up a plan of action, which he would like all his fellow leaders to endorse, along these lines:

—A call on President Johnson to order a second and longer suspension of U.S. bombing attacks on North Viet Nam. As the monsoon rain make such raids ever more difficult the British feel chances of a positive American response are good.

—A call on the Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam to quit fighting, too, preferably immediately but on terms that could be arranged around a peace table.

Early Peace Talks

—Simultaneously an appeal to all most directly concerned—the Americans, the Viet Cong, the North and South Vietnamese and the Chinese—to agree to early peace talks under United Nations, or any other auspices.

Informal exchanges on the Viet Nam crisis already have begun between Wilson and such key Commonwealth statesmen as Ayub Khan, Prime Ministers Lal Bahadur Shastri of India, Sir Robert Menzies of Australia and Lester B. Pearson of Canada.

The issue is expected to dominate the eight-day conference along with the problem of Rhodesia's future, disarmament and moves to boost Commonwealth trade and political cooperation.

Marlborough House

The Commonwealth leaders, with four presidents and 13 prime ministers among them, meet in stately Marlborough House.

Men who govern the destinies of 750 million people in five continents will plunge directly into the stormy Asian scene when they meet.

Wilson knows it is likely to be tough going to preserve the facade of Commonwealth unity this year.

Many of his colleagues have hustled into London breathing fire over their pet hatreds and, in some cases, towards each other.

Break White Grip

Almost to a man the nine African delegates intend demanding deeds, not words, from Britain to break the grip of 250,000 white Rhodesians who rule nearly four million nonwhites. In their demands they can rely on the backing of the four big Asian member-states.

Views of the nonwhite Commonwealth leaders were summed up by President Julius Nyerere of Tanzania who, half-tauntingly, told newsmen Prime Minister Ian Smith of Rhodesia should be jailed if his government unilaterally proclaims its independence.

"It is not physically impossible for the British government to put Smith in prison," he said. "And if Britain needs help in doing this commonwealth countries should be able to offer assistance. But the British are now pleading so much weakness you would think they were on the verge of collapse."

Danube In Flood In 4 Nations

Vienna, Austria (AP)—The Blue Danube, flooding after weeks of heavy rains, swirled over dikes, crushed homes and spilled over fertile farmlands in Austria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Yugoslavia Wednesday.

Nearly 100,000 soldiers and civilian volunteers struggled to reinforce dams and salvage property.

The rains ceased in parts of the flood area but a sudden heat wave in Austria brought more water from melting snowfields and glaciers in the Alps.

The crest of a new flood wave, fed by Alpine tributaries of the Danube, reached the town of Poechlarn in lower Austria province west of Vienna, bringing the level to more than 24 feet.

In this province alone, a total of 1,754 homes were destroyed or heavily damaged leaving some 1,400 people homeless. The damage was estimated at one billion schillings ($40 million).

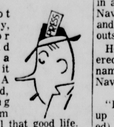
POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

Good morning, Professor. Here you are poking among the tombs again, trying to get a line on civilization in my day.



It is not too easy, friend. For we could hardly get a line on it ourselves. A lively crowd, gandering topless swim girls and all that good life.

I don't know whether you would call it civilized, Professor. But we had our moments of culture.

Way back in our day, Professor, man was just beginning to walk in space.

It posed a great problem for the cultured journalists of press, TV and radio. Because what do you ask a first man in space—"How was it?"

You can't keep a couple of hours of TV full with that kind of chatter.

However, the interviewers interviewed the families—wives and parents and children.

"How do you feel about your husband in space?" "I feel just fine."

"I expect you'd like to have him back?" "Oh, yes, I want him back."

It went on and on like that. But as I say, Professor, they had to keep the screen full.

There was also a backup crew, Professor, who got no time at all. These were astronauts who were standby substitutes. In case one of the regulars got sick.

There was also a backup crew backing up the backup crew. It was top secret then, Professor. But you'll find the notes in that Time Capsule you are nudging in my dust.

They were carefully hidden in a motel on the outskirts of Navajo Rock, New Mexico—and there was nothing more outskirty.

However, they were discovered by an alert reporter named Foxglove from the Navajo Rock Independent.

"I found the backup backup crew," (Foxglove reported) "playing gin in the Shady Rest Motel, room 5.

"They are 2nd Lieutenant P. Black and 2nd Lieutenant J. MacTavish, both young lawyers doing their army time for the adjutant general's office.

"I asked them how they came to volunteer. And Black replied: 'They only said the assignment was top secret. We thought we were being picked for blind dancing dates for Luci Baines.' "

Foxglove was elated with what we called a "scoop" in those days, Professor.

He asked them how come they were not flyers.

McTavish replied: "The general said, 'Boys, there is only a chance in a thousand that you will be called upon to be shot into orbit. Or rather one chance in three anyway.

" 'Now if that happens, boys,' said the general, 'it will only be because we have had two catastrophes ahead of you. And boys,' he said, 'it wouldn't look good for the army for you to come back.' "

Foxglove took a series of pictures. Using McTavish's convertible as a space craft. For he told his editor later: "I figured the artist could draw in the helmets and gadgets." Journalism was a do-or-die business then, Professor.

It was a great exclusive, Professor. And Foxglove hurried back to the Independent.

The editor was delighted. But he said: "What did their wives say?"

Foxglove was crestfallen. He said he had forgotten to ask the wives their recipe for apple pie and such. He also admitted he had not called the parents of the backup backup crew.

The editor said: "Foxglove, didn't you get any quotes for the love of Pete?"

Foxglove said: "Well, when I had them simulating the walk in space, McTavish said, 'Black, you dirty dog, you're messing up my windshield.' It's a new convertible," Foxglove explained, "and McTavish is touchy about it."

The editor said: "No quotes from the families. And now this! Who would ever talk like that in space? Foxglove, you're fired!"

Easy come, easy go. Eh, Professor?

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Widow Enjoys Work As Cook-Companion

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. "I'm a widow, 63, and never worked till last year when I put an ad in the paper offering to live-in and work for $50 a week as cook-companion. I had my choice of five different jobs, and took one with a lovely old lady. We eat, talk and watch television together. The housework is less than I used to do at home and I've got my own room. If this is what going to work means, 'I'm only sorry for all I've been missing."

A. More mature folks who are alone in the world should consider domestic work. It may have once been an unattractive, back-breaking kind of work, but nowadays it is generally pleasant and undemanding. It offers board-and-room, plus moderate wages, in exchange for little more work than most people are accustomed to doing in their own homes.

Q. "My husband and I are the same age, so he's made his will leaving everything to our only daughter. He says it will save legal fees to have it go straight to her and says she'll take care of me if he should precede me. Don't you agree the estate should go to me if I survive him, and thereafter to our daughter."

A. It would seem so. Explain to your husband that you don't want to face the possibility of having to go to your daughter, hat in hand, for support in the event you survive him. Talk with a lawyer, and have him advise a proper course of action.

Q. "I'm retired and have three grandsons. One is in insurance, another in the stock market and another is a bank teller. They're pulling at me three different ways to help me invest my savings. How do you get out of this situation gracefully?"

A. It won't hurt to let them explain their propositions. All three are in financial areas which should be included in a man's investment portfolio. If you have confidence in them, why not give each an equal sum to invest for you.

Q. "My husband never drank anything but an occasional glass of wine until he retired. Now he's at the bottle three or four times a day, and when I remonstrate with him he snaps that it's none of my business. What can I do?"

A. You must get him interested in going back to work, or get him involved in some local clubs or community activities to keep his mind and hands active. Many retired men take to drinking excessively simply to banish the ennui and boredom of empty hours.

Q. "I'm considered a mean old man because I've got a beautiful lawn and won't have the kids who infest this neighborhood walking and running across it. Do you blame me?"

A. A property owner has his rights. But if he spends his time policing his lawn he's not going to enjoy peace of mind or friendship with his neighbors. I think those who are fussy about lawns should build high fences or make life simpler for themselves and everyone else by moving to retirement communities far from the irritating proclivities of youngsters.

If you would like a booklet "Employment Tips for Older People" write to Robert Peterson, "Life Begins at Forty," c/o The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

93% Of School Funds Raised At Local Level

. . . STUDY REVEALS

A study conducted by a University of Nebraska graduate student concluded that 93% of all revenue for Nebraska public school systems is raised on the local level.

William E. Metzger, presently superintendent of schools at West Point, made the survey in a thesis for a doctor of education degree.

Metzger said 75% of local school district levy operating funds are being raised from property taxes. He said he arrived at his findings after a thorough research of state and local education reports, treasury documents and Nebraska school laws.

The purpose of the study, he said, was to make a historical examination of financing methods of Nebraska public schools and to inquire into the philosophy of the administration of this support.

Metzger, who has served at West Point since 1950, said the support of public schools from the state level amounts to a minor portion, about six per cent, of the total resources available to the schools. He said Nebraska stands lowest in the nation in its contribution to local school districts.

There is no direct state aid to public schools in Nebraska.

Metzger also said that through precedent, the Legislature has established the principle that it is obligated to provide aid to the public schools, and that although the appropriations have been inadequate, new programs from time to time are initiated reaffirming the Unicameral's philosophy of extending some aid."

Metzger said major local support for schools comes from the property tax, the insurance tax fund, free high school tuition, local fines and license fees.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

Good morning Prof sor Here you are poking among the tombs again trying to get a line on civilization in my day.

It is not too easy, friend. For we could hardly get a line on it ourselves. A lively crowd, gandering topless swim girls and all that good life.

I don't know whether you would call it civilized, Professor But we had our moments of culture

Way back in our day, Professor, man was just beginning to walk in space.

It posed a great problem for the cultured journalists of press, TV and radio. Because what do you ask a first man in space—"How was it?"

You can't keep a couple of hours of TV full with that kind of chatter.

However, the interviewers interviewed the families—wives and parents and children.

"How do you feel about your husband in space?" "I feel just fine."

"I expect you'd like to have him back?" "Oh, yes, I want him back."

It went on and on like that. But as I say, Professor, they had to keep the screen full.

There was also a backup crew, Professor, who got no time at all. These were astronauts who were standby substitutes. In case one of the regulars got sick.

There was also a backup crew backing up the backup crew. It was top secret then, Professor. But you'll find the notes in that Time Capsule you are nudging in my dust.

They were carefully hidden in a motel on the outskirts of Navajo Rock New Mexico—and there was nothing more outskirty

However, they were discovered by an alert reporter named Foxglove from the Navajo Rock Independent.

"I found the backup backup crew," (Foxglove reported) playing gin in the Shady Rest Motel, room 5.

"They are 2nd Lieutenant P. Black and 2nd Lieutenant J. MacTavish, both young lawyers doing their army time for the adjutant general's office.

"I asked them how they came to volunteer. And Black replied: 'They only said the assignment was top secret. We thought we were being picked for blind dancing dates for Luci Baines.' "

Foxglove was elated with what we called a "scoop" in those days, Professor.

He asked them how come they were not flyers.

McTavish replied: "The general said, 'Boys, there is only a chance in a thousand that you will be called upon to be shot into orbit. Or rather one chance in three anyway.

" 'Now if that happens, boys,' said the general, 'it will only be because we have had two catastrophes ahead of you. And boys,' he said, 'it wouldn't look good for the army for you to come back.' "

Foxglove took a series of pictures. Using McTavish's convertible as a space craft. For he told his editor later: "I figured the artist could draw in the helmets and gadgets." Journalism was a do-or-die business then, Professor.

It was a great exclusive, Professor. And Foxglove hurried back to the Independent.

The editor was delighted. But he said: "What did their wives say?"

Foxglove was crestfallen. He said he had forgotten to ask the wives their recipe for apple pie and such. He also admitted he had not called the parents of the backup backup crew.

The editor said: "Foxglove, didn't you get any quotes for the love of Pete?"

Foxglove said: "Well, when I had them simulating the walk in space, McTavish said, 'Black, you dirty dog, you're messing up my windshield.' It's a new convertible," Foxglove explained, "and McTavish is touchy about it."

The editor said "No quotes from the families And now this! Who would ever talk like that in space? Foxglove, you're fired!"

Easy come, easy go. Eh, Professor?

Congress Rushing Excise Tax Slash Bill To LBJ

Washington (AP) — Senate-House conferee late Wednesday agreed on a $4.6 billion tax cut bill wiping out most of the excises dating from wartime and the depression years of the 1930's.

Congressional leaders said they hope to rush the bill to President Johnson by Thursday night, with the House acting as soon as it convenes Thursday and the Senate following.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., Senate manager for the bill, said the President might sign it on Friday.

If that is the case, the first stage cuts, affecting a whole series of major consumer items, would go into effect Saturday.

First Stage

The Senate voted to make this first stage effective the day after the President signs the bill. The House conferees accepted this provision; the House bill had a July 1 effective date.

In the other big item in controversy, affecting the 10% auto tax, a compromise was reached which retains one percentage point of this levy.

However, the conferees junked a Senate provision sponsored by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., under which the repeal for four percentage points of this tax would have been made conditional on agreement by the manufacturers to install a series of safety devices on their cars.

The conferees eliminated the earmarking feature, which was sponsored by Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill. They decided, instead, to allow the $190 million of revenue produced by the one per cent tax to stay in the treasury general revenue.

Highway Fund

However, House managers said they would suggest that Congress later might decide to put this revenue in the highway trust fund.

The auto tax would be cut in annual stages starting with a three per cent slash retroactive to May 15 and wiping out all but the one per cent by 1969.

The final version of the legislation went beyond President Johnson's recommendations. He had priposed a $3.9 billion excise reduction retaining half, or five percentage points, of the auto tax.

However, managers of their bill said there was no doubt in their minds Johnson would sign the compromise measure.

The bill is designed to give a big boost to the economy by lowering consumer prices on a wide range of items. Its supporters contend it also will remove inequitable levies which fall heaviest on low-income families.

When it becomes law, the only major excises left will be those on cigarettes, liquor, wine, beer, gasoline and other highway-related items now allocated to the highway trust fund for road-building purposes, and air passenger travel.

Justice Rejects Kansas Killers' Request For Stay

Washington (AP) — Supreme Court Justice Byron White rejected Wednesday a request to stay the execution of two men sentenced to die in the Kansas penitentiary next Tuesday.

White acted only a few hours after the request had been filed by the American Civil Liberties Union, which contended that illegally obtained evidence was used in the murder trial of the two.

James Douglas Latham and George Ronald York are now scheduled for execution next Tuesday in the penitentiary at Lansing, Kan. Four earlier appeals and petitions on their behalf have been rejected by the Supreme Court.

The two men were sentenced to die for the slaying in 1961 of Otto Zeigler, a railroad worker, near Wallace, Kan.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Widow Enjoys Work As Cook-Companion

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. "I'm a widow, 63, and never worked till last year when I put an ad in the paper offering to live-in and work for $50 a week as cook-companion. I had my choice of five different jobs, and took one with a lovely old lady. We eat, talk and watch television together. The housework is less than I used to do at home and I've got my own room. If this is what going to work means, 'I'm only sorry for all I've been missing."

A. More mature folks who are alone in the world should consider domestic work. It may have once been an unattractive back-breaking kind of work, but nowadays it is generally pleasant and undemanding. It offers board-and-room, plus moderate wages, in exchange for little more work than most people are accustomed to doing in their own homes.

Q. "My husband and I are the same age, so he's made his will leaving everything to our only daughter. He says it will save legal fees to have it go straight to her and says she'll take care of me if he should precede me. Don't you agree the estate should go to me if I survive him, and thereafter to our daughter."

A. It would seem so. Explain to your husband that you don't want to face the possibility of having to go to your daughter, hat in hand, for support in the event you survive him. Talk with a lawyer, and have him advise a proper course of action.

Q. "I'm retired and have three grandsons. One is in insurance, another in the stock market and another is a bank teller. They're pulling at me three different ways to help me invest my savings. How do you get out of this situation gracefully?"

A. It won't hurt to let them explain their propositions. All three are in financial areas which should be included in a man's investment portfolio. If you have confidence in them, why not give each an equal sum to invest for you.

Q. "My husband never drank anything but an occasional glass of wine until he retired. Now he's at the bottle three or four times a day, and when I remonstrate with him he snaps that it's none of my business. What can I do?"

A. You must get him interested in going back to work or get him involved in some local clubs or community activities to keep his mind and hands active. Many retired men take to drinking excessively simply to banish the ennui and boredom of empty hours.

Q. "I'm considered a mean old man because I've got a beautiful lawn and won't have the kids who infest this neighborhood walking and running across it. Do you blame me?"

A. A property owner has his rights. But if he spends his time policing his lawn he's not going to enjoy peace of mind or friendship with his neighbors. I think those who are fussy about lawns should build high fences or make life simpler for themselves and everyone else by moving to retirement communities far from the irritating proclivities of youngsters.

. . . STUDY REVEALS

A study conducted by a University of Nebraska graduate student concluded that 93% of all revenue for Nebraska public school systems is raised on the local level.

Metzger said 75% of local school district levy operating funds are being raised from property taxes. He said he arrived at his findings after a thorough research of state and local education reports, treasury documents and Nebraska school laws.

The purpose of the study, he said, was to make a historical examination of financing methods of Nebraska public schools and to inquire into the philosophy of the administration of this support.

ILLEGAL FIREWORKS BUSINESS BOOMING AGAIN IN NEBRASKA

State Fire Marshal Joe Divis said Wednesday illegal fireworks traffic is a business that could approach a million dollars a year in Nebraska.

Divis said the profits for bootlegging fireworks into the state are so great that penalties levied on offenders are ineffective.

"It's a big business," he said. "For instance, one fellow caught two years in a row said it was only good advertising to be caught.

"He said he made over $3,000 in the two years."

Hauled Three Loads

Divis added: "Another fellow hauled three car loads in. Each was worth $1,800 and he more than doubled his money. It's possible to get 15 cents for a firecracker bought for a nickle."

Divis said most of the illegal fireworks brought into Nebraska come from Missouri and South Dakota, despite a border patrol by his deputies to stop the bootlegging activities.

"A lot of young people bring in small amounts of fireworks," he said, "but the older people are the guys making the big money."

Exception

He said state law provides a minimum $500 penalty for bringing illegal fireworks across the state line for resale. But fines this size are the exception rather than the rule, he said.

"More often than not, the fines are anything from $10 to $25," he said.

The penalty for possessing illegal fireworks in Nebraska, he said, is $25 to $100. Here, too, some persons are "not even fined the $25," according to Divis.

"The profits far exceed the usual penalty, that's why we can't stop it," Divis noted. "Then, too, we don't have enough men and sometimes we don't get the cooperation we need from local law enforcement officials."

Divis said anything that explodes is considered illegal in Nebraska.

Bootleggers, he said, range from youngsters to truckers to parents themselves.

"Of course, some people just bring them in for themselves, but a lot of resale bootlegging goes on," Divis noted.

"The only way we can ever stop this is to have the federal government step in and make the factories stop making these large fireworks."

Divis said few illegal fireworks enter the state through the mail because of stringent federal enforcement and controls.

Divis said complaints concerning illegal sales started arriving in his office late in April this year. "Judging by the complaints so far, this could be our worst year yet," he said.

Gerdes Tells His Views On Sales, Income Tax

Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance said Wednesday he would ask a flat, two per cent rate on the proposed state income tax if his measure for a state sales tax is enacted by the Legislature.

Gerdes outlined his views on his sales tax proposal and threw his support behind passage of both a sales and an income tax.

He predicted that an income tax with a two per cent rate and a two per cent sales tax would raise about $70 million a year for the state.

He said this would finance the estimated $50 million needed for state operations, and leave a $20 million a year windfall to be returned to local school districts.

If the income tax passes and "the sales tax bill looks like it's going to go," Gerdes said he would propose an amendment to the sales tax bill to return left-over revenue to Nebraska schools.

He said chances for approval of the sales tax proposal, LB563, are "very good."

The income tax bill, LB797, is awaiting final reading.

Gerdes said the sales tax could be levied on about $1.8 billion worth of goods that change hands in Nebraska each year in retail trade.

Gerdes said the $1.8 billion figure was based on U.S. Commerce Department reports for 1963.

The proposal also includes a tax on rooms and meals. Gerdes said he had no figures on how much would be raised on taxing rooms, but estimated the meal tax would bring in about $2 million a year.

Gerdes said he expected to hear "a great deal" on the floor about a sales tax hampering industrial development, but said such claims are "absolutely without foundation."

He said such an exemption would cut the sales tax base by about 22%.

He said the bill provides about $309 million in exemptions on items such as gasoline, cigarettes and liquor that are already taxed by the state. Other exemptions with a "negligible" impact would be feed, seed and fertilizer, he added.

Gerdes predicted LB563 would be given preliminary consideration on the floor Thursday or Friday.

He said neighboring states with either a sales tax or both a sales and income tax "seem to be doing better than Nebraska."

Gerdes added: "Many young people are leaving Nebraska to do to other states that have every kind of tax imaginable."

He said it was possible that amendments to LB563 would be offered by other lawmakers to exempt food. He declined comment on whether he would fight such riders. "When you work on the floor you do whatever is necessary."

Broad Powers To Check Tax Returns Passed

A bill giving the state tax commissioner broad powers to investigate the correctness of tax returns was one of 12 measures passed by the Legislature Wednesday.

The bill, LB898, was passed on a 46-1 vote, with only Omaha Sen. Sam Klaver voting against the measure.

It gives the tax commissioner authority to examine property, books, papers and records to determine the correctness of tax returns and to require taxpayers to testify at tax hearings.

Currently pending before the State Supreme Court is a case involving Taylor farmer Everett Satterfield who refused to testify or permit examinations of his financial records at a tax hearing in January of last year.

A state law provides that a taxpayer failing to cooperate in a tax investigation may be found guilty of a misdemeanor, but Satterfield claims the law is unconstitutional.

The Legislature also passed on a 37-12 vote, a bill increasing the tax levy ceiling for second class cities and villages from 25 mills to 30 mills. Second class cities and villages are those of less than 5,000 population.

Other bills passed included a measure providing for the sale of wholesome foods in Nebraska and one prohibiting misleading advertising by insurance companies.

The list (E-emergency clause):

LB898—Authorizing tax commissioner to examine property, books, papers and records bearing upon the correctness of tax returns. (Revenue Committee) (E) (46-1).

LB585—Enacting an "unauthorized insurers false advertising process act" to prevent misleading advertising by insurance companies. (Warner, Bowen) (47-0).

LB261—Increasing from 25 mills to 30 mills the tax levy ceiling for second class cities and villages. (Kiar, Hasebroock, Holmquist) (37-12).

LB534—Providing for credit on taxes paid for liquor shipped out of state or returned to manufacturer. (Burbach, Stromer) (E) (46-3).

LB887 — Giving powers of eminent domain to water conservation districts to obtain land for recreation purposes when approved by Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Commission. (Salaries and Claims Committee) (E) (41-3).

LB706—Enacting a "Nebraska food act" to provide for the sale or distribution of wholesale foods, including a ban against false advertising. (Warner, R. Rasmussen) (47-0).

LB863—Increasing the registration fees for hotels, rooming houses, boarding houses, apartment houses, motels and tourist camps. (By Kremer, for the governor) (41-8).

LB874—Providing procedures for creating industrial areas when real estate involved is located in more than one county (Revenue Committee) (42-7).

LB864—Placing certain Aeronautics Department revenue in a department cash fund. (Budget Committee) (E) (48-0).

Bill Banning Unfair Cigarette Sale Practices Advanced

The Legislature Wednesday gave solid 36-6 first round floor approval to a bill prohibiting unfair competition and unfair trade practices in the sale of cigarettes.

The bill, LB849, would outlaw the selling of cigarettes at less than cost, and permit the bringing of injunctive action or suits for damages against violators.

The bill was introduced by the Salaries and Claims Committee after the Legislature approved a two-cent per package increase in the state cigarette tax.

LB849 requires that cigarettes sold at wholesale be marked up four per cent and cigarettes sold at retail be marked up eight per cent, unless the dealer can prove his costs are less.

Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton told lawmakers the price restrictions would not require an increase in the cost of cigarettes to the consumer.

ILLEGAL FIREWORKS BUSINESS BOOMING AGAIN IN NEBRASKA

State Fire Marshal Joe Divis said Wednesday illegal fireworks traffic is a business that could approach a million dollars a year in Nebraska.

Divis said the profits for bootlegging fireworks into the state are so great that penalties levied on offenders are ineffective.

"It's a big business," he said. "For instance, one fellow caught two years in a row said it was only good advertising to be caught.

"He said he made over $3,000 in the two years."

Hauled Three Loads

Divis added: "Another fellow hauled three car loads in. Each was worth $1,800 and he more than doubled his money. It's possible to get 15 cents for a firecracker bought for a nickle."

Divis said most of the illegal fireworks brought into Nebraska come from Missouri and South Dakota, despite a border patrol by his deputies to stop the bootlegging activities.

"A lot of young people bring in small amounts of fireworks," he said, "but the older people are the guys making the big money."

Exception

He said state law provides a minimum $500 penalty for bringing illegal fireworks across the state line for resale. But fines this size are the exception rather than the rule, he said.

"More often than not, the fines are anything from $10 to $25," he said.

The penalty for possessing illegal fireworks in Nebraska, he said, is $25 to $100. Here, too, some persons are "not even fined the $25," according to Divis.

"The profits far exceed the usual penalty, that's why we can't stop it," Divis noted. "Then, too, we don't have enough men and sometimes we don't get the cooperation we need from local law enforcement officials."

Divis said anything that explodes is considered illegal in Nebraska.

Bootleggers, he said, range from youngsters to truckers to parents themselves.

"Of course, some people just bring them in for themselves, but a lot of resale bootlegging goes on," Divis noted.

"The only way we can ever stop this is to have the federal the factories stop making government step in and make these large fireworks."

Divis said few illegal fireworks enter the state through the mail because of stringent federal enforcement and controls.

Divis said complaints concerning illegal sales started arriving in his office late in April this year. "Judging by the complaints so far, this could be our worst year yet," he said.

Social Security Base May Change

Washington (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee Wednesday voted an important financing change in the Social Security-health care bill which would boost taxes somewhat for higher income families.

But, under the amendment, families with incomes below the level of about $5,600 a year would pay less.

The amendment would increase the wage base on which Social Security taxes are paid to $6,600 next year instead of the present $4,800.

Under the House-passed bill, the base would go to $5,600 next year and then be increased to $6,600 in 1971.

Under the Senate committee version, the new tax rates would be reduced somewhat below the level of the House bill so as to bring in about the same amount of revenue next year as the House financing plan would provide.

The amendment was offered by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., with the support of the administration.

Its supporters said a key argument for it was that it would shift some of the burden of the Social Security taxation from the lowest income families.

Another, they said, is that it will mean that $280 million of Social Security taxes collected in 1966 will be moved to the last half of the year, so that the drag on the nation's economy will be less in the first six months.

Pay After Vote

Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, senior Republican on the committee, commented, "This means the people will pay less taxes in the first half of the next year, but get the benefits of this bill, and then pay more after the election is held next fall."

One effect of the earlier date for the $6,600 wage base will be to boost Social Security retirement payments to a higher level at an earlier time than under the House bill.

The present maximum retirement monthly check for an individual is $127. Under the $6,600 base it could go to $167.90. This would occur five years earlier under the Senate amendment adopted Wednesday than would be the case with the House bill.

Administration experts sitting in on the finance committee's sessions said that the new tax rates adopted as a part of the Anderson amendment were tentative because all of the group's changes are not known.

Beatrix May Wed Diplomat Who Served In Nazi Army

The Hague (UPI)—Princess Beatrix of the Netherlands may announce her engagement soon to a junior German diplomat who once served in the Nazi army. A Dutch newspaper warned Wednesday it could cost her the rights to the throne of this country twice invaded by Germany.

The princess, and heiress apparent to the throne, 27, has been linked with Claus von Amsberg, 38, a minor scion of West German nobility and a distant relative of her father, Prince Bernhardt. The match threatens to cause a royal crisis.

Von Amsberg was captured by American troops in Italy while serving with the elite "Todeskopf" (Death's Head) tank regiment. As a student, he had attended the aristocratic "Nestroy" boarding school for boys where Hitler youth membership was obligatory.

Paper Asks Why

The newspaper Het Virje Volk, organ of the Labor Party, recently said Dutchmen were asking each other, "Why must the princess become engaged to a German who fought in the German army to make the Reich of Hitler win?"

It returned to the issue again Wednesday with a comment that underlined the possible seriousness of the whole affair. The paper said it is now imaginable that Beatrix might face the choice between the throne and marrying the man she loves.

In that case, it said, Beatrix, "when objections would arise as have now arisen, would give up her right to the throne."

Von Amsberg, a suave, polished junior diplomat on the Africa desk of the Bonn foreign office, is the "mystery suitor" who visited the princess at her castle early last month. Von Amsberg had one arm around the blonde princess and she was smiling happily.

Special Boy

This was the first sign to the world that the popular princess, heir to Queen Juliana's throne, had a "special" boy friend. But the Dutch nation's delight turned to dismay when Von Amsberg's German nationality was disclosed.

In the furor that followed, Beatrix and Von Amsberg are believed to have met secretly in Vienna early this month. Sources at the royal court said she has left her family with no doubt Von Amsberg is the man she wants to marry.

Despite denials, expectation heightened again Wednesday when word leaked that Beatrix Tuesday night called in the government's information chief and three prominent news media representatives for a "personal discussion."

Only one year ago her younger sister's romance with the son of the Carlist pretender to the Spanish throne threw the country into religious, political and constitutional turmoil.

Princess Irene rode out the storm to wed Juan Carlos de Bourbon Parma, and became a Catholic. But the price was temporary estrangement from her family—and giving up her rights to the Dutch throne.

Senate OKs Cigarette Warning

Washington (AP)—The Senate, divided over the possible relationship of smoking to cancer, passed Wednesday legislation requiring health warning labels on cigarette packages.

The bill, which now goes to the House, would require this statement on each package and carton: "Caution: Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

The tobacco industry won a three-year moratorium against any requirement, such as the Federal Trade Commission had proposed, that its advertising carry a statement relating to smoking and health.

The Senate defeated 49 to 29, an amendment by Sen. Maurine B. Neuberger, D-Ore., to cut the moratorium to one year.

On a single nonrecord vote, the Senate rejected amendments also sponsored by Mrs. Neuberger which would have required that:

—The warning on cigarette packs state that "Cigarette smoking is dangerous to health."

Pending in the House is a bill which requires package labeling but permanently bars any federal or state interference in advertising. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., told his colleagues the House bill "is what the cigarette industry really wants."

FISHERMAN IS FORMAL TO A FAULT

Washington (AP) — You'd expect a bunch of fishermen— witnesses in a labor dispute to be simply dressed, even on the rough side.

But here was this one character, in a National Labor Relations Board hearing in Louisiana, who showed up in style.

"Extraordinary!" chronicled the NLRB examiner. "He was dressed in a tuxedo coat and trousers with a pearl pin in the coat lapel. He wore a red tie. His feet were enclosed in brown cowboy boots!"

The examiner, George L. Powell, reported to the board in his official findings:

"I can only surmise that he was told he was to appear in a formal hearing."

New Delhi, India (AP)—An expedition of policemen topped the previously unconquered 21,430-foot Ganesh Parbhat Peak in the central Himalayas, according to reports received here. Social Security Base May Change

Washington (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee Wednesday voted an important financing change in the Social Security-health care bill which would boost taxes somewhat for higher income families.

But, under the amendment, families with incomes below the level of about $5,600 a year would pay less.

The amendment would increase the wage base on which Social Security taxes are paid to $6,600 next year instead of the present $4,800.

Under the House-passed bill, the base would go to $5,600 next year and then be increased to $6,600 in 1971.

Under the Senate committee version, the new tax rates would be reduced somewhat below the level of the House bill so as to bring in about the same amount of revenue next year as the House financing plan would provide.

The amendment was offered by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., with the support of the administration.

Its supporters said a key argument for it was that it would shift some of the burden of the Social Security taxation from the lowest income families.

Another, they said, is that it will mean that $280 million of Social Security taxes collected in 1966 will be moved to the last half of the year, so that the drag on the nation's economy will be less in the first six months.

Pay After Vote

Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, senior Republican on the committee, commented, "This means the people will pay less taxes in the first half of the next year, but get the benefits of this bill, and then pay more after the election is held next fall."

One effect of the earlier date for the $6,600 wage base will be to boost Social Security retirement payments to a higher level at an earlier time than under the House bill.

The present maximum retirement monthly check for an individual is $127. Under the $6,600 base it could go to $167.90. This would occur five years earlier under the Senate amendment adopted Wednesday than would be the case with the House bill.

Administration experts sitting in on the finance committee's sessions said that the new tax rates adopted as a part of the Anderson amendment were tentative because all of the group's changes are not known.

Beatrix May Wed Diplomat Who Served In Nazi Army

The Hague (UPI)—Princess Beatrix of the Netherlands may announce her engagement soon to a junior German diplomat who once served in the Nazi army. A Dutch newspaper warned Wednesday it could cost her the rights to the throne of this country twice invaded by Germany.

The princess, and heiress apparent to the throne, 27, has been linked with Claus von Amsberg, 38, a minor scion of West German nobility and a distant relative of her father, Prince Bernhardt. The match threatens to cause a royal crisis.

Von Amsberg was captured by American troops in Italy while serving with the elite "Todeskopf" (Death's Head) tank regiment. As a student, he had attended the aristocratic "Nestroy" boarding school for boys where Hitler youth membership was obligatory.

Paper Asks Why

The newspaper Het Virje Volk, organ of the Labor Party, recently said Dutchmen were asking each other, "Why must the princess become engaged to a German who fought in the German army to make the Reich of Hitler win?"

It returned to the issue again Wednesday with a comment that underlined the possible seriousness of the whole affair. The paper said it is now imaginable that Beatrix might face the choice between the throne and marrying the man she loves.

In that case, it said, Beatrix, "when objections would arise as have now arisen, would give up her right to the throne."

Von Amsberg, a suave, polished junior diplomat on the Africa desk of the Bonn foreign office, is the "mystery suitor" who visited the princess at her castle early last month. Von Amsberg had one arm around the blonde princess and she was smiling happily.

Special Boy

This was the first sign to the world that the popular princess, heir to Queen Juliana's throne, had a "special" boy friend. But the Dutch nation's delight turned to dismay when Von Amsberg's German nationality was disclosed.

In the furor that followed, Beatrix and Von Amsberg are believed to have met secretly in Vienna early this month. Sources at the royal court said she has left her family with no doubt Von Amsberg is the man she wants to marry.

Despite denials, expectation heightened again Wednesday when word leaked that Beatrix Tuesday night called in the government's information chief and three prominent news media representatives for a "personal discussion."

Only one year ago her younger sister's romance with the son of the Carlist pretender to the Spanish throne threw the country into religious, political and constitutional turmoil.

Princess Irene rode out the storm to wed Juan Carlos de Bourbon Parma, and became a Catholic. But the price was temporary estrangement from her family—and giving up her rights to the Dutch throne.

Kasavubu Again

Leopoldville, The Congo (AP)—Congolese President Joseph Kasavubu will run for a second term, the government news agency announced. Presidential elections are tentatively scheduled for December.

COED is August bride-elect

LATE

plans summer weddings

Of particular interest this morning is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Schmadeke of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Patricia Dee, to Joel F. Meier of Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Meier of Minden.

A late summer wedding is planned.

Miss Schmadeke is attending the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Delta Gamma sorority. She recently received her degree in Dental Hygiene from the University of Missouri from where she will receive her Bachelor of Science degree this summer after completing her courses at the University of Nebraska.

Mr. Meier is a graduate student at the University of Nebraska. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta and holds the position of Director of Intramurals. Mr. Meier served as an instructor in the Peace Corps from 1963 to '64, and was based in Puerto Rico.

Announcement is being made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Earle Harding of Ralston, of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Bette, to Richard Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Wright of Mission, Tex.

The wedding will be an event of Aug. 29, and the ceremony will take place in Omaha.

The bride-elect is a graduate student at the University of Nebraska, from which she received her degree last Saturday. A member of Delta Delta Delta, of which she is past president, she also is a member and past president of Pi Sigma Alpha, and is current co-chairman of the Nebraska Young Republicans. Her fiance, a senior at the University of Nebraska, is a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

NEWS of the suburban areas

If you are not as yet aware that vacation time is here, we can assure you that this morning's news certainly will convince you.

Everyone is on the go in the Park Manor area with vacation trips the primary cause of all the recent activity.

PARK MANOR

And vacations it has been and will be for Mr. and Mrs. Ross Coz. Mr. and Mrs. Coz spent last weekend at Lake Okoboji, Iowa, enjoying the water and the sun. In fact, the two just returned Tuesday from the outdoor adventure and already are planning for their Saturday vacation trip to Leech Lake located near Walther, Minn. The two-week vacation will mean more sunning and water sports for the twosome or will it be a foursome? We have word that the vacationers son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Coz of Omaha, will join them at Leech Lake for an indefinite time.

Also leaving on Saturday for a week's vacation in Manitowoc, Wis., will be Mr. and Mrs. Max Schuster. Mr. and Mrs. Schuster will be visiting with Mrs. Schuster's mother, Mrs. J. J. Kuplic, during the early part of the week. But, another stop is planned for the latter portion of the vacation period, and that stop will be made at the home of Mrs. Schuster's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Kuplic of Sheboygan Falls, Wis. After the two visits the couple will head for home.

There also is more news of a social nature to report from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Schuster. On Tuesday evening, they were host and hostess at a patio party at which the host and hostess honored out-of-town visitors. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rasmussen of Tucson, Ariz., who are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Berck, and we might add that Mr. and Mrs. Berck also attended the backyard party on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Penterman also announce a house guest this morning. She is Mr. Penterman's mother, Mrs. Marie Penterman, who arrived last Friday from her home in Washington D.C. Mrs. Penterman timed her visit just right—so that she could attend the graduation ceremonies for her granddaughter, Miss Patricia Penterman.

Other recent Lincoln guests were Mrs. Byron Blackmore and her four children who arrived in Lincoln last Friday. The fivesome spent five days visiting with old friends and neighbors, but were the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Maser. The Blackmore family, if you haven't guessed by now, formerly resided in Lincoln.

THE TALK around the town

It's another fun morning and all because we have new names on the guest list—and a thing or two to add to the Swingfest activities.

But—to the guests—Mr. and Mrs. William Schumberg and their children, Dee-Ann, Denise, Ward and Kirstin, have arrived from Portland, Ore., for a visit with Mr. Schaumberg's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Schaumberg.

During their stay in Lincoln Mr. and Mrs. Schaumberg and their family will make several trips to Crete to spend some time with Mrs. Schaumberg's family. And by the way, Mrs. Schaumberg is the former Pat Ward—Tri Delta at Nebraska.

In town, also, are Dr. and Mrs. Ted Boyle and their two sons, Michael and Stephen, of Carbondale, Ill., who are spending a month as the guests of Mrs. Boyle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Thompson, and Dr. Boyle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Boyle.

As a matter of fact only three-fourths of the visiting family will spend a month here. Dr. Boyle, who is a member of the faculty at the University of Southern Illinois, will leave this weekend to begin a fresh quarter of teaching at Southern Illinois.

Mrs. Boyle, incidentally, is completing her work at the University of Nebraska summer session for a Master's degree in speech—So, she and the younger generation of Boyles will remain in Lincoln until after examinations are over.

We have the feeilng that those Swingfest widows are to be very merry ones, judging from the activities planned for them. This evening there will be a no hostess dinner for Swingfest wives at the Inter Com Club. On Friday they will attend a luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club, and we hear that special entertainment has been planned. Friday night is a free night—and then comes Saturday night when the ladies join their husbands for dining and dancing at the LCC.

PTA Has Guest

Mrs. W. E. Nichol, Jr., of Scottsbluff, state president, is conducting the three-day meeting, which will continue through Thursday. Also attending are presidents of the 23 PTA city councils in the state and directors of the state organization's 15 districts.

Monthly Program

A meeting of the Lincoln Tropical Fish Club will be held at 8 o'clock, Friday evening, at Hill Hatchery, 6000 No. 56th.

The program will feature a movie, and the public is invited to attend.

Marriage

Miss Kathleen Boettner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Boettner of Fremont, became the bride of James Keith Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Murphy of Cedar Bluffs, at a candlelight service Saturday evening, June 12. The Rev. Verness B. Ketter read the lines of the 7:30 o'clock ceremony at St. Mary's Church in Cedar Bluffs, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Robert J. Hayes, organist and sister of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Mark L. Clutter of Lincoln, attended her sister as matron of honor.

Serving his brother as best man was Patrick Murphy of Cedar Bluffs, and the ushers were Jon Boettner, Fremont, the bride's brother; J. B. Murphy, also a brother of the bridegroom, and Robert J. Hayes, Omaha; J. D. Clark, Davenport, Iowa; and Mark Clutter, Lincoln.

The bride's gown was fashioned of traditional white satin. Seed pearl embroidery touched the Empire bodice, and the slim skirt was completed by a panel train extending to chapel length.

The couple will reside in Fremont. A recent graduate of the University of Nebraska, the bride is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

BRIDES

Arrangements of white gladioli appointed the candlelighted chancel of the United Church of Christ at Avoca Wednesday evening, June 16, for the marriage of Miss Karen Emshoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Emshoff of Avoca, to Keith Barker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Barker of Minden Mines, Mo. The service was solemnized by the Rev. I. G. Campbell.

Frocked in yellow shantung and carrying nosegays of yellow carnations were Miss Linda Morrissy of Lincoln, the maid of honor; Miss Arlene Ropers and Miss Bonnie Bauers, Lincoln, the bridesmaids; and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Denise Mather.

Kip Barker of Minden Mines, Mo., served as best man, and the ushers were Stan Emshoff, Avoca; Harold Chadwick, Gerald Saunders and Larry Jackson, Lincoln.

The bride's gown was fashioned of white peau de soie. The long-sleeved bodice was patterened with appliques of Alencon lace, and the applique motif was repeated on the dome skirt, which was draped into back fullness and continued into a chapel train. Her bouffant veil of illusion was held to the head by a lace and silk rose dotted with pearls, and she carried a bouquet of pale yellow roses.

Mr. Barker, a former student at Southwestern Junior College, Keene, Tex., and his bride will live in Lincoln, at 3810 Sumner.

Bouquets of pink snapdragons appointed the altar of St. Joseph's Church at Beatrice on Saturday morning, June 5, for the marriage of Miss Charlotte Jean VonDerHaar of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert VonDerHaar of Beatrice, to John Thomas Leesley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe T. Leesley of Waverly. The service was solemnized at 11 o'clock by Msgr. F. G. Mock, and Don McNemar, organist, played the wedding music. The vocal soloist was Paul Geiger.

Empire frocks in petal pink fashioned with chiffon bodices and slim skirts of crepe were worn by the attendants who were Miss Linda VonDerHaar of Beatrice, as the maid of honor; and the bridesmaids, Miss Judy Leesley, Waverly; and Miss Karen Hume, Lincoln.

Larry McNeese of Waverly, served as best man, and the ushers were Tom Wright of Greenwood; and Robert Leesley, Jr., of Ashland.

The bride's gown of white Alencon lace and organza over taffeta was designed in the period mode. A shoulder-wide, scalloped neckline accented the long-sleeved bodice of lace, and the slim lines of the organza skirt were emphasized by a very full Watteau train extending to chapel length. An single large rose of lace and organza held to the head her circular veil of illusion.

Following a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Leesley will make their home in Lincoln.

Mary Ohmann, Bride Of Harry MacLean

The wedding, attended by only members of the immediate families, took place on Tuesday, June 15, at St. Martin's Chapel, Episcopal, in Denver.

Miss Priscilla Burgess of Pasadena, Calif., was the maid of honor and only attendant. Arthur Voss of Denver served Mr. MacLean as best man.

The bride is a graduate of Denver University and is a member of Delta Gamma sorority.

Mr. MacLean is a graduate of Shattuck School, Faribault, Minn., and of Lawrence University. He now is attending the Denver University School of Law.

Following a brief honeymoon trip Mr. MacLean and his bride will reside in Denver.

ABBY
make up—and use subtle makeup

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and Don is 26. We've been dating (steadily) for nearly two years and I'm sure it's love. There is only one thing we have ever fought about, and that is my make-up. Don doesn't want me to wear any make-up at all! Abby, I am no natural beauty, and I NEED make-up. I feel positively naked without it. I don't wear a lot compared to most girls. I use a foundation base, just a hint of rouge and a tiny bit of blue eye shadow. Being a dishwater blonde, my eyebrows and eyelashes are practically invisible, so I need a touch of eyebrow pencil and mascara. I use an eye liner, but that is considered fashionable these days. The lipstick I use is so pale it can hardly be noticed.

Everyone else thinks I look great. Last Saturday night Don told me I looked like a "———". (If I used the word, this would never get in the paper.) We had a terrible fight over it and I asked him to take me home. We haven't spoken since. Abby, I do love Don. He would make a wonderful husband if it weren't for this thing he has against my using cosmetics. What do you suggest I do?

DEPRESSED

DEAR DEPRESSED: Kiss and make up. But in the future, "make up" more subtly.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my father. He isn't mean to us kids or anything, but as soon as school is out for summer vacation, he takes all us boys down to the barbershop and has our heads shaved. I am 13 years old now and I would like to have some hair over the summer. How old do you think a boy should be for his father to stop doing this?

SHAVED

DEAR SHAVED: As soon as a boy is old enough to complain out of vanity, his father should discontinue the practice.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the man who complained about his wife being too fat. He said this was the reason for many marriage break-ups. I want to set him straight. He's lucky he's never had to live with a woman who constantly lives and talks diets. And in order to keep herself thin she starves, and so does her poor husband. Women like her are always crabby and irritable. THEY cause more marriage break-ups than fat women. I know because I almost lost a good husband trying to diet myself into a size 12. I woke up just in time to save my marriage. Ten years ago I weighed 115. Now I'm ——

"158" and HAPPY

What They're Reading

When someone suggests reading to us it is a likely prediction that we would choose prose rather than poetry, but poetry should not be neglected.

Through the centuries the poets saw things in perfect clarity. No man can have any just conception of the greatness, the fullness and the possibilities of life who has not read some of the great poetry.

We sang and chanted long before we reasoned and persuaded, and poetry expresses ideas and emotions that run true to the common experience of humanity. It was said of Keats that his spirit "went flaming through the cluttered world for a few brief years, leaving a cleared path for men's souls to walk in."

A book of poetry is not a collection of flowery and vague words put together in an undisturbing way. The value of a poem lies in the intensity with which the writer has encountered an experience and the accuracy with which its consequences have been recognized and expressed.

In a poll, designed to find the most popular poets in the United States, the leading three were: Longfellow, "A Psalm of Life"; Foss, "The House by the Side of the Road"; and Bryant, Thanatopsis."

Back, now to the world of prose we have some current statistics on the most popular novels and the authors who wrote the "much in demand" books.

LATE

plans summer weddings

Of particular interest this morning is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Schmadeke of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Patricia Dee, to Joel F. Meier of Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Meier of Minden.

A late summer wedding is planned.

Miss Schmadeke is attending the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Delta Gamma sorority. She recently received her degree in Dental Hygiene from the University of Missouri from where she will receive her Bachelor of Science degree this summer after completing her courses at the University of Nebraska.

Mr. Meier is a graduate student at the University of Nebraska. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta and holds the position of Director of Intramurals. Mr. Meier served as an instructor in the Peace Corps from 1963 to '64, and was based in Puerto Rico.

COED

Announcement is being made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Earle Harding of Ralston, of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Bette, to Richard Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Wright of Mission, Tex.

The wedding will be an event of Aug. 29, and the ceremony will take place in Omaha.

The bride-elect is a graduate student at the University of Nebraska, from which she received her degree last Saturday. A member of Delta Delta Delta, of which she is past president, she also is a member and past president of Pi Sigma Alpha, and is current co-chairman of the Nebraska Young Republicans. NEWS of the suburban areas

If you are not as yet aware that vacation time is here, we can assure you that this morning's news certainly will convince you

Everyone is on the go in the Park Manor area with vacation trips the primary cause of all the recent activity

PARK MANOR

And vacations it has been and will be for Mr. and Mrs. Ross Coz Mr and Mrs. Coz spent last weekend at Lake Okoboji, Iowa, enjoying the water and the sun In fact, the two just returned Tuesday from the outdoor adventure and already are planning for their Saturday vacation trip to Leech Lake located near Walther, Minn. The two-week vacation will mean more sunning and water sports for the twosome or will it be a foursome? We have word that the vacationers son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Coz of Omaha, will join them at Leech Lake for an indefinite time

Also leaving on Saturday for a week's vacation in Manitowoc, Wis., will be Mr. and Mrs. Max Schuster Mr and Mrs. Schuster will be visiting with Mrs Schuster's mother, Mrs. J J Kuplic, during the early part of the week. But, another stop is planned for the latter portion of the vacation period, and that stop will be made at the home of Mrs Schuster's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Kuplic of Sheboygan Falls, Wis. After the two visits the couple will head for home.

There also is more news of a social nature to report from the home of Mr. and Mrs Schuster On Tuesday evening, they were host and hostess at a patio party at which the host and hostess honored out-of-town visitors. The guests were Mr. and Mrs Harry Rasmussen of Tucson, Ariz., who are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Berck and we might add that Mr. and Mrs Berck also attended the backyard party on Tuesday

Mr. and Mrs. David Penterman also announce a house guest this morning. She is Mr Penterman's mother, Mrs. Marie Penterman, who arrived last Friday from her home in Washington D.C. Mrs. Penterman timed her visit just right—so that she could attend the graduation ceremonies for her granddaughter, Miss Patricia Penterman

Other recent Lincoln guests were Mrs Byron Blackmore and her four children who arrived in Lincoln last Friday. The fivesome spent five days visiting with old friends and neighbors, but were the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Maser. The Blackmore family, if you haven't guessed by now, formerly resided in Lincoln.

THE TALK

around the town

It's another fun morning and all because we have new names on the guest list—and a thing or two to add to the Swingfest activities.

But—to the guests—Mr. and Mrs. William Schumberg and their children, Dee-Ann, Denise, Ward and Kirstin, have arrived from Portland, Ore., for a visit with Mr. Schaumberg's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Schaumberg.

During their stay in Lincoln Mr. and Mrs. Schaumberg and their family will make several trips to Crete to spend some time with Mrs. Schaumberg's family. And by the way, Mrs. Schaumberg is the former Pat Ward—Tri Delta at Nebraska.

In town, also, are Dr. and Mrs. Ted Boyle and their two sons, Michael and Stephen, of Carbondale, Ill., who are spending a month as the guests of Mrs. Boyle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Thompson, and Dr. Boyle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Boyle.

As a matter of fact only three-fourths of the visiting family will spend a month here. Dr. Boyle, who is a member of the faculty at the University of Southern Illinois, will leave this weekend to begin a fresh quarter of teaching at Southern Illinois.

Mrs. Boyle, incidentally, is completing her work at the University of Nebraska summer session for a Master's degree in speech—So, she and the younger generation of Boyles will remain in Lincoln until after examinations are over.

We have the feeling that those Swingfest widows are to be very merry ones, judging from the activities planned for them. This evening there will be a no hostess dinner for Swingfest wives at the Inter Com Club. On Friday they will attend a luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club, and we hear that special entertainment has been planned. Friday night is a free night—and then comes Saturday night when the ladies join their husbands for dining and dancing at the LCC.

PTA Has Guest

Mrs. W. E. Nichol, Jr., of Scottsbluff, state president, is conducting the three-day meeting, which will continue through Thursday. Also attending are presidents of the 23 PTA city councils in the state and directors of the state organization's 15 districts.

Monthly Program

A meeting of the Lincoln Tropical Fish Club will be held at 8 o'clock, Friday evening, at Hill Hatchery, 6000 No. 56th.

The program will feature a movie, and the public is invited to attend.

Marriage

Miss Kathleen Boettner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Boettner of Fremont, became the bride of James Keith Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Murphy of Cedar Bluffs, at a candlelight service Saturday evening, June 12. The Rev. Verness B. Ketter read the lines of the 7:30 o'clock ceremony at St. Mary's Church in Cedar Bluffs, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Robert J. Hayes, organist and sister of the bridegroom.

Mrs Mark L. Clutter of Lincoln, attended her sister as matron of honor.

Serving his brother as best man was Patrick Murphy of Cedar Bluffs, and the ushers were Jon Boettner, Fremont, the bride's brother; J. B. Murphy, also a brother of the bridegroom, and Robert J. Hayes, Omaha; J. D. Clark, Davenport, Iowa; and Mark Clutter, Lincoln.

The bride's gown was fashioned of traditional white satin. Seed pearl embroidery touched the Empire bodice, and the slim skirt was completed by a panel train extending to chapel length.

The couple will reside in Fremont. A recent graduate of the University of Nebraska, the bride is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

BRIDES

Arrangements of white gladioli appointed the candlelighted chancel of the United Church of Christ at Avoca Wednesday evening, June 16, for the marriage of Miss Karen Emshoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Emshoff of Avoca, to Keith Barker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Barker of Minden Mines, Mo. The service was solemnized by the Rev. I. G. Campbell.

Frocked in yellow shantung and carrying nosegays of yellow carnations were Miss Linda Morrissy of Lincoln, the maid of honor; Miss Arlene Ropers and Miss Bonnie Bauers, Lincoln, the bridesmaids; and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Denise Mather.

Kip Barker of Minden Mines, Mo., served as best man, and the ushers were Stan Emshoff, Avoca; Harold Chadwick, Gerald Saunders and Larry Jackson, Lincoln.

The bride's gown was fashioned of white peau de soie. The long-sleeved bodice was patterened with appliques of Alencon lace, and the applique motif was repeated on the dome skirt, which was draped into back fullness and continued into a chapel train. Her bouffant veil of illusion was held to the head by a lace and silk rose dotted with pearls, and she carried a bouquet of pale yellow roses.

Mr. Barker, a former student at Southwestern Junior College, Keene, Tex., and his bride will live in Lincoln, at 3810 Sumner.

Bouquets of pink snapdragons appointed the altar of St. Joseph's Church at Beatrice on Saturday morning, June 5, for the marriage of Miss Charlotte Jean VonDerHaar of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert VonDerHaar of Beatrice, to John Thomas Leesley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe T. Leesley of Waverly. The service was solemnized at 11 o'clock by Msgr. F. G. Mock, and Don McNemar, organist, played the wedding music. The vocal soloist was Paul Geiger.

Empire frocks in petal pink fashioned with chiffon bodices and slim skirts of crepe were worn by the attendants who were Miss Linda VonDerHaar of Beatrice, as the maid of honor; and the bridesmaids, Miss Judy Leesley, Waverly; and Miss Karen Hume, Lincoln.

Larry McNeese of Waverly, served as best man, and the ushers were Tom Wright of Greenwood; and Robert Leesley, Jr., of Ashland.

The bride's gown of white Alencon lace and organza over taffeta was designed in the period mode. A shoulder-wide, scalloped neckline accented the long-sleeved bodice of lace, and the slim lines of the organza skirt were emphasized by a very full Watteau train extending to chapel length. An single large rose of lace and organza held to the head her circular veil of illusion.

Following a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Leesley will make their home in Lincoln.

Mary Ohmann, Bride Of Harry MacLean

Of considerable interest to Lincoln this morning is news of the marriage of Miss Mary Ohmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Ohmann of Hendersonville, N. C., to Harry Norman MacLean, son of Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean of Lincoln.

The wedding, attended by only members of the immediate families, took place on Tuesday, June 15, at St. Martin's Chapel, Episcopal, in Denver.

Miss Priscilla Burgess of Pasadena, Calif., was the maid of honor and only attendant. Arthur Voss of Denver served Mr. MacLean as best man.

The bride is a graduate of Denver University and is a member of Delta Gamma sorority.

Mr. MacLean is a graduate of Shattuck School, Faribault, Minn., and of Lawrence University. He now is attending the Denver University School of Law.

Following a brief honeymoon trip Mr. MacLean and his bride will reside in Denver.

Altrusa Club Picnic

The final meeting of the season for the members of the Altrusa Club of Lincoln, will be held Monday evening when the group will meet for a picnic supper at the home of Miss Esther Eisenbarth at Beaver Crossing.

The members will leave from the bus station at 5:30 o'clock for the trip to Beaver Crossing. Serving as hostesses will be new and outgoing officers assisted by Miss Lucile Wright.

ABBY
make up—and use subtle makeup

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and Don is 26. We've been dating (steadily) for nearly two years and I'm sure it's love. There is only one thing we have ever fought about, and that is my make-up. Don doesn't want me to wear any make-up at all! Abby, I am no natural beauty, and I NEED make-up. I feel positively naked without it. I don't wear a lot compared to most girls. I use a foundation base, just a hint of rouge and a tiny bit of blue eye shadow. Being a dishwater blonde, my eyebrows and eyelashes are practically invisible, so I need a touch of eyebrow pencil and mascara. I use an eye liner, but that is considered fashionable these days. The lipstick I use is so pale it can hardly be noticed.

Everyone else thinks I look great. Last Saturday night Don told me I looked like a "———". (If I used the word, this would never get in the paper.) We had a terrible fight over it and I asked him to take me home. We haven't spoken since. Abby, I do love Don. He would make a wonderful husband if it weren't for this thing he has against my using cosmetics. What do you suggest I do?

DEPRESSED

DEAR DEPRESSED: Kiss and make up. But in the future, "make up" more subtly.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my father. He isn't mean to us kids or anything, but as soon as school is out for summer vacation, he takes all us boys down to the barbershop and has our heads shaved. I am 13 years old now and I would like to have some hair over the summer. How old do you think a boy should be for his father to stop doing this?

SHAVED

DEAR SHAVED: As soon as a boy is old enough to complain out of vanity, his father should discontinue the practice.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the man who complained about his wife being too fat. He said this was the reason for many marriage break-ups. I want to set him straight. He's lucky he's never had to live with a woman who constantly lives and talks diets. And in order to keep herself thin, she starves, and so does her poor husband. Women like her are always crabby and irritable. THEY cause more marriage break-ups than fat women. I know because I almost lost a good husband trying to diet myself into a size 12. I woke up just in time to save my marriage. Ten years ago I weighed 115. Now I'm ——

What They're Reading

When someone suggests reading to us it is a likely prediction that we would choose prose rather than poetry, but poetry should not be neglected.

Through the centuries the poets saw things in perfect clarity. No man can have any just conception of the greatness, the fullness and the possibilities of life who has not read some of the great poetry.

We sang and chanted long before we reasoned and persuaded, and poetry expresses ideas and emotions that run true to the common experience of humanity. It was said of Keats that his spirit "went flaming through the cluttered world for a few brief years, leaving a cleared path for men's souls to walk in."

A book of poetry is not a collection of flowery and vague words put together in an undisturbing way. The value of a poem lies in the intensity with which the writer has encountered an experience and the accuracy with which its consequences have been recognized and expressed.

In a poll, designed to find the most popular poets in the United States, the leading three were: Longfellow, "A Psalm of Life"; Foss, "The House by the Side of the Road"; and Bryant, Thanatopsis."

Back, now to the world of prose we have some current statistics on the most popular novels and the authors who wrote the "much in demand" books.

FOOD

Giant Hamburger "Steak" Pattie grandly occupies a big platter all by itself . . . decidedly impressive for an informal summer meal served either indoors or on the patio.

Giant Hamburger is oven roasted. So it comes to the table with a rich brown oven crustiness on top and a tender juiciness within. The meat, seasoned with chopped onion, parsley, mustard and flavored crumbs, is given a delicious hint of apple zest with canned apple sauce blended into the mixture. The apple sauce also obligingly helps keep the meat juicy. Then during the roasting, bastings of Apple Barbecue seep gently through the pattie boosting still further the robust flavor of meat and apples.

GIANT HAMBURGER "STEAK" PATTIE with APPLE BARBECUE SAUCE

- 2 pounds ground beef
- 2 eggs
- ½ cup chopped onion
- ¼ cup minced parsley
- 1 cup seasoned bread crumbs or crushed stuffing mix
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 tablespoon dry mustard
- 1 cup canned apple cause
- ½ pound sliced bacon

Combine and mix thoroughly all ingredients (except bacon). Turn onto heavy foil and shape into a large flat cake about 1½" thick. Secure bacon slices around meat cake with skewers; arrange remaining slices on top of cake. Place meat on foil in a shallow roasting pan; roast in hot oven, 400 degrees, about 45 to 50 minutes, or until done to taste. Baste often during roasting period with the barbecue sauce. Serve hot with extra sauce. Cut in wedges to serve. If desired, sprinkle wedges with blue cheese curls to taste. Make enough "steak" for 8-10 servings.

APPLE BARBECUE SAUCE . . . Mix 1 cup any favorite bottled barbecue sauce, 1 cup canned apple sauce, 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Use as baste for meat.

*To make blue cheese curls, place cheese in freezer or freezing compartment of refrigerator for several hours until very firm. Use a vegetable peeler, the same one you use to make carrot curls, to pare off long curved slivers of cheese.

June Wedding

In the presence of members of the family and a small group of friends, the marriage of Miss Frances J. Runty to D. Erwin Hutchinson was solemnized Wednesday afternoon, June 16, at the First Evangelical United Brethren Church. The lines of the 3 o'clock service were read by the Rev. Thomas Perkins of Fontana, Kan., Mr. Hutchinson's son-in-law, assisted by the Rev. R. A. Heim.

The wedding music was played by Miss Twila Christensen, organist, who also accompanied the bridegroom's daughters, Miss Marjorie Hutchinson, vocalist; Mrs. Thomas Perkins, Fontana, Kan., and Mrs. Don Peterson, Yakima, Wash., violinists.

The matron of honor and bride's only attendant was Mrs. Frank Runty of DeWitt, who wore a daytime frock of pink linen and carried a nosegay of white feathered carnations.

The bride chose white French crepe for her wedding gown which was designed in the after-five length. An overlay of white lace trimmed the bodice and slim skirt, and she completed her ensemble with a small hat of the lace. She carried a single white orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson will make their home at 5727 Baldwin, after July 1. The bride is former Lancaster County Home Extension agent, and Mr. Hutchinson is a state soil conservationist.

Opening lead four of diamonds.

There is a certain amount of guesswork necessary during the play, and, if you are a good guesser, you do well in the long run.

But the mark of a good card player is that he does not subject himself to a guess if he can possibly help it. He may guess as well as the next fellow if he has to, but his chief stock in trade is the ability to dodge guesses and solve problems by other, and usually more reliable, means.

Here is the kind of situation where it would be easy to go wrong. Suppose you are West, defending five hearts. Of course, you could lead the king of spades, since partner raised spades, but your best chance of ending with a profit lies in leading the singleton diamond.

You have a right to hope that partner has an ace, in which case you figure to beat the contract after you win the ace of trumps, put partner in with his ace, and ruff a diamond for a one-trick set.

Declarer wins your diamond lead with the ace, East playing the five, and leads a heart to the queen.

This is the point at which it is easy to go wrong. If you take the queen with the ace and play a spade to partner's presumed ace, you are in for a disappointment.

Of course, the odds favor your partner having the ace of spades instead of the ace of clubs, but this is not a good enough excuse for the failure to guess which ace East actually had.

Instead of consigning this guess purely to chance, it would be better to refuse the first trump lead and win the second one with the ace. This would give East a chance to signal with a high spade or a high club, depending on his hand, and in that way remove the element of doubt.

FOOD

Giant Hamburger "Steak" Pattie grandly occupies a big platter all by itself . . . decidedly impressive for an informal summer meal served either indoors or on the patio.

Giant Hamburger is oven roasted. So it comes to the table with a rich brown oven crustiness on top and a tender juiciness within. The meat, seasoned with chopped onion, parsley, mustard and flavored crumbs, is given a delicious hint of apple zest with canned apple sauce blended into the mixture. The apple sauce also obligingly helps keep the meat juicy. Then during the roasting, bastings of Apple Barbecue seep gently through the pattie boosting still further the robust flavor of meat and apples.

- 2 pounds ground beef
- 2 eggs
- ½ cup chopped onion
- ¼ cup minced parsley
- 1 cup seasoned bread crumbs or crushed stuffing mix
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 tablespoon dry mustard
- 1 cup canned apple cause
- ½ pound sliced bacon

Combine and mix thoroughly all ingredients (except bacon). Turn onto heavy foil and shape into a large flat cake about 1½" thick. Secure bacon slices around meat cake with skewers; arrange remaining slices on top of cake. Place meat on foil in a shallow roasting pan; roast in hot oven, 400 degrees, about 45 to 50 minutes, or until done to taste. Baste often during roasting period with the barbecue sauce. Serve hot with extra sauce. Cut in wedges to serve. If desired, sprinkle wedges with blue cheese curls to taste. Make enough "steak" for 8-10 servings.

APPLE BARBECUE SAUCE . . . Mix 1 cup any favorite bottled barbecue sauce, 1 cup canned apple sauce, 2 tablespoons lemon juice Use as baste for meat.

*To make blue cheese curls, place cheese in freezer or freezing compartment of refrigerator for several hours until very firm. Use a vegetable peeler, the same one you use to make carrot curls, to pare off long curved slivers of cheese.

June Wedding

In the presence of members of the family and a small group of friends, the marriage of Miss Frances J. Runty to D. Erwin Hutchinson was solemnized Wednesday afternoon, June 16, at the First Evangelical United Brethren Church. The lines of the 3 o'clock service were read by the Rev. Thomas Perkins of Fontana, Kan., Mr. Hutchinson's son-in-law, assisted by the Rev. R. A. Heim.

The wedding music was played by Miss Twila Christensen, organist, who also accompanied the bridegroom's daughters, Miss Marjorie Hutchinson, vocalist; Mrs. Thomas Perkins, Fontana, Kan., and Mrs. Don Peterson, Yakima, Wash., violinists.

The matron of honor and bride's only attendant was Mrs. Frank Runty of DeWitt, who wore a daytime frock of pink linen and carried a nosegay of white feathered carnations

The bride chose white French crepe for her wedding gown which was designed in the after-five length. An overlay of white lace trimmed the bodice and slim skirt, and she completed her ensemble with a small hat of the lace. She carried a single white orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson will make their home at 5727 Baldwin, after July 1. The bride is former Lancaster County Home Extension agent, and Mr. Hutchinson is a state soil conservationist.

Opening lead four of diamonds.

There is a certain amount of guesswork necessary during the play, and, if you are a good guesser, you do well in the long run.

But the mark of a good card player is that he does not subject himself to a guess if he can possibly help it. He may guess as well as the next fellow if he has to, but his chief stock in trade is the ability to dodge guesses and solve problems by other, and usually more reliable, means.

Here is the kind of situation where it would be easy to go wrong. Suppose you are West, defending five hearts Of course, you could lead the king of spades, since partner raised spades, but your best chance of ending with a profit lies in leading the singleton diamond.

You have a right to hope that partner has an ace, in which case you figure to beat the contract after you win the ace of trumps, put partner in with his ace, and ruff a diamond for a one-trick set.

Declarer wins your diamond lead with the ace, East playing the five, and leads a heart to the queen.

This is the point at which it is easy to go wrong. If you take the queen with the ace and play a spade to partner's presumed ace, you are in for a disappointment.

Of course, the odds favor your partner having the ace of spades instead of the ace of clubs, but this is not a good enough excuse for the failure to guess which ace East actually had

Instead of consigning this guess purely to chance, it would be better to refuse the first trump lead and win the second one with the ace This would give East a chance to signal with a high spade or a high club, depending on his hand, and in that way remove the element of doubt.

Compromise Approved In Claims Fight

The Legislature Wednesday approved a compromise in a dispute involving the claims of Douglas County for mental patient care erroneously charged against the county.

Lawmakers voted 36-0 in favor of a motion by Omaha Sen. Richard Proud cutting the claims total from $27,709 to about $14,000.

The dispute grew out of the fact that a county is charged for mental patient care if the patient was a resident of the county for one year prior to entering the hospital.

It was discovered that some patients committed as long ago as 1922 were not bona fide residents of Douglas County so the county filed with the Legislature for reimbursement for care costs in the past four years.

Sen. Proud's amendment to the pending miscellaneous claims bill, LB905, was adopted after lawmakers Tuesday had rejected Proud's effort to have all the claims excepted.

Resolution Setting 2-Year Limit On Claims Introduced

A resolution stating that the Legislature in the future will not appropriate money for claims made against the state more than two years after the time of the claim arose was introduced in the Unicameral Wednesday.

The resolution, No. 61, was introduced by Omaha Sen. Sam Klaver and Valentine Sen. Elvin Adamson. Consideration was laid over one day.

The resolution states that the present Legislature has refused to approve claims made after the time limitation but past Legislatures have approved such claims.

Dalstrom Writes First Biography Of Sen. Wherry

Omaha (AP)—The first biography of the late Kenneth S. Wherry of Nebraska was submitted as a doctoral dissertation at the University of Nebraska by a University of Omaha history professor.

The author is Dr. Harl Dalstrom, a 39-year-old bachelor who has been on the Omaha University faculty since 1963. He hopes the book will be published within a year.

"More than any one individual, Wherry laid the ground work for Republican Party supremacy in Nebraska during the last 20 years (1940-1960)," Dahlstrom said. "During the late 1930's he organized and revitalized the Nebraska Republican Party. He was one of the most lively figures in Nebraska political history. It is surprising that no has written his biography before."

Wherry died in office in 1951 after serving in the Senate since 1943. He was Republican whip from 1944 to 1948 and became minority leader in 1949.

Rosier '65 Predicted

New York (AP) — Gardner Ackley, President Johnson's chief economic adviser, made a qualified prediction Wednesday that 1965 will be a better year for the U.S. economy than 1964.

In an address to the American Marketing Association, Ackley said the present economic expansion "seems destined to continue many, many months into the future."

It was the latest in a series of statements by administration spokesmen painting an optimistic picture of the nation's economic prospects.

Ackley cited numerous statistics which he said "confirm the expectation we presented at the turn of the year that the advance in the economy between 1964 and 1965 will exceed the advance in our capacity to produce."

He added, "By this most significant test, 1965 will thus be a better year than even its predecessor."

Ackley said there is little danger the nation's economic expansion, now in its 52nd month, will overheat or run out of gas.

But he also said the nation must be wary of pitfalls during prosperous times.

TO CARRY MAN IN WINGLESS FLIGHT

Newsmen and National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials look over the M2F2 manned lifting body research vehicle as the craft is delivered to NASA at the Northrop Corp. plant in Hawthorne, Calif., Wednesday. In tests it will be dropped from beneath a B52's wing at high speeds to see how it will perform in the critical period between reentry and landing. It is hoped the craft will become a landing vehicle for astronauts.

Riot Police Break Up Third March

Jackson, Miss. (AP) — Riot-trained police broke up for the third straight day Wednesday an attempted protest march on the state capitol by civil rights demonstrators.

Moving swiftly, officers arrested 51 marchers for parading without a permit. Nearly 100 others eluded police by dashing through back yards and down side streets.

The arrests brought to more than 700 the number of demonstrtors taken into custody since Monday.

The marches, organized by the predominantly Negro Freedom Democratic Party, are intended as protests to a special legislative session called to repeal Mississippi's strict voter registration laws. Negro leaders claim the legislature is trying to circumvent the voting bill pending in Congress.

Gov. Paul Johnson, a Democrat, called the legislature to consider revisions of voting laws to bring them in line with federal requirements. Johnson said this would place Mississippi in a better position when the federal voting rights bill passes.

A shortage of participants delayed Wednesday's march for several hours. Finally it began with about half the number of persons that took part in previous demonstrations.

Compromise Approved In Claims Fight

The Legislature Wednesday approved a compromise in a dispute involving the claims of Douglas County for mental patient care erroneously charged against the county.

Lawmakers voted 36-0 in favor of a motion by Omaha Sen. Richard Proud cutting the claims total from $27,709 to about $14,000.

The dispute grew out of the fact that a county is charged for mental patient care if the patient was a resident of the county for one year prior to entering the hospital.

It was discovered that some patients committed as long ago as 1922 were not bona fide residents of Douglas County so the county filed with the Legislature for reimbursement for care costs in the past four years.

Sen. Proud's amendment to the pending miscellaneous claims bill, LB905, was adopted after lawmakers Tuesday had rejected Proud's effort to have all the claims excepted.

Resolution Setting 2-Year Limit On Claims Introduced

A resolution stating that the Legislature in the future will not appropriate money for claims made against the state more than two years after the time of the claim arose was introduced in the Unicameral Wednesday.

The resolution, No. 61, was introduced by Omaha Sen. Sam Klaver and Valentine Sen. Elvin Adamson. Consideration was laid over one day.

The resolution states that the present Legislature has refused to approve claims made after the time limitation but past Legislatures have approved such claims.

Rebel Leader Claims U.S. Act Of Genocide

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican rebel leader Wednesday accused U.S. troops of "an act of genocide unprecedented in our country" in Tuesday's fierce battle. He said 67 were killed and 265 wounded in the rebel sector.

Rebel leader Col. Francisco Caamano Deno's news conference estimate of the rebel sector casualties was much higher than previous unofficial count of 26 dead and more than 75 wounded.

Total Inter-American Force casualties were listed as three U.S. dead, 33 82nd Airborne Division paratroopers and 1 Brazilian officer wounded.

One U.S. paratrooper was shot dead Wednesday morning. The other two U.S. soldiers died of wounds suffered in Tuesday's day-long battle between the Inter-American Force and the rebels in the heart of Santo Domingo.

Wipe Out Group

Genocide is use of deliberate, systematic measures to wipe out racial, religious or cultural groups.

The prevailing view expressed by supporters of the civilian-military junta, on the other side, was that the shooting was provoked by left-wing extremists seeking to discredit the United States.

In New York, U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost told the U.N. Security Council that the new outbreak of fighting was set off by pro-Castro elements and was intended to provoke U.N. action in support of the rebel regime.

Yost accused the rebel forces of "launching an attack on the Inter-American Force in the most flagrant and serious violation of the cease fire . . ."

Effectiveness

The Soviet U.N. ambassador, Nikolai T. Federenko, proposed that the council come here. He said such meetings "would clearly contribute to the effectiveness" of the council's work.

The council left the question hanging until Friday after the U.S. delegate suggested the move was either not serious or intended to make political capital out of the new fighting.

A nervous calm settled over the city as hemisphere mediators resumed efforts to establish peace between the contending sides in the Dominican conflict. Except for sporadic shooting early Wednesday morning, a cease-fire arranged Tuesday night appeared to have ended the violent exchange between the rebels and the Inter-American Force.

U.S. sources said Tuesday that rebels started the shooting and American troops did not fire back until fired upon. These sources said the Americans did not return the fire until a number of rounds had been shot at them.

Investigation

Caamano said the shooting should be thoroughly investigated "so that the position of the Inter-American Peace Forces in this country be made fully clear."

LOTS BIGGER THAN BOTTLE NOW

Miracle baby Laurie Ann Mitchell of Shreveport, La., celebrated her 1st birthday drinking from the same bottle which dwarfed her in her first picture taken when she was a month old. She then weighed only 1 pound, 8 ounces. Doctors gave 1,000-to-1 odds of survival in such a live birth more than three months premature.

Nude Poses For Minister, Camera

London (UPI) — A 35-year-old Unitarian minister Wednesday posed a young, beautiful and nude girl as he would like to see her photographed. It was part of a demonstration aimed at removing guilt feelings about sex.

The Rev. David Doel personally supervised the camera session. It was the climax to his campaign protesting that nudes in pinup magazine pose tortuously, or are retouched because they are not permitted to be as daring as great works of art.

This, he said, encourages feelings of guilt about sex. So Wednesday he accepted the challenge of a magazine to pose a nude girl as he would like to see her photographed.

The Rev. Mr. Doel, from the village of Hindley in Lancashire, said a nude was no more extraordinary than an animal or a tree. As he spoke film starlet Josephine Pritchard, 21, slipped out of her bathrobe to prove him wrong. She had on the lower half of her bikini.

"I am not taking my pants with all these people here," she said, directing her remarks at an assemblage of newsmen.

The Rev. Mr. Doel, a small man in sports shirt, slacks and suede shoes, said he had prints by Modigliani, Michaelangelo and Leonard da Vinci and Miss Pritchard would imitate the poses.

Then he said, the magazine would publish the contrasting pictures to show how far reality lags behind art in truthful depiction of nudity.

"We are taking legal advice," commended Edward Simon, editor of the magazine. "None of us want to go to jail."

Said Miss Pritchard, former Teen Queen of Britain:

"Imagine. This is the first time I've ever posed naked and then it's before a clergyman."

Higher Debt Ceiling Bill Is Sent To LBJ

Washington (AP) — The Senate hurried to President Johnson Wednesday a bill increasing the temporary national debt ceiling to a new high of $328 billion.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler told the Senate Finance Committee Tuesday the increase was essential to cover the nation's obligations in the year ahead.

The present $324 billion ceiling would drop to the permanent $285 billion limit July 1 if new legislation were not enacted.

The measure passed on a voice vote.

Later, Republicans demanded and obtained a roll call vote in which the bill was approved 61 to 26.

Old Sports Stamps

Mexico City (AP) — As promotion for the 1968 Olympic Games here, Mexico plans an issue of five postage stamps picturing sports of the pre-Spanish times such as Mayan and Aztec ball playing and the Aztec stone hurling. The designs will come from a contest among Mexican artists.

Showdown Nears On Powell Labor Rider To Rights Bill

Washington (AP)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., neared a showdown with the Education and Labor Committee Wednesday in his fight to tie a key labor bill to a civil rights measure.

A nine-member subcommittee voted unanimously to postpone action on the civil rights bill for at least a month, although Powell has said until it is passed he will use his authority as chairman to block action on the labor bill.

The two bills caught in Powell's squeeze play are one to repeal Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act, which permits states to outlaw union shop agreements, and one to strengthen the enforcement powers of the Fair Employment Practices Commission.

Powell says a stronger FEPC than the one created by last year's civil rights act is needed to protect Negroes against discrimination by unions if 14B is repealed.

The Harlem congressman responded to the subcommittee's action by declaring he is standing firm.

"If there is no FEPC, there will be no 14B," he said.

AEC Announces Small Nevada Nuclear Test

Dalstrom Writes First Biography Of Sen. Wherry

Omaha (AP)—The first biography of the late Kenneth S. Wherry of Nebraska was submitted as a doctoral dissertation at the University of Nebraska by a University of Omaha history professor

The author is Dr Harl Dalstrom, a 29-year-old bachelor who has been on the Omaha University faculty since 1963 He hopes the book will be published within a year

"More than any one individual Wherry laid the ground work for Republican Party supremacy in Nebraska during the last 20 years (1940-1960)" Dahlstrom said. "During the late 1930's he organized and revitalized the Nebraska Republican Party He was one of the most lively figures in Nebraska political history. It is surprising that no has written his biography before"

Wherry died in office in 1951 after serving in the Senate since 1943. He was Republican whip from 1944 to 1948 and became minority leader in 1949

ETV Tentatively Adopts Budget Of $3.6 Million

By DON FERGUSON
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Educational Television (ETV) Commission Wednesday tentatively adopted a 1965-67 budget of $3,655,732, although revenue estimates indicate that only approximately $2.8 million million might be available.

Creating the difference is a revised estimate of a reduced share of the revenue for ETV from the increased cigarette tax passed by the Legislature.

Jack McBride, commission secretary, said that earlier estimates indicated revenue would be $2.6 million. The revised estimate is near $1.75 million.

April and May shares of cigarette tax revenue for the ETV commission have averaged $52,000. To raise even the suggested $1.75 million, monthly averages would have to be $66,000 for the next 25 months, McBride said.

McBride indicated that the budget has been prepared to go into effect in sections. Should funds be insufficient, some projects will have to be delayed.

The full total in the tentative budget would be required to complete the Nebraska network by the next biennium.

Supplemented

The state revenue would be supplemented in the grants from the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which, by 1967, will have totaled $1 million.

The commission named John Peterson of Lincoln as its new business manager. He will assume duties July 1, at an annual salary of $6,200.

McBride informed the commission that the call letters it approved in May for the network were partially rejected by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC). It had been proposed that all stations in the Nebraska network have call letters beginning with "KUO."

KHOL-TV of Kearney lodged a "serious objection" with the FCC, claiming that their call letters would conflict. After further study, it was revealed that only one of the seven stations could be given the proposed call letters.

Commissioners gave authorization to the staff to decide on new call letters. McBride suggested that the network use "K-NE-TV," and place the letter of the city where stations are located, after the "K."

McBride reported that the commission was required to review and approve all programs before they are aired, once the network is established. Three operating stations comprise a network.

Commission Chairman Steven Watkins suggested that an advisory committee comprised of laymen and non-members of the commission, be appointed to help the commission's permanent committee on programming.

Cross-Section

Watkins suggested that possibly a lawyer, member of the PTA, the church council and others would give a cross-section to programming.

Arthur Danielson, Lincoln commissioner and chairman of the permanent program committee, said that any advisory group should not be hastily drawn.

It was decided to invite a representative of the University of Nebraska and Omaha University to sit with the committee this fall until the proposed advisory group could be reviewed.

McBride indicated that there were several projects which needed the attention of the programming committee or an advisory group. These include a plan for submission and acceptance of programs for network viewing; development of a network philosophy, and network identification procedures.

Dr. Craig Fullerton, chairman of the Metropolitan Omaha Educational Broadcasting Association (MOEBA), and Vic Christenson, director of the Nebraska Council for Educational Television (NCET) in Lincoln, both presented fall programming schedules for commission approval.

MOEBA, Fullerton noted, is programming primarily for school grades kindergarten through eight with emphasis on grades 1-6. They have selected nine classroom teachers for fall along with 12 prerecorded educational series of programs. The Omaha Station, Channel 26, will become operational in October.

The NCET, in its sixth year of programming, emphasizes instruction for grades two through high school, repeating programs up to five times each week for classroom convenience.

In other business:

—McBride reported that new power and switching equipment should be installed at Channel 12 by September.

—Bids, acceped earlier by telephone conference call among commissioners, were officially accepted for tower construction for Lexington Channel 3.

Number Changed

—Accepted the bid of $213,786 by Radio Corporation of America (RCA) to build the tower-antenna-transmitter for Omaha Channel 26. McBride told commissioners that the channel number, previously 16, was changed by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) when it began revising all UHF station numbers. Albion Channel 25 was also re-designated as Channel 21.

—Channel 9, North Platte, and Channel 13, Alliance, applications to the Federal Aviation Agency, FCC and the HEW, are both in process, according to McBride. He indicated that if both are approved over the next few months, they can be built under joint contract next spring at a savings to the commission.

—The commissioners approved the publication of a monthly bulletin for home viewers. The publication would be made available free to faculty members in the states schools. A nominal charge would be made to home subscribers. The attorney general's office will now be asked to give an opinion as to whether the commission can charge for the publication.

—A general brochure, explaining educational television, the work of the commission and organization of the state network, was approved for limited publication in the near future. It is to be revised later in the fall to include new commissioners.

—The board has tentatively agreed to meet again July 28 in Lincoln.

Rail Merger Opposed By Justice Department

. . . 'Staggering Loss Of Competition'

Washington (AP) — The justice Department contended Wednesday there would be a staggering loss of competition through the merger of five railroads in the Northwest.

Joseph J. Saunders, representing the department, made the statement as he opposed the long-pending proposal during final arguments before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"The loss of competition would not only be substantial," Saunders said, "it would be staggering."

The merger, recommended by ICC Examiner Robert H. Murphy, involves the Great Northern Railway, Northern Pacific Railway, Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, Pacific Coast Railroad, and Spokane, Portland Seattle Railway.

It would consolidate the five into a 25,000-mile system which would be the nation's largest railroad in miles of road operated and in geographic distribution, and third largest in annual revenues.

Saunders, contending the examiner erred in his report, said:

"This merger is not needed by the carriers, by the shippers, the public or the area to be served. The public would lose by this merger because the pressures of competition would be significantly reduced."

D. Robert Thomas, speaking for the five railroads, contended that claims of bias concerning Murphy were "fabricated out of whole cloth." He also said the Justice Department had distorted some rulings of the examiner in its filings in the case.

John J. Goen, counsel for the Iowa Commerce Commission, opposed the plan because of what he said was its possible effect upon other railroads in Iowa.

The arguments are scheduled to be completed Thursday.

Pope's Family Will Visit Him Again Saturday

Kansas City (AP)—Again this Saturday, Duane Pope will have a visit from his family.

The 22-year-old Roxbury, Kansas, man—a recent college graduate—is held in the murder of three persons in the $1,500 holdup of a Big Springs, Nebraska, bank 12 days ago. He surrendered to Kansas City police last Friday and is held in the county jail.

Wednesday, Pope's mother —Mrs. Earl Pope—telephoned U.S. Marshal F. M. Wilson to ask if the family could visit Duane Saturday afternoon. Wilson granted permission.

House OKs Bill Authorizing Start On Garrison Plan

Washington (AP)—The House passed Wednesday a bill to authorize an initial start on North Dakota's Garrison diversion project.

Action came on a voice vote after one hour of debate covering general provisions of the long-sought proposal, designed to irrigate about 250,000 acres at a cost of $207 million.

The proposal also includes provisions for municipal and industrial water and development of fish and wildlife recreation potential in the state.

This was the first time that Garrison had come before the House in its long history before Congress. The House Interior Committee first held hearings on the project back in 1955.

Rosier '65 Predicted

New York (AP) — Gardner Ackley, President Johnson's chief economic adviser, made a qualified prediction Wednesday that 1965 will be a better year for the U.S economy than 1964.

In an address to the American Marketing Association, Ackley said the present economic expansion "seems destined to continue many, many months into the future."

It was the latest in a series of statements by administration spokesmen painting an optimistic picture of the nation's economic prospects.

Ackley cited numerous statistics which he said "confirm the expectation we presented at the turn of the year that the advance in the economy between 1964 and 1965 will exceed the advance in our capacity to produce."

He added, "By this most significant test, 1965 will thus be a better year than even its predecessor."

Ackley said there is little danger the nation's economic expansion, now in its 52nd month, will overheat or run out of gas.

But he also said the nation must be wary of pitfalls during prosperous times.

TO CARRY MAN IN WINGLESS FLIGHT

Newsmen and National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials look over the M2F2 manned lifting body research vehicle as the craft is delivered to NASA at the Northrop Corp. plant in Hawthorne, Calif., Wednesday. In tests it will be dropped from beneath a B52's wing at high speeds to see how it will perform in the critical period between reentry and landing. It is hoped the craft will become a landing vehicle for astronauts.

Riot Police Break Up Third March

Jackson, Miss. (AP) — Riot-trained police broke up for the third straight day Wednesday an attempted protest march on the state capitol by civil rights demonstrators.

Moving swiftly, officers arrested 51 marchers for parading without a permit. Nearly 100 others eluded police by dashing through back yards and down side streets.

The arrests brought to more than 700 the number of demonstrtors taken into custody since Monday.

The marches, organized by the predominantly Negro Freedom Democratic Party, are intended as protests to a special legislative session called to repeal Mississippi's strict voter registration laws. Negro leaders claim the legislature is trying to circumvent the voting bill pending in Congress.

Gov. Paul Johnson, a Democrat, called the legislature to consider revisions of voting laws to bring them in line with federal requirements. Johnson said this would place Mississippi in a better position when the federal voting rights bill passes.

A shortage of participants delayed Wednesday's march for several hours. Finally it began with about half the number of persons that took part in previous demonstrations.

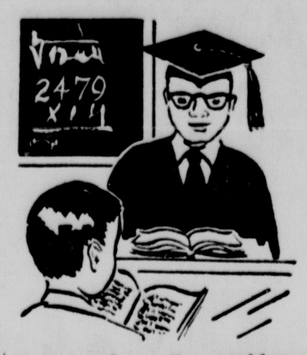
NASON ON EDUCATION

Playing School Good Preparation

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON



For the beginner, school looms as a big, unknown world. Lest he be overwhelmed, give him a little school experience in advance.

Play school can set the stage for a child's upcoming school experience, just as simulated orbits help train an astronaut.

As teacher, mother can give her child an idea of the behavior that will be expected of him in school—listening to instructions, following them out, completing tasks and relating incidents.

As a child listens to mother read a story and as he retells it, he practices concentration.

Can Get Idea

In this setting mother can get some idea of her child's span of attention and what his behavior may be in a classroom. She can give him a head start in self-control while he is engaged in such activities as finger-painting or clay modeling.

When an older brother or sister or a neighbor's child acts as the teacher, the new pupil-to-be gets practice in following directions from a person other than his mother.

When mother makes it clear to him that she has delegated authority to the new "teacher" she can see firsthand how well he responds to such a situation.

When "school" can consist of several pupils, problems resulting from the rights of others enter in. A child who enters school next fall with this background of training will be happier the first days and will lessen the problems of the teacher.

Takes Turn

Beyond the pre-school age, each child can get his turn in play school at being the teacher and assume the responsibility of explaining. He gets practice in organizing knowledge and in expressing himself.

I know one very successful college student who recalls that all through her early years in school she prepared her lessons by teaching an imaginary class.

She used an actual portable blackboard and four or five imaginary pupils represented by empty chairs.

Having explained the lesson to her imaginary pupils she was always prepared to recite in an actual classroom.

Play school can be an effective and needed supplement to present day schools with their large classes. There is just not enough time in a regular school day for a child to get sufficient practice in formulating and expressing ideas.

Rebel Leader Claims U.S. Act Of Genocide

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican rebel leader Wednesday accused U.S. troops of "an act of genocide unprecedented in our country" in Tuesday's fierce battle. He said 67 were killed and 265 wounded in the rebel sector.

Rebel leader Col. Francisco Caamano Deno's news conference estimate of the rebel sector casualties was much higher than previous unofficial count of 26 dead and more than 75 wounded.

Total Inter-American Force casualties were listed as three U.S. dead, 33 82nd Airborne Division paratroopers and 1 Brazilian officer wounded.

One U.S. paratrooper was shot dead Wednesday morning. The other two U.S. soldiers died of wounds suffered in Tuesday's day-long battle between the Inter-American Force and the rebels in the heart of Santo Domingo.

Wipe Out Group

Genocide is use of deliberate, systematic measures to wipe out racial, religious or cultural groups.

The prevailing view expressed by supporters of the civilian-military junta, on the other side, was that the shooting was provoked by left-wing extremists seeking to discredit the United States.

In New York, U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost told the U.N. Security Council that the new outbreak of fighting was set off by pro-Castro elements and was intended to provoke U.N. action in support of the rebel regime.

Yost accused the rebel forces of "launching an attack on the Inter-American Force in the most flagrant and serious violation of the cease fire . . ."

Effectiveness

The Soviet U.N. ambassador, Nikolai T. Federenko, proposed that the council come here. He said such meetings "would clearly contribute to the effectiveness" of the council's work.

The council left the question hanging until Friday after the U.S. delegate suggested the move was either not serious or intended to make political capital out of the new fighting.

A nervous calm settled over the city as hemisphere mediators resumed efforts to establish peace between the contending sides in the Dominican conflict. Except for sporadic shooting early Wednesday morning, a cease-fire arranged Tuesday night appeared to have ended the violent exchange between the rebels and the Inter-American Force.

U.S. sources said Tuesday that rebels started the shooting and American troops did not fire back until fired upon. These sources said the Americans did not return the fire until a number of rounds had been shot at them.

Investigation

Caamano said the shooting should be thoroughly investigated "so that the position of the Inter-American Peace Forces in this country be made fully clear."

LOTS BIGGER THAN BOTTLE NOW

Miracle baby Laurie Ann Mitchell of Shreveport, La., celebrated her 1st birthday drinking from the same bottle which dwarfed her in her first picture taken when she was a month old. She then weighed only 1 pound, 8 ounces. Doctors gave 1,000-to-1 odds of survival in such a live birth more than three months premature.

Nude Poses For Minister, Camera

London (UPI) — A 35-year-old Unitarian minister Wednesday posed a young, beautiful and nude girl as he would like to see her photographed. It was part of a demonstration aimed at removing guilt feelings about sex.

The Rev. David Doel personally supervised the camera session. It was the climax to his campaign protesting that nudes in pinup magazine pose tortuously, or are retouched because they are not permitted to be as daring as great works of art.

This, he said, encourages feelings of guilt about sex. So Wednesday he accepted the challenge of a magazine to pose a nude girl as he would like to see her photographed.

The Rev. Mr. Doel from the village of Hindley in Lancashire, said a nude was no more extraordinary than an animal or a tree. As he spoke film starlet Josephine Pritchard, 21, slipped out of her bathrobe to prove him wrong. She had on the lower half of her bikini.

"I am not taking my pants with all these people here," she said, directing her remarks at an assemblage of newsmen.

The Rev. Mr. Doel, a small man in sports shirt, slacks and suede shoes, said he had prints by Modigliani, Michaelangelo and Leonard da Vinci and Miss Pritchard would imitate the poses.

Then he said, the magazine would publish the contrasting pictures to show how far reality lags behind art in truthful depiction of nudity.

Said Miss Pritchard, former Teen Queen of Britain:

Higher Debt Ceiling Bill Is Sent To LBJ

Washington (AP) — The Senate hurried to President Johnson Wednesday a bill increasing the temporary national debt ceiling to a new high of $328 billion.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler told the Senate Finance Committee Tuesday the increase was essential to cover the nation's obligations in the year ahead.

The present $324 billion ceiling would drop to the permanent $285 billion limit July 1 if new legislation were not enacted.

The measure passed on a voice vote.

Later, Republicans demanded and obtained a roll call vote in which the bill was approved 61 to 26.

Old Sports Stamps

Mexico City (AP) — As promotion for the 1968 Olympic Games here, Mexico plans an issue of five postage stamps picturing sports of the pre-Spanish times such as Mayan and Aztec ball playing and the Aztec stone hurling. The designs will come from a contest among Mexican artists.

Showdown Nears On Powell Labor Rider To Rights Bill

Washington (AP)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., neared a showdown with the Education and Labor Committee Wednesday in his fight to tie a key labor bill to a civil rights measure.

A nine-member subcommittee voted unanimously to postpone action on the civil rights bill for at least a month, although Powell has said until it is passed he will use his authority as chairman to block action on the labor bill.

The two bills caught in Powell's squeeze play are one to repeal Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act, which permits states to outlaw union shop agreements, and one to strengthen the enforcement powers of the Fair Employment Practices Commission.

Powell says a stronger FEPC than the one created by last year's civil rights act is needed to protect Negroes against discrimination by unions if 14B is repealed.

The Harlem congressman responded to the subcommittee's action by declaring he is standing firm.

"If there is no FEPC, there will be no 14B," he said.

You Can Blame Accident On Weather, Experts Contend

Geneva, Switzerland (AP) — Take it from the meteorologists, if you have an accident on the road or on the job you can probably blame it on a change in the weather.

Eighteen experts from 10 nations in a report to the World Meteorological Organization Wednesday said figures based on 1 million individual statistics indicate that during periods of increased atmospherics — a thunderstorm for example:

Traffic accidents rise by 70%, births rise by 11%, deaths by 20%, pains in chronic patients by 100%, work accidents by 20%, polio admissions by 6% and mining accidents by 12%. At the same time human reactions are 6% slower.

Statistics also indicate that a baby conceived in cold weather is more likely to be a boy, and in hot weather a girl, they reported.

The study pointed out that these figures are based on statistics. But, in studies of aspects of human behavior involving such things as traffic accidents, it claims the evidence is irrefutable.

Accident statistics from 50 major European cities show that figures increase sharply during biologically unfavorable weather, usually involving a sharp change in the level of atmospherics.

"It is most noteworthy that all researchers have been able to show that the so-called trivial weather dangers due to traffic—fog, slippery roads, glazed frost etc.—played an appreciably smaller part in causing the accidents than the simultaneous disturbance to the human body, caused by the direct onset of the weather stimulus," the report said.

Sudden changes in atmospheric levels can have a marked effect on drivers, the study claims.

"The distrubance caused by weather stimuli may be especially dangerous because, even without any perceptible general sysmptoms, a driver's efficiency may be reduced through a reduction in his power of concentration and a lengthening of his reaction time, these latter changes being generally unnoticed," the report said.

Studies of the influence of weather on sex show that the highest humber of conceptions of legitimate children occurs in June, and of illegitimate children in May.

Referring to the effects of weather on illness, statistics indicate that many diseases are aggravated by sudden weather changes.

Sudden increases in tuberculosis have been found to occur in clinics after oppressive warm weather before thunderstorms, during humid cold foggy weather or sudden heat waves.

ETV Tentatively Adopts Budget Of $3.6 Million

By DON FERGUSON
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Educational Television (ETV) Commission Wednesday tentatively adopted a 1965-67 budget of $3,655,732, although revenue estimates indicate that only approximately $2.8 million million might be available.

Creating the difference is a revised estimate of a reduced share of the revenue for ETV from the increased cigarette tax passed by the Legislature.

Jack McBride, commission secretary, said that earlier estimates indicated revenue would be $2.6 million. The revised estimate is near $1.75 million.

April and May shares of cigarette tax revenue for the ETV commission have averaged $52,000. To raise even the suggested $1.75 million, monthly averages would have to be $66,000 for the next 25 months, McBride said.

McBride indicated that the budget has been prepared to go into effect in sections. Should funds be insufficient, some projects will have to be delayed.

The full total in the tentative budget would be required to complete the Nebraska network by the next biennium.

Supplemented

The state revenue would be supplemented in the grants from the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which, by 1967, will have totaled $1 million.

The commission named John Peterson of Lincoln as its new business manager. He will assume duties July 1, at an annual salary of $6,200.

McBride informed the commission that the call letters it approved in May for the network were partially rejected by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC). It had been proposed that all stations in the Nebraska network have call letters beginning with "KUO."

KHOL-TV of Kearney lodged a "serious objection" with the FCC, claiming that their call letters would conflict. After further study, it was revealed that only one of the seven stations could be given the proposed call letters.

Commissioners gave authorization to the staff to decide on new call letters. McBride suggested that the network use "K-NE-TV," and place the letter of the city where stations are located, after the "K."

McBride reported that the commission was required to review and approve all programs before they are aired, once the network is established. Three operating stations comprise a network.

Commission Chairman Steven Watkins suggested that an advisory committee comprised of laymen and non-members of the commission, be appointed to help the commission's permanent committee on programming.

Cross-Section

Watkins suggested that possibily a lawyer, member of the PTA, the church council and others would give a cross-section to programming.

Arthur Danielson, Lincoln commissioner and chairman of the permanent program committee, said that any advisory group should not be hastily drawn.

It was decided to invite a representative of the University of Nebraska and Omaha University to sit with the committee this fall until the proposed advisory group could be reviewed.

McBride indicated that there were several projects which needed the attention of the programming committee or an advisory group. These include a plan for submission and acceptance of programs for network viewing; development of a network philosophy, and network identification procedures.

Dr. Craig Fullerton, chairman of the Metropolitan Omaha Educational Broadcasting Association (MOEBA), and Vic Christenson, director of the Nebraska Council for Educational Television (NCET) in Lincoln, both presented fall programming schedules for commission approval.

MOEBA, Fullerton noted, is programming primarilly for school grades kindergarten through eight with emphasis on grades 1-6. They have selected nine classroom teachers for fall along with 12 prerecorded educational series of programs. The Omaha Station, Channel 26, will become operational in October.

The NCET, in its sixth year of programming, emphasizes instruction for grades two through high school, repeating programs up to five times each week for classroom convenience.

In other business:

—McBride reported that new power and switching equipment should be installed at Channel 12 by September.

—Bids, acceped earlier by telephone conference call among commissioners, were officially accepted for tower construction for Lexington Channel 3.

Number Changed

—Accepted the bid of $213,786 by Radio Corporation of America (RCA) to build the tower-antenna-transmitter for Omaha Channel 26. McBride told commissioners that the channel number, previously 16, was changed by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) when it began revising all UHF station numbers. Albion Channel 25 was also re-designated as Channel 21.

—Channel 9, North Platte, and Channel 13, Alliance, applications to the Federal Aviation Agency, FCC and the HEW, are both in process, according to McBride. He indicated that if both are approved over the next few months, they can be built under joint contract next spring at a savings to the commission.

—The commissioners approved the publication of a monthly bulletin for home viewers. The publication would be made available free to faculty members in the states schools. A nominal charge would be made to home subscribers. The attorney general's office will now be asked to give an opinion as to whether the commission can charge for the publication.

—A general brochure, explaining educational television, the work of the commission and organization of the state network, was approved for limited publication in the near future. It is to be revised later in the fall to include new commissioners.

—The board has tentatively agreed to meet again July 28 in Lincoln.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. Rail Merger Opposed By Justice Department

. . . 'Staggering Loss Of Competition'

Washington (AP) - The Justice Department contended Wednesday there would be a staggering loss of competition through the merger of five railroads in the Northwest.

Joseph J Saunders representing the department, made the statement as he opposed the long-pending proposal during final arguments before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The loss of competition would not only be substantial," Saunders said. "It would be staggering."

The merger, recommended by ICC Examiner Robert H. Murphy, involves the Great Northern Railway, Northern Pacific Railway, Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, Pacific Coast Railroad, and Spokane, Portland Seattle Railway.

It would consolidate the five into a 25,000-mile system which would be the nation's largest railroad in miles of road operated and in geographic distribution, and third largest in annual revenues.

Saunders, contending the examiner erred in his report, said:

"This merger is not needed by the carriers, by the shippers, the public or the area to be served. The public would lose by this merger because the pressures of competition would be significantly reduced."

D Robert Thomas speaking for the five railroads, contended that claims of bias concerning Murphy were "fabricated out of whole cloth." He also said the Justice Department had distorted some rulings of the examiner in its filings in the case.

John J. Goen, counsel for the Iowa Commerce Commission, opposed the plan because of what he said was its possible effect upon other railroads in Iowa.

The arguments are scheduled to be completed Thursday.

Pope's Family Will Visit Him Again Saturday

Kansas City (AP)—Again this Saturday, Duane Pope will have a visit from his family.

The 22-year-old Roxbury, Kansas, man—a recent college graduate—is held in the murder of three persons in the $1,500 holdup of a Big Springs, Nebraska, bank 12 days ago. He surrendered to Kansas City police last Friday and is held in the county jail.

Wednesday, Pope's mother —Mrs. Earl Pope—telephoned U.S. Marshal F. M. Wilson to ask if the family could visit Duane Saturday afternoon. Wilson granted permission.

House OKs Bill Authorizing Start On Garrison Plan

Washington (AP)—The House passed Wednesday a bill to authorize an initial start on North Dakota's Garrison diversion project.

Action came on a voice vote after one hour of debate covering general provisions of the long-sought proposal, designed to irrigate about 250,000 acres at a cost of $207 million.

The proposal also includes provisions for municipal and industrial water and development of fish and wildlife recreation potential in the state.

This was the first time that Garrison had come before the House in its long history before Congress. The House Interior Committee first held hearings on the project back in 1955.

Sentiment With Venturi—Logic Favors Nicklaus

St. Louis (AP)—Sentiment follows nervy Ken Venturi and ageless Sam Snead but cold logic rides with the siege guns of Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer in the 65th National Open Golf Championship starting Thursday.

"This course is tailor-made for Nicklaus—he should be an even bet against the field," said Bill Casper, the 1959 winner and a tour leader.

"Nicklaus and Palmer have to be favored," added South Africa's Gary Player. "Those two guys start with a five-stroke advantage," growled Snead.

This was largely the way the talk went Wednesday as the 136 professionals and 14 amateurs prepared for a four-day, 72-hole assault on the Bellerive Country Club course—longest and one of the toughest on which this blue ribbon event ever has been contested.

Bellerive is 7,191 yards of frightening real estate with massive, undulating greens that average close to 10,000 square feet. Three putts may be routine, four putts no rarity.

The fairways are like winding ribbons. Water forms a hazard at 11 of the 18 greens. A ditch weaves treacherously through the oaks and maples that clutter the back-breaking layout. Cliffs and ravines beckon wayward shots.

The 34-year-old Californian refused to give up and was determined to defend his crown even though nis fingers are numb and swollen from lack of blood and he must glue the club shafts to his hands with tincture of benzoine.

"I'm going to see it through," Venturi vowed.

The same determination was found in Sam Snead, the man who has been thrown back in 24 previous bids at this Open title, four times the runner-up, many times with the crown in his hands only to let it slip away.

"I could still win if I get off to a good start and my putter begins clicking," said the 53-year-old Snead. "But you've got to admit everything favors Nicklaus and Palmer.

Nicklaus, the 25-year-old Golden Bear, is the solid 6-1 favorite. Relaxed and confident after a tournament layoff last week and eight practice rounds that got as low as 67 and 68, Big Jack is seeking to keep alive his try for an unprecedented professional grand slam.

This means winning the Masters, U.S. and British Opens and the PGA in a single year.

"I'm not playing as well as I did in the Masters," said Nicklaus, whose record 271 won the Augusta classic by nine shots. "This is a different course—it's tight without Augusta's broad fairways and nobody can overpower it. I'll have to play it cool."

"I always get charged up for the Open," said the muscular Latrobe, Pa., millionaire, winner in 1960 and loser in play-offs in 1962 and 1963. "But I've got to admit I'm having my troubles. I'm not putting too well. I really need to win another big one."

If anyone is to crack the Nicklaus-Palmer front, most observers feel the breach will come from a tough cordon including Julius Boros, a two-time winner who is a master with a wedge; Australians Bruce Crampton and Bruce Devlin, hot shots on the 1965 tour; the ever-dangerous Player, and the putting master, Casper.

There hasn't been an amateur winner since Johnny Goodman in 1933 and the spell is unlikely to be broken even by such leading simon pure players as Deane Beaman and Bill Hyndman

"The odds are against us, but it can happen," said Beaman, the cocky two-time national amateur winner.

CHISOX HAND PASCUAL 1ST LOSS

Baltimore Tops New York, 5-1

. . . TIANT LEADS INDIANS

By Associated Press

The Chicago White Sox handed Camilo Pascual his first loss of the season and edged within one half game of American League-leading Minnesota, beating the Twins 3-1 Wednesday night.

Pascual, who had won his first eight decisions, was chased in the fourth inning when the White Sox scored all their runs. Singles by J. C. Martin and Ron Hansen drove in the first two Chicago runs and a bases loaded walk to pinch hitter Smoky Burgess produced the third.

Baltimore backed Dave McNally's strong pitching with three early homers and beat the New York Yankees 5-1. Jerry Adair, Jackie Brandt and Sam Bowens each tagged solo shots in the first three innings against Yankee starter Al Downing as the Orioles won the sixth straight.

Cleveland's Luis Tiant permitted only one hit—a seventh inning single by Woodie Held —as the Indians blanked Washington 5-0. Leon Wagner drove in four runs, three of them on his ninth homer, as Tiant won his sixth game in nine decisions.

Willie Horton walloped his 15th homer and drove in five runs as Detroit won its fourth straight, 9-4 over Boston. Horton also had a single and a double as the Tigers handed the Red Sox their sixth straight setback.

Leo Cardenas tagged two homers helping Cincinnati to an 8-4 victory over the New York Mets. John Tsitouris, who came on in the sixth, saved the victory for Jim O'Tool, now 1-5. Charley Smith homered for the Mets, who lost their 12th in the last 13.

Philadelphia exploded for five runs in the third inning with rookie catcher Pat Corrales' first major league homer triggering the rally, and beat Milwaukee 6-2. Jim Bunning, 6-5, struck out 10.

Willie Stargell's three-run homer in the ninth brought Pittsburgh a 10-9 victory over St. Louis. Stargell connected with his 14th homer after Tim McCarver dropped a third strike enabled Bill Virdon to reach base and Jerry Buchek booted Manny Mota's ground ball.

Bob Aspromonte's 13th inning single drove in Joe Morgan with the winning run as Houston snapped an eight-game losing streak with a 3-2 victory over Chicago.

George Brunet pitched a five-hitter striking out 13 as Los Angeles downed Kansas City 7-1 in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader. Joe Adcock belted two doubles, driving in two runs for the Angels.

Schommer's Four-Hitter Turns Back Robert's '9'

. . . WILD PITCHES DOMINATE PLAY

By BARRY BURKHART
Star Sports Writer

Paced by Bill Schommer's four-hitter, Witt's Juniors racked Roberts' Juniors, 6-2, at Sherman Field Wednesday night.

Although Schommer allowed only four hits, he was extremely erratic, walking 12 batters and hurling two wild pitches, one of which allowed a run to score, but striking out 11 batsmen including four in a row.

Losing right-hander Tom Kay, relieved in the seventh by Chuck Roberts, also had trouble getting the ball over the plate. Kay walked 12 batters and threw three wild pitches, one of which also allowed a run to score.

Roberts countered with a single tally in the second when Dennie Beckman walked, took third on a throwing error by Schommer and scored on a wild pitch by Schommer.

Dick Burke walked, took second on an error by Roberts second-baseman Tom Tidball and crossed the plate on a single by Joe Sutera to tally a second run for Witt's in the second inning.

Roberts tied the game their half of the third when Schommer walked Dick Baldwin with the bases loaded scoring Roberts.

The tie was broken for good in the bottom of the third by Bohaty who scored on a bases loaded walk to Craig Carlson and Don Duncan who crossed the plate on an infield out.

Witt's tallied their final two runs in the bottom of the fourth when Sutera crossed the plate on a single by Bohaty, and Stephenson scored from third on a towering sacrifice fly to right Duncan.

Roberts posed a final threat in the ninth with one out and the bases loaded. However Baldwin was tagged out at the plate by Schommer after Bohaty had retrieved a wild pitch, and Nolte grounded out to end the threat.

NASON ON EDUCATION

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON

For the beginner, school looms as a big, unknown world. Lest he be overwhelmed, give him a little school experience in advance

Play school can set the stage for a child's upcoming school experience, just as simulated orbits help train an astronaut.

As teacher, mother can give her child an idea of the behavior that will be expected of him in school—listening to instructions, following them out, completing tasks and relating incidents.

As a child listens to mother read a story and as he retells it, he practices concentration.

Can Get Idea

In this setting mother can get some idea of her child's span of attention and what his behavior may be in a classroom. She can give him a head start in self-control while he is engaged in such activities as finger-painting or clay modeling.

When an older brother or sister or a neighbor's child acts as the teacher, the new pupil-to-be gets practice in following directions from a person other than his mother.

When mother makes it clear to him that she has delegated authority to the new "teacher" she can see firsthand how well he responds to such a situation.

When "school" can consist of several pupils, problems resulting from the rights of others enter in. A child who enters school next fall with this background of training will be happier the first days and will lessen the problems of the teacher.

Takes Turn

Beyond the pre-school age, each child can get his turn in play school at being the teacher and assume the responsibility of explaining. He gets practice in organizing knowledge and in expressing himself.

I know one very successful college student who recalls that all through her early years in school she prepared her lessons by teaching an imaginary class.

She used an actual portable blackboard and four or five imaginary pupils represented by empty chairs.

Having explained the lesson to her imaginary pupils she was always prepared to recite in an actual classroom.

Play school can be an effective and needed supplement to present day schools with their large classes. There is just not enough time in a regular school day for a child to get sufficient practice in formulating and expressing ideas.

Foss Supports Philadelphia For AFL Franchise

New York (AP)—Philadelphia, a National Football League stronghold for many years, appears headed for a franchise in the American Football League as well.

AFL Commissioner Joe Foss gave strong support to this premise Wednesday by revealing that the league's expansion committee will begin screening applicants for the Philadelphia franchise next Monday.

The AFL voted June 7 to expand from eight to 10 teams for the 1966 season and two days later awarded a franchise for Atlanta to the Cox Broadcasting Co. of that city. The cost of the franchise was $7.5 million.

Queen Elizabeth Sees American Filly Win

Ascot, England (AP) — Visp, an American filly owned by Edward Benjamin of New Orleans, splashed to victory Wednesday in the Quen Mary Stakes at Royal Ascot.

For the second day it rained heavily and forced Queen Elizabeth and other celebrated race fans to shelter themselves under umbreallas in the stands.

Chairman Oren Harris, D-Ark., said Wednesday the chairman of the federal communications commission, E. William Henry, will be the first witness.

"Several persons thoroughly familiar with various aspects of professional boxing will also be heard," said Harris, "as well as members of state boxing commissions."

Harris noted that he had called for such legislation after the recent heavyweight championship match between Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston—"If that's what it was," he added.

Gerry's Nips Fremont, 5-3

Fremont—Shortstop Dennis Barber hit a one-out three-run homer in the top of the ninth inning here Wednesday night to enable Lincoln Gerry's and Mike Delaney to defeat Cornhusker Legion League lead-Fremont, 5-3.

The loss was Fremont's first in league play after four wins and dropped their season record to 9-2. The win gave Coach Dave Myers' Gerry's club a 2-2 mark in both league and season play.

Gerry's didn't get to Jeff Draemel until the eighth inning. Barber got on an error, Bill Bauer tripled and then Jack Galusha singled Bauer home.

Delayen was outstanding on the mound for Gerry's as he allowed only four hits, struck out 17 and walked only two. Only one of the three Fremont runs was earned.

Milwaukee Board Rejects Braves' $500,000 Offer

Milwaukee (AP) — The Milwaukee County Board voted unanimously Wednesday to reject a $500,000 offer by the Braves for permission to move the National League club to Atlanta after the All-Star break in July.

The supervisors, in the same action, directed county corporation counsel to refer the offer, made by Braves Board Chairman William Bartholomay last week, to the anti-trust division of the Justice Department.

Bartholomay's offer cited the sharp decline in attendance at County Stadium since the Braves announced they would move to Atlanta after their contract, which runs through the 1965 season, expires.

He proposed to pay the county a $400,000 indemnity to permit termination of the contract next month. He also offered to pay $100,000 to Teams Inc., a group of Milwaukee business seeking a permanent franchise for the city, to help in their efforts.

Puerto Rican Into Quarters At London Meet

London (AP)—Charles Pasarell, a young Puerto Rican who hopes to make a big impression on the United States Davis Cup selectors, took a long step in the right direction Wednesday when he scored two big upsets in the London Tennis Championships at the Queen's Club.

Pasarell turned back Eugene Scott of St. James, N.Y., No. 5 in the U.S. rankings, 6-4, 9-7 in the third round. Then he outlasted veteran Ham Richardson in a marathon fourth round match 6-3, 12-14, 6-4.

The double victory sent Pasarell into the quarter finals along with Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., the No. 1 American player; four Australians, including Wimbledon champion Roy Emerson; bearded Torben Ulrich of Denmark and Cliff Drysdale of South Africa.

You Can Blame Accident On Weather, Experts Contend

Geneva, Switzerland (AP) — Take it from the meteorologists, if you have an accident on the road or on the job you can probably blame it on a change in the weather.

Eighteen experts from 10 nations in a report to the World Meteorological Organization Wednesday said figures based on 1 million individual statistics indicate that during periods of increased atmospherics — a thunderstorm for example:

Traffic accidents rise by 70%, births rise by 11%, deaths by 20%, pains in chronic patients by 100%, work accidents by 20%, polio admissions by 6% and mining accidents by 12%. At the same time human reactions are 6% slower.

Statistics also indicate that a baby conceived in cold weather is more likely to be a boy, and in hot weather a girl, they reported.

The study pointed out that these figures are based on statistics. But, in studies of aspects of human behavior involving such things as traffic accidents, it claims the evidence is irrefutable.

Accident statistics from 50 major European cities show that figures increase sharply during biologically unfavorable weather, usually involving a sharp change in the level of atmospherics.

"It is most noteworthy that all researchers have been able to show that the so-called trivial weather dangers due to traffic—fog, slippery roads, glazed frost etc—played an appreciably smaller part in causing the accidents than the simultaneous disturbance to the human body, caused by the direct onset of the weather stimulus," the report said.

Sudden changes in atmospheric levels can have a marked effect on drivers, the study claims

"The distrubance caused by weather stimuli may be especially dangerous because, even without any perceptible general symptoms, a driver's efficiency may be reduced through a reduction in his power of concentration and a lengthening of his reaction time, these latter changes being generally unnoticed," the report said.

Studies of the influence of weather on sex show that the highest number of conceptions of legitimate children occurs in June and of illegitimate children in May

Referring to the effects of weather on illness, statistics indicate that many diseases are aggravated by sudden weather changes

Cronin Dodges Queries About Baseball's Future

. . . ESPECIALLY NL MOVES

Boston (AP) — American League President Joe Cronin, a heavy hitting shortstop in his playing days, touched a lot of bases Wednesday and dodged a lot of conversational curve balls, among them the possibility he might become baseball's next high commissioner.

"The job has so much dignity that it should seek the man, not the man seeking the job," he said of his being mentioned as the leading candidate to succeed Ford Frick. "I don't think anyone should politic for the job."

Cronin's defensive ability bubbled to the surface as he splashed on to other subjects, notably the new baseball draft and possible major league expansion.

No, he said at a lunchon interview, he does not believe the draft will be the target of any legal challenge nor will it completely stifle big bonuses to major league prospects.

"It will reduce far-out bonuses which were becoming ridiculous but no one has said real bonuses will not be paid to youngsters who are worth it," he said.

"Sure, there may be problems on clubs reaching an understanding on bonuses with their draft choices but bargaining will ultimately prevail. After all, these kids want to play baseball and major league clubs want them.

"I think this will create a lot more interest in baseball and make the major league clubs widen their scouting," he added.

How about major league expansion? Does he foresee an increase to 30 clubs or even more?

"Sure, expansion is possible and even likely. All you have to do is look at the map and see the population growth. But there are just too many problems involved to say how soon expansion will come or what cities will be effected.

"New Orleans, Montreal, Toronto—these are just a few that come to mind. They're good likely spots for expansion.

"But I don't want to be a circus barker and tell these towns, or any towns, they should prepare for baseball expansion. We in baseball have too many things to consider: players, farm systems, scheduling. You're opinion on this is as good as mine."

McGreevy Signs Dodger Contract

Paola, Kan. (AP) — Steve McGreevey of the University of Kansas, who won the Big Eight batting title last year, has signed a contract with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

McGreevey, selected by the National League club in the draft last week, will report Monday to Salem, Ore., of the Class A northwest League.

Barnacle eggs develop within the parent's shell and are hatched as a milky cloud of free-swimming larvae.

Sentiment With Venturi—Logic Favors Nicklaus

St. Louis (AP)—Sentiment follows nervy Ken Venturi and ageless Sam Snead but cold logic rides with the siege guns of Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer in the 65th National Open Golf Championship starting Thursday.

"This course is tailor-made for Nicklaus—he should be an even bet against the field," said Bill Casper, the 1959 winner and a tour leader.

"Nicklaus and Palmer have to be favored," added South Africa's Gary Player. "Those two guys start with a five-stroke advantage," growled Snead.

This was largely the way the talk went Wednesday as the 136 professionals and 14 amateurs prepared for a four-day, 72-hole assault on the Bellerive Country Club course—longest and one of the toughest on which this blue ribbon event ever has been contested.

Bellerive is 7,191 yards of frightening real estate with massive, undulating greens that average close to 10,000 square feet. Three putts may be routine, four putts no rarity.

The fairways are like winding ribbons. Water forms a hazard at 11 of the 18 greens. A ditch weaves treacherously through the oaks and maples that clutter the back-breaking layout. Cliffs and ravines beckon wayward shots.

Its par 35-35—70 is expected to win out under the weekend assault.

He won last year in Washington's suffocating cauldron heat, almost collapsing from sheer exhaustion before ending three years of frustration.

Then he ran into another knock from the fates. He developed a circulatory ailment in his right hand that swept him off the tour.

The 34-year-old Californian refused to give up and was determined to defend his crown even though his fingers are numb and swollen from lack of blood and he must glue the club shafts to his hands with tincture of benzoine.

"I'm going to see it through," Venturi vowed.

The same determination was found in Sam Snead, the man who has been thrown back in 24 previous bids at this Open title, four times the runner-up, many times with the crown in his hands only to let it slip away.

"I could still win if I get off to a good start and my putter begins clicking," said the 53-year-old Snead. "But you've got to admit everything favors Nicklaus and Palmer.

Nicklaus, the 25-year-old Golden Bear, is the solid 6-1 favorite. Relaxed and confident after a tournament layoff last week and eight practice rounds that got as low as 67 and 68, Big Jack is seeking to keep alive his try for an unprecedented professional grand slam.

This means winning the Masters, U.S. and British Opens and the PGA in a single year.

"I'm not playing as well as I did in the Masters," said Nicklaus, whose record 271 won the Augusta classic by nine shots. "This is a different course—it's tight without Augusta's broad fairways and nobody can overpower it. I'll have to play it cool."

Nicklaus and Snead are in a featured threesome with a 11:59 p.m. start that also includes Bob Charles, the wispy left hander from New Zealand who won the British Open two years ago.

Palmer, an 8-1 second choice, and his army get off early at 9:52 a.m. with Mason Rudolph, the bespectacled Tennessean, and 56-year-old E. J. Dutch Harrison.

"I always get charged up for the Open," said the muscular Latrobe, Pa., millionaire, winner in 1960 and loser in play-offs in 1962 and 1963. "But I've got to admit I'm having my troubles. I'm not putting too well. I really need to win another big one."

If anyone is to crack the Nicklaus-Palmer front, most observers feel the breach will come from a tough cordon including Julius Boros, a two-time winner who is a master with a wedge; Australians Bruce Crampton and Bruce Devlin, hot shots on the 1965 tour; the ever-dangerous Player, and the putting master, Casper.

There hasn't been an amateur winner since Johnny Goodman in 1933 and the spell is unlikely to be broken even by such leading simon pure players as Deane Beaman and Bill Hyndman

"The odds are against us, but it can happen," said Beaman, the cocky two-time national amateur winner.

Bob Astleford Tees Off At 8:27

Swingfest Represents All Areas

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Guests from one end of the continental United States to the other began arriving Wednesday for the 12th annual Lincoln Country Club Swingfest.

You can start in one corner with Duncan Sowles of Winter Park, Fla., the guest of Harry Haynie, then go to the extreme opposite corner and find Seattle sending Bob Houbregs and Les Brainard.

Houbregs, an All-American basketball player at the University of Washington, will be the guest of Nebraska basketball coach Joe Cipriano. Brainard is being hosted by NU athletic director Tippy Dye.

Traveling from the east coast are Jock Moore of New York City, Harry Funk of Washington, D.C., Bill Ludwick of Washington, D.C., and Roy Holly of Philadelphia.

Friday's Pairings, Page 45

The southern-most area is represented by Mike McCuiston of Del Rio, Tex., a guest of Matt Taber.

McCuiston also shares the honor with Houbregs of having the lowest handicap among the guests. Both will play to a four handicap in the best-ball handicap tourney.

Dick Spangler Jr., with a four handicap also, carries the lowest handicap among Lincoln Country Club members playing in the event.

The 75 teams will be aiming at the Swingfest record of 115 over the 36-hole route. The record was set in the inaugural Swingfest by Lee Chapin of the Lincoln Country Club and guest Rod Smith in 1954.

The teams will play warm-up rounds in Scotch Foursome format today with the actual competition getting under way at 8:15 a.m. Friday.

Baltimore Tops New York, 5-1

. . . TIANT LEADS INDIANS

By Associated Press

The Chicago White Sox handed Camilo Pascual his first loss of the season and edged within one half game of American League-leading Minnesota, beating the Twins 3-1 Wednesday night.

Pascual, who had won his first eight decisions, was chased in the fourth inning when the White Sox scored all their runs. Singles by J. C. Martin and Ron Hansen drove in the first two Chicago runs and a bases loaded walk to pinch hitter Smoky Burgess produced the third.

Baltimore backed Dave McNally's strong pitching with three early homers and beat the New York Yankees 5-1. Jerry Adair, Jackie Brandt and Sam Bowens each tagged solo shots in the first three innings against Yankee starter Al Downing as the Orioles won the sixth straight.

Cleveland's Luis Tiant permitted only one hit—a seventh inning single by Woodie Held—as the Indians blanked Washington 5-0. Leon Wagner drove in four runs, three of them on his ninth homer, as Tiant won his sixth game in nine decisions.

Willie Horton walloped his 15th homer and drove in five runs as Detroit won its fourth straight, 9-4 over Boston. Horton also had a single and a double as the Tigers handed the Red Sox their sixth straight setback.

Leo Cardenas tagged two homers helping Cincinnati to an 8-4 victory over the New York Mets. John Tsitouris, who came on in the sixth, saved the victory for Jim O'Tool, now 1-5. Charley Smith homered for the Mets, who lost their 12th in the last 13.

Philadelphia exploded for five runs in the third inning with rookie catcher Pat Corrales' first major league homer triggering the rally, and beat Milwaukee 6-2. Jim Bunning, 6-5, struck out 10.

Willie Stargell's three-run homer in the ninth brought Pittsburgh a 10-9 victory over St. Louis. Stargell connected with his 14th homer after Tim McCarver dropped a third strike enabled Bill Virdon to reach base and Jerry Buchek booted Manny Mota's ground ball.

Bob Aspromonte's 13th inning single drove in Joe Morgan with the winning run as Houston snapped an eight-game losing streak with a 3-2 victory over Chicago.

George Brunet pitched a five-hitter striking out 13 as Los Angeles downed Kansas City 7-1 in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader. Joe Adcock belted two doubles, driving in two runs for the Angels.

Schommer's Four-Hitter Turns Back Robert's '9'

. . . WILD PITCHES DOMINATE PLAY

By BARRY BURKHART
Star Sports Writer

Paced by Bill Schommer's four-hitter, Witt's Juniors racked Roberts' Juniors, 6-2, at Sherman Field Wednesday night.

Although Schommer allowed only four hits, he was extremely erratic, walking 12 batters and hurling two wild pitches, one of which allowed a run to score, but striking out 11 batsmen including four in a row.

Losing right-hander Tom Kay, relieved in the seventh by Chuck Roberts, also had trouble getting the ball over the plate. Kay walked 12 batters and threw three wild pitches, one of which also allowed a run to score.

Roberts countered with a single tally in the second when Dennie Beckman walked, took third on a throwing error by Schommer and scored on a wild pitch by Schommer.

Dick Burke walked, took second on an error by Roberts second-baseman Tom Tidball and crossed the plate on a single by Joe Sutera to tally a second run for Witt's in the second inning.

Roberts tied the game their half of the third when Schommer walked Dick Baldwin with the bases loaded scoring Roberts.

The tie was broken for good in the bottom of the third by Bohaty who scored on a bases loaded walk to Craig Carlson and Don Duncan who crossed the plate on an infield out.

Witt's tallied their final two runs in the bottom of the fourth when Sutera crossed the plate on a single by Bohaty, and Stephenson scored from third on a towering sacrifice fly to right Duncan.

Roberts posed a final threat in the ninth with one out and the bases loaded. However Baldwin was tagged out at the plate by Schommer after Bohaty had retrieved a wild pitch, and Nolte grounded out to end the threat.

Gerry's Nips Fremont, 5-3

Fremont—Shortstop Dennis Barber hit a one-out three-run homer in the top of the ninth inning here Wednesday night to enable Lincoln Gerry's and Mike Delaney to defeat Cornhusker Legion League lead-Fremont, 5-3.

The loss was Fremont's first in league play after four wins and dropped their season record to 9-2. The win gave Coach Dave Myers' Gerry's club a 2-2 mark in both league and season play.

Gerry's didn't get to Jeff Draemel until the eighth inning. Barber got on an error, Bill Bauer tripled and then Jack Galusha singled Bauer home.

Delayen was outstanding on the mound for Gerry's as he allowed only four hits, struck out 17 and walked only two. Only one of the three Fremont runs was earned.

Giardello Won't Fight With Left Arm Injury

Philadelphia (AP) — Joey Giardello's attorney said Wednesday the world middleweight champion won't sign for any title bout — with Dick Tiger or anyone else—until his injured left arm is ready for competition.

The New York State Athletic Commission directed Giardello Wednesday to sign with Tiger of Nigeria by July 6 or forfeit the crown.

Milwaukee Board Rejects Braves' $500,000 Offer

Milwaukee (AP) — The Milwaukee County Board voted unanimously Wednesday to reject a $500,000 offer by the Braves for permission to move the National League club to Atlanta after the All-Star break in July.

The supervisors, in the same action, directed county corporation counsel to refer the offer, made by Braves Board Chairman William Bartholomay last week, to the anti-trust division of the Justice Department.

Bartholomay's offer cited the sharp decline in attendance at County Stadium since the Braves announced they would move to Atlanta after their contract, which runs through the 1965 season, expires.

He proposed to pay the county a $400,000 indemnity to permit termination of the contract next month. He also offered to pay $100,000 to Teams Inc., a group of Milwaukee business seeking a permanent franchise for the city, to help in their efforts.

Puerto Rican Into Quarters At London Meet

London (AP)—Charles Pasarell, a young Puerto Rican who hopes to make a big impression on the United States Davis Cup selectors, took a long step in the right direction Wednesday when he scored two big upsets in the London Tennis Championships at the Queen's Club.

Pasarell turned back Eugene Scott of St. James, N.Y., No. 5 in the U.S. rankings, 6-4, 9-7 in the third round. Then he outlasted veteran Ham Richardson in a marathon fourth round match 6-3, 12-14, 6-4.

The double victory sent Pasarell into the quarter finals along with Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., the No. 1 American player; four Australians, including Wimbledon champion Roy Emerson; bearded Torben Ulrich of Denmark and Cliff Drysdale of South Africa.

Bruins Clinch Tennis Crown

. . . ASHE WINS EASILY

Los Angeles (AP) — UCLA clinched the National Collegiate Athletic Association tennis team championship Wednesday as its four singles players and two doubles teams scored victories.

Top seeded Arthur Ashe, the nation's third-ranked amateur, led the way by dominating Mississippi State's Bob Brien 6-0, 6-1.

Ashe and Ian Crookenden then combined in the doubles for a 6-3, 6-4 victory over California's George Fareed and Ron Batchelder.

In the singles Crookenden survived five match points to beat Doug Sykes of California 5-7, 6-4, 10-8.

Dave Sanderlin of UCLA topped Rodney Kop, San Jose State, 7-5, 3-6, 6-2, and Dave Reed downed California's Gene Cantin 6-0, 6-3 to give the Bruins a quartet in Thursday's quarterfinals.

Sanderlin and Reed scored an easy 6-1, 6-2 win over California's Sykes and Cantin to clinch team honors.

The Bruins have 22 points to 12 for California and Trinity, 11 for Stanford and Miami and 10 for Southern California.

Miami's second-seeded Mike Belkin advanced in the singles by beating Jim Geste, Stanford, 6-0, 6-3. Jim Osborne of Utah ousted Arizona's Fred Drilling, 6-3, 2-6, 8-6. Rice's John Pickens downed John Yeomans, Redlands, 6-1, 6-3, and Horst Rutter, Southern California, upset seventh-seeded Cliff Buchholz, Trinity, 14-12, 6-4.

Buchholz and Butch Newman, the top-seeded doubles team, advanced with a 6-4, 6-1 win over Jim Burns and Lance Burr of Kansas.

The only seeded doubles team to lose was Miami's Frank Tutvin and Mickey Schad, a 6-1, 3-6, 6-3 victim of Jim Beste and Brian Leck of Stanford.

Cronin Dodges Queries About Baseball's Future

. . . ESPECIALLY NL MOVES

Boston (AP) — American League President Joe Cronin, a heavy hitting shortstop in his playing days, touched a lot of bases Wednesday and dodged a lot of conversational curve balls, among them the possibility he might become baseball's next high commissioner.

"The job has so much dignity that it should seek the man, not the man seeking the job," he said of his being mentioned as the leading candidate to succeed Ford Frick. "I don't think anyone should politic for the job."

Cronin's defensive ability bubbled to the surface as he splashed on to other subjects, notably the new baseball draft and possible major league expansion.

No, he said at a luncheon interview, he does not believe the draft will be the target of any legal challenge nor will it completely stifle big bonuses to major league prospects.

"It will reduce far-out bonuses which were becoming ridiculous but no one has said real bonuses will not be paid to youngsters who are worth it," he said.

"Sure, there may be problems on clubs reaching an understanding on bonuses with their draft choices but bargaining will ultimately prevail. After all these kids want to play baseball and major league clubs want them.

"I think this will create a lot more interest in baseball and make the major league clubs widen their scouting," he added.

How about major league expansion? Does he foresee an increase to 30 clubs or even more?

"Sure, expansion is possible and even likely. All you have to do is look at the map and see the population growth. But there are just too many problems involved to say how soon expansion will come or what cities will be effected.

"New Orleans, Montreal, Toronto—these are just a few that come to mind. They're good likely spots for expansion.

"But I don't want to be a circus barker and tell these towns, or any towns, they should prepare for baseball expansion. We in baseball have too many things to consider: players, farm systems, scheduling. You're opinion on this is as good as mine."

McGreevy Signs Dodger Contract

Paola, Kan. (AP) — Steve McGreevey of the University of Kansas who won the Big Eight batting title last year has signed a contract with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

McGreevey selected by the National League club in the draft last week will report Monday to Salem, Ore., of the Class A northwest League.

Stock Market Rallies Again

New York (AP)—The stock market Wednesday rallied for the second straight session. Trading was heavy.

Volume was 6.32 million shares compared with 8.5 million Tuesday.

The market was up from the start as it resumed the snapback of mid-Tuesday from heavy selling. Prices reached their peak in the first hour. Thereafter gains were clipped by profit-taking.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced 3.50 to 78.07 after having been up as much as 6.95.

It was the first time since the market began declining from its record peak in the middle of May that the list had put two strong daily rises back-to-back.

Instead of fading off to either a very small net gain or even a loss, the market held its own fairly well after most of the profits were taken.

The investment climate was brightened to some extent by rosy official statements.

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said the current economic expansion "seems destined to continue many months into the future."

Trading started with a bang, first-hour volume soaring to 2.13 million shares. The pace slackened thereafter but remained at a brisk rate.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 1.6 to 321.7 with industrials up 1.8, rails up .8 and utilities up 1.6.

Of 1,374 issues traded, 908 rose and 272 fell. New highs for the year totaled seven and new lows 49.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mostly higher. Volume was 1.47 million shares compared with 2.15 million Tuesday.

Butcher Hog Prices 50c To $1 Higher

Omaha (AP) — Butcher hogs sold 50c to $1 higher at Omaha Wednesday.

Fed steers ranged 50c higher, while heifers were 25 to 50c up.

Spring lambs sold 50 to 75c lower.

GOP Makes Strong Bid In Georgia House Vote

. . . EIGHT NEGROES WIN SEATS

Atlanta (AP) — Republicans made their strongest bid this century to establish a real two-party system in the Georgia house of representatives in Wednesday's general election for 47 contested seats in the reapportioned house.

The GOP won at least 12 of the 47 seats, but was soundly trounced in populous Fulton County (Atlanta), where it was contesting for 18 posts. With nearly complete returns in, Republicans had gained only three of the 18 posts and had a slight lead in one other.

Negroes won eight seats in the house, gaining representation there for the first time since 1907. In Muscogee County (Columbus), a Negro attorney, Albert W. Thompson defeated his white opponent, Dr. I. A. Maxwell Jr., an optometrist. Thompson is a Democrat and Maxwell a Republican.

Negro Loses

In the only other race where a Negro was facing a white opponent, the Rev. William Holmes Borders, a Negro Republican, lost his battle with Democrat Goodwyn Cates in Fulton County.

Republicans made their strongest bids in Bibb County (Macon) and Richmond County (Augusta). In Bibb, they missed by two votes snaring all four contested races, but won three of the four. Two Republicans were unopposed in Bibb, giving the GOP five of the six seats.

In Richmond County, Republicans won three of the four contested races and tied the Democrats, 3-3, as two Democrats were unopposed.

SNNC Winner

One of the Negroes winning was Julian Bond, public relations director of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. He defeated his Negro opponent in Fulton County.

The Georgia house has had no Negro members since 1907. The senate has two Negroes; the first was elected in 1962.

That was the year of political revolution. First, the federal judiciary nullified the state's electoral college method of selecting governors and other state officials. The old system allotted unit votes to counties.

Moderate Elected

It was thrown out and on the first modern popular vote, Carl E. Sanders, a moderate on racial issues, defeated segregationist Marvin Griffin in the governor's race.

Then Sanders pushed through before he was sworn in a senate reapportionment plan based on population. This resulted in election of the state's first Negro senator since reconstruction.

A federal court panel ruled last year that the house also must be placed on a population basis. The legislature shifted the ratio nearer to an equal vote. This took away the lopsided rural weight and gave urban areas greater voice in the house.

'Cowboys' Kills Cop

Johannesburg (AP) — A game of "cowboys" cost a South African policeman his life. Magistrate's Court was told a station sergeant warned two policemen against the quick-draw contest but Constable Danial Malan pulled his police .38 and it went off, fatally wounding the other in the stomach. Malan, 20, was found guilty of culpable negligence and sentenced to nine months in prison but sentence was suspended conditionally for three years.

Bill Could Cut Du Pont Estate Down

Washington (UPI) — The House Banking Committee approved legislation Wednesday which could force the Alfred I. Du Pont estate to dismantle part of its $300 million financial empire.

The bill, approved by a vote of 25 to 3, would place the estate's 31 Florida banks under the Bank Holding Act.

Since the act forbids banks to engage in nonbanking businesses, the estate would have to sell the banks or dispose of its varied other enterprises.

Railway, Utilities

The Bank Holding Act was passed in 1956 but the Du Pont estate was exempt at that time because it was a trust and not a corporation.

The legislation approved by the Banking Committee Wednesday now goes to the House Rules Committee for clearance to the House floor for a vote.

While the present bill appeared aimed at the Du Pont estate, it would also bring under the act all educational, charitable and religious organizations with sizable interests in the banking business.

It was given a chance of passage in the House, but Senate approval was expected to be much tougher.

Patman Promoter

The present bill was strongly promoted by Banking Committee Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., a long-time critic of the Du Pont estate.

As chairman of the House small business subcommittee, Patman was the driving force behind a report in 1964 which criticized the estate as a potential vehicle for avoiding federal taxes.

At present, the estate pays taxes the same as any corporation. However, Patman said that when the estate's beneficiaries die, their disbursements would go to the tax-exempt Nemours Foundation set up by Du Pont.

Escaping Taxes

"Thus all income from the Du Pont estate's vast fortune will in time escape federal and state income taxes entirely," Patman added.

The Bank Holding Act was based on the premise that it would be unfair to permit banks to own other types of businesses.

The theory was that, as money lenders, they would have a powerful competitive weapon to use against other firms.

2 State Pen Inmates Are Being Sought

They are John Charles Sund, 22, of Harvard, and James T. O'Brien, 37, of Omaha. They were missed at 10:30 p.m., prison officials said.

O'Brien was sentenced to a three-year term for no-fund checks last April 9. Sund was received at the Reformatory Feb. 13, 1961, on charge of first-degree arson for which he was sentenced to seven years.

Both are white. Sund was described as 6-1, 150 pounds, with blue eyes and blond hair. O'Brien is 5-7, 140, has blue eyes and brown hair. Both were wearing blue trousers and white shirts.

The Lincoln Action Coordinating Team (ACT), a group organized to spark and coordinate efforts for improvement of human rights and equal opportunities, decided Wednesday to continue as an active organization and elected new officers.

The meeting Tuesday had been called by ACT president, the Rev. Charles S. Stephen Jr., of the Unitarian Church, to decide the group's future in light of other human rights groups and commissions which have become active in Lincoln.

Other officers include Mrs. James Jones, 2430 Colonial Drive, vice president; Mrs. Wendell Gauger, 1404 No. 40th, secretary; George Buckner, 1512 So. 48th, treasurer; Hugh Shanks, 2761 Randolph, member at-large.

Stock Market Rallies Again

New York (AP)—The stock market Wednesday rallied for the second straight session. Trading was heavy.

Volume was 6.32 million shares compared with 8.5 million Tuesday.

The market was up from the start as it resumed the snapback of mid-Tuesday from heavy selling. Prices reached their peak in the first hour. Thereafter gains were chipped by profit-taking.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced 3.59 to 78.07 after having been up as much as 6.95.

It was the first time since the market began declining from its record peak in the middle of May that the list had put two strong daily rises back-to-back.

Instead of fading off to either a very small net gain or even a loss, the market held its own fairly well after most of the profits were taken.

The investment climate was brightened to some extent by rosy official statements.

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said the current economic expansion "seems destined to continue many months into the future."

Trading started with a bang, first-hour volume soaring to 2.13 million shares. The pace slackened thereafter but remained at a brisk rate.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 1.6 to 321.7 with industrials up 1.8, rails up .8 and utilities up 1.6.

Of 1,374 issues traded, 908 rose and 272 fell. New highs for the year totaled seven and new lows 49.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mostly higher. Volume was 1.47 million shares compared with 2.15 million Tuesday.

Most Futures Up In Grain Market

Chicago (AP)—Prices of all commodities except wheat finished with small to moderate advances in the grain futures market Wednesday although brokers said genuine new trade factors were absent.

All soybeans added gains of about a cent or more and new crop corn moved up major fractions to a cent, mostly on late transactions. Wheat prices eased slightly.

Soybeans finished ⅞ to 2½ cents a bushel higher, July $2.89-89½; wheat ¼-⅜ lower, July new grade $1.39¾-¾; corn ¼ lower to 1 cent higher, July $1.31¾; oats ⅜-½ higher, July 67¼ cents; rye unchanged to ¼ higher, July $1.14-14⅛.

GOP Makes Strong Bid In Georgia House Vote

. . . EIGHT NEGROES WIN SEATS

Atlanta (AP) — Republicans made their strongest bid this century to establish a real two-party system in the Georgia house of representatives in Wednesday's general election for 47 contested seats in the reapportioned house.

The GOP won at least 12 of the 47 seats, but was soundly trounced in populous Fulton County (Atlanta), where it was contesting for 18 posts. With nearly complete returns in, Republicans had gained only three of the 18 posts and had a slight lead in one other.

Negroes won eight seats in the house, gaining representation there for the first time since 1907. In Muscogee County (Columbus), a Negro attorney, Albert W. Thompson defeated his white opponent, Dr. I. A. Maxwell Jr., an optometrist. Thompson is a Democrat and Maxwell a Republican.

Negro Loses

In the only other race where a Negro was facing a white opponent, the Rev. William Holmes Borders, a Negro Republican, lost his battle with Democrat Goodwyn Cates in Fulton County.

Republicans made their strongest bids in Bibb County (Macon) and Richmond County (Augusta). In Bibb, they missed by two votes snaring all four contested races, but won three of the four. Two Republicans were unopposed in Bibb, giving the GOP five of the six seats.

In Richmond County, Republicans won three of the four contested races and tied the Democrats, 3-3, as two Democrats were unopposed.

SNNC Winner

One of the Negroes winning was Julian Bond, public relations director of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. He defeated his Negro opponent in Fulton County.

The Georgia house has had no Negro members since 1907. The senate has two Negroes; the first was elected in 1962.

That was the year of political revolution. First, the federal judiciary nullified the state's electoral college method of selecting governors and other state officials. The old system allotted unit votes to counties.

Moderate Elected

It was thrown out and on the first modern popular vote, Carl E. Sanders, a moderate on racial issues, defeated segregationist Marvin Griffin in the governor's race.

Then Sanders pushed through before he was sworn in a senate reapportionment plan based on population. This resulted in election of the state's first Negro senator since reconstruction.

A federal court panel ruled last year that the house also must be placed on a population basis. The legislature shifted the ratio nearer to an equal vote. This took away the lopsided rural weight and gave urban areas greater voice in the house.

Bill Could Cut Du Pont Estate Down

Washington (UPI) — The House Banking Committee approved legislation Wednesday which could force the Alfred I. Du Pont estate to dismantle part of its $300 million financial empire.

The bill, approved by a vote of 25 to 3, would place the estate's 31 Florida banks under the Bank Holding Act.

Since the act forbids banks to engage in nonbanking businesses, the estate would have to sell the banks or dispose of its varied other enterprises.

Railway, Utilities

These include the Florida East Coast Railway, numerous real estate holdings, utilities and other businesses.

The Bank Holding Act was passed in 1956 but the Du Pont estate was exempt at that time because it was a trust and not a corporation.

The legislation approved by the Banking Committee Wednesday now goes to the House Rules Committee for clearance to the House floor for a vote.

While the present bill appeared aimed at the Du Pont estate, it would also bring under the act all educational, charitable and religious organizations with sizable interests in the banking business.

It was given a chance of passage in the House, but Senate approval was expected to be much tougher.

Patman Promoter

The present bill was strongly promoted by Banking Committee Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., a long-time critic of the Du Pont estate.

As chairman of the House small business subcommittee, Patman was the driving force behind a report in 1964 which criticized the estate as a potential vehicle for avoiding federal taxes.

At present, the estate pays taxes the same as any corporation. However, Patman said that when the estate's beneficiaries die, their disbursements would go to the tax-exempt Nemours Foundation set up by Du Pont.

Escaping Taxes

"Thus all income from the Du Pont estate's vast fortune will in time escape federal and state income taxes entirely," Patman added.

The Bank Holding Act was based on the premise that it would be unfair to permit banks to own other types of businesses.

The theory was that, as money lenders, they would have a powerful competitive weapon to use against other firms.

Hearing On Work Rules Set June 28

Public airing of a resolution putting the Legislature on record favoring continuation of the right-to-work provisions of the Nebraska constitution and statutes Wednesday was set for June 28.

The Labor Committee will conduct the hearing.

The Legislature decided to handle the resolution, No. 60, like a bill because of its controversial nature.

President Johnson has urged repeal of section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act, a section permitting states to enact right-to-work laws designed to forbid agreements requiring membership in a labor organization as a condition of employment.

The resolution, introduced by Sens. Albert Kjar of Lexington, Chester Paxton of Thedford and Ira Paine of Grand Island, state the Legislature "disagrees with efforts of the present national administration to take from the states the right of self-determination in this area."

The so-called "right to work" constitutional amendment was approved by Nebraska voters in 1946 after it had been placed on the ballot through an initiative movement.

Lt. Governor Finally Gets VotingChance

He cast his initial vote on the question of adjournment for the day Wednesday afternoon.

Lawmakers tied 21-21 on Omaha Sen. Sam Klaver's motion to adjourn at 4:00 p.m., and Sorensen quickly shouted "no" to kill the motion.

The lieutenant governor, presiding officer of the Legislature, is permitted to vote on bills and motions only when lawmakers are deadlocked.

Actually Klaver's adjournment motion would have died even without Sorensen's vote since motions require an affirmative majority vote to pass, but as Sorensen quipped later: "I felt it important they know where I stood on the question."

Hearing On Work Rules Set June 28

Public airing of a resolution putting the Legislature on record favoring continuation of the right-to-work provisions of the Nebraska constitution and statutes Wednesday was set for June 28

The Labor Committee will conduct the hearing

The Legislature decided to handle the resolution No 60 like a bill because of its controversial nature

President Johnson has urged repeal of section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act, a section permitting states to enact right-to-work laws designed to forbid agreements requiring membership in a labor organization as a condition of employment

The resolution, introduced by Sens. Albert Kjar of Lexington, Chester Paxton of Thedford and Ira Paine of Grand Island, state the Legislature "disagrees with efforts of the present national administration to take from the states the right of self-determination in this area."

The so-called "right to work" constitutional amendment was approved by Nebraska voters in 1946 after it had been placed on the ballot through an initiative movement.

Lt. Governor Finally Gets VotingChance

He cast his initial vote on the question of adjournment for the day Wednesday afternoon.

Lawmakers tied 21-21 on Omaha Sen. Sam Klaver's motion to adjourn at 4 00 p m., and Sorensen quickly shouted "no" to kill the motion

The lieutenant governor, presiding officer of the Legislature, is permitted to vote on bills and motions only when lawmakers are deadlocked.

Actually Klaver's adjournment motion would have died even without Sorensen's vote since motions require an affirmative majority vote to pass, but as Sorensen quipped later: "I felt it important they know where I stood on the question"
